

Call For Male Help In Annual Operetta

Gilbert & Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance" is scheduled for July 14th and 15th, at the Grove. The summer operetta is an annual community and college activity presented by the Student Activities Department.

The production is under the direction of Bill Turner, Music Director at A&M, and he is assisted by Mrs. Joe Barron, music teacher and director of First Methodist Church of Bryan. Miss Patricia Dillon, organist at the A&M Methodist Church, is the accompanist.

"Pirates of Penzance" was first presented in 1879 and was an instantaneous success. The intricate instrumental and vocal patterns are probably responsible for fewer productions in comparison with other Gilbert & Sullivan operas. The story evolves from a mistake made by a hard-of-hearing nursery-maid, Ruth, when she apprenticed Frederic, while still a little boy, to become a pirate, instead of a pilot. The scene opens with a band of pirates toasting Frederic on his graduation at the age of 21 as a full-fledged pirate. Frederic is unhappy as "a slave of duty" and wants to devote his life to the extermination of pirates. He pleads in vain with his friends, the pirates, to give up their evil life.

Ruth, seeing that Frederic is determined to leave the pirates, begs him to take her with him. Although she is many years older than he, Frederic, never having seen another woman, believes Ruth to be beautiful until he sees a bevy of beautiful maidens appear on their way to a picnic. Frederic renounces Ruth and woos Mabel who returns his love.

The pirates each seize a girl to marry and, in order to get his daughters released, the Major General tells the pirates that he is an orphan in the belief that the Pirates of Penzance are all orphans themselves and tenderhearted towards all others.

From this point on the plot thickens in true Gilbert and Sullivan style through such happenings as a paradox, the revelation of the Major General's lie, and a battle between Pirates and Police which is brought to term in Queen Victoria's name. All ends happily when Ruth explains that the pirates are really "noblemen who have gone wrong".

The cast is as follows: Mrs. Lenore Silby as Mabel, the female lead; Lamar McNew as Frederic, the male lead. Bill Guthrie will be the Major General; Billy Philp, the Pirate King; Roland Bahlmann, Samuel. Mrs. Iris Bullard will be Ruth; Mrs. Shirley Smith, Kate; Mrs. Helen Crook, Edith; Miss Carolyn Thurman, Isabel; and Buddy Vance, Jr., Sergeant of Police.

There are still openings in the male chorus. Those who are interested, come to rehearsal Thursday, 7:30, in the Music Hall, Turner said.

School Administrator Cites Creative Leadership Need

The president of the American Association of School Administrators said Monday that "we need to give challenging and creative leadership" to the schools of the United States. He cited several examples of such leadership and the advancement in education it had created.

Dr. L. G. Dethrick, also superintendent of the Chattanooga public schools, speaking at the 28th annual Conference of the Texas Association of County Superintendents, the 17th annual Texas School Administration Conference and the third annual Conference Texas Association for Instructional Supervisors, declared that what is done this week at the conferences may have an everlasting effect on education.

He urged the more than 300 school men and women, attending the opening general session in the MSC to "recognize people and the good in them" and not to "judge people idly."

The Chattanooga man asked his listeners to invent ideas — and "have faith and courage to see them through."

President M. T. Harrington of A&M gave the welcome address.

The first general assembly was presided over by John O. Rodgers, superintendent of the Williamson County schools and president of the Texas Association of County Superintendents. Dr. A. T. Dyal, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Bryan, gave the devotional.

General assemblies will be held each morning through Wednesday. Group sessions will be held following the general assembly.

Dr. Kate Wofford, head of the Department of Elementary Education, University of Florida, will give the main address at the Tuesday general assembly, and Dr. David H. Morgan, dean of A&M, will deliver the main address at the Wednesday general assembly.

The eighth annual Rural Church Conference will be held in the MSC June 30 through July 2.

Three groups will be present: the Texas Rural Church Conference, the Executive Committee of the Christian Rural Overseas Program and the Sears and Roebuck Rural Church Improvement Contest.

