Escaped Polish UN Delegate Testifies Today

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Polish professor who recently quit his country's delegation to the United Nations to seek U.S. asylum today tells congressmen about life behind the Iron Curtain.

The Pole, Dr. Marek Stanislaw Korowicz, was called by the House Un-American Activities Committee for testimony under unusual security arrangements.

Chairman Velde R-III. barred the public from the hearing room but arranged for newsmen to hear the testimony. Plans were made for live television coverage by NBC, and for delayed radio broadcasts by others.

The hearing was so set up, Velde told reporters, as a protective measure for the 50-year-old specialist on international law who has been under escort provided by the National Committee For a Free Europe, Inc., a private organization.
