Laughton Will Star In Town Hall Show

Gershwin Concert To Finish Series

By JERRY BENNETT Battalion Co-Editor

Town Hall, A&M's annual concert series, this year will present a dramatic show for the first time in addition to its regular musical programs.

Actor Charles Laughton, whose screen portrayal of Henry VIII almost put Elizabethian table manners back into the etiquette books, will offer one of the most unusual and popular shows now touring the country. Laughton will read to the Town Hall audience. He will take selections ranging from Mark Twain to the Diciples. His readings have come into such great demand that Life Magazine predicts he has set a new trend in entertainment. The programs are backed by Paul Gregory, former con-

agency, who hit upon the idea of the reading tour, after seecert manager of a talent+