Methods of improving rural communities through the development of industries in rural areas will be discussed. A panel discussion composed of E. B. Germany, president, Lone Star Steel Company; R. E. Winners of the Sears and Roebuck Rural Church Contest will be announced and the awards presented at 12 noon the same day.

At a dinner to be held June 30 by the Christian Rural Overseas Program plans will be made for the shipment of a boat load of food and clothing to Germany. Last year a boat load of supplies was sent to Korea for the homeless and needy, reported Daniel Russell, Professor of Rural Sociology at A&M.

East German Riots

All over East Germany, the rebel workers had marched last Wednesday with identical demands: lower work quotas and consumer goods prices, freedom for political prisoners, free elections, and the reunification of Germany.

In Bonn, West Germany Chancellor Konrad Adenauer sent urgent appeals today to President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and former French Premier Rene-Mayer to "do all in our power" to win East Germany's freedom through unification of the whole country.

The East Germans, the Chancellor said, had "fought unarmed against Soviet troops and tanks to demand the rights of free men." He urged joint Allied support for the Bonn Parliament's five-point plan for free elections throughout Germany, creation of a free all-German government, conclusion of a peace treaty with this government in which the new German frontiers would be fixed by free negotiation, and guaranteed diplomatic freedom for this government within the framework of the United Nations.

Troop Pull Notice Promised

ROK troops, you or President Rhee?" a newsmen asked.

"No," Clark replied. "There is no doubt in my mind that I am, technically at least, the commander of the troops of the ROK. Now, as you know, there has been created the South Korea provost marshal general (Lt. Gen. Won Young Duk) and I understand that there has been an order issued which I have not seen.

"I did not discuss it with President Rhee but I understand that there is some order which passes to this independent provost marshal general of Korea some security troops in the rear area. But there is no question as to the ROK army, navy and air forces that are fighting the war being under my command and there are no misgivings on that score between President Rhee and myself."

A newsmen pointed out reports that release of the anti-Red prisoners was made possible by provost troops not under Clark's command. "At the time those prisoners were released, I considered that those troops were under my command," Clark said.

"I still consider that they are. But, as I said, there is some order I believe that passes . . . takes some of these troops and places them under some independent command. I have not seen it yet."

Clark was asked about a report that Rhee had threatened to withdraw South Korean troops from U.N. command control.

Clark replied: "That has been discussed not only by me with President Rhee but by United States Ambassador (Ellis) Briggs with him and there always has been the understanding that if he (Rhee) felt the time had come to consider such a disastrous action that he would discuss it with me before he came to that decision. That time has not come in my opinion."

Clark said on emerging from Rhee's mansion that the "conversations were more hopeful."

"I am not trying to be overly optimistic," he added.

"There are many problems as you know—deep rooted convictions on the part of various parties. So I don't want to give the impression of over optimism at all. All I can say is that I feel somewhat more encouraged after the discussion today."

After saying he could sign a truce without South Korea's approval, Clark said such action not

College View Has Power Problems

"A power problem exists in College View," says Knox Walker, Superintendent of Buildings and College Utilities. "The reason for it is a combination of hot weather and inadequate wiring."

Hot weather has already added 189 window cooling units to College View. These cooling units plus the heavy ice making chores of over 460 refrigerators have the apartments circuits loaded to capacity.

"The buildings in College View were not wired for this situation," Walker said, "and circuit breakers are popping in many parts of the area."

Cooler weather will ease the predicament but until then some restriction to power usage must be imposed, Walker said. Residents of College View are requested by Walker to consult the Student Apartment Office before installing air conditioners or other large appliances as power may not be available for them.

only would depend on "the from my government" by the Reds.

Clark turned aside questions about the more than 8,000 still in stocks, whether he still intended the freed prisoners—mandated by the Reds—ferred to an earlier stage said "such measures as tificable are being taken."
