

Aggies Will Battle U of H Tomorrow; First Home Game

By Bob Boriskie
Battalion Sports Editor

Over 30,000 football fans are expected to trek into Kyle Field Saturday night to watch the Aggies open their home grid season with the University of Houston Cougars.

Game kick-off time is 8 p. m. Both squads list 21 returning lettermen from the teams that battled to a 21-13 Aggie decision last fall in Houston in the opening game of the season.

The Aggie win turned out to be one of two losses the Cougars suffered during the season, and the Cats will be clawing for revenge.

Leading the Cougar invasion will be co-captains Paul Carr, fullback, and Maurice "Buddy" Gillioz, tackle. Both players are considered as top prospects for All-America recognition this year.

Carr was a devastating linebacker in the Missouri Valley conference for the past two seasons and was twice named as All-MVC line-backer. He averaged 5.3 yards per carry in 1952.

Gillioz performed last season as a teammate to All-America J. D. Kimmel, and was somewhat obscured by the brilliant play of Kimmel. Gillioz is driving this year to take Kimmel's place on the select list.

Band Schedules Minstrel Drill

The Aggie band will perform the drill of the minstrels during half time tomorrow at the University of Houston game.

Coming on the field in a massed sided entrance, they will do two double left minstrel turns followed by a double counter march. They will then perform a single left minstrel turn and a lost-motion counter march.

After this they will form the letters "U of H" and "AMC" facing both sides.

They will march off the east side of the field while still in the "AMC" formation.

Drum major of the consolidated band is Hugh Philippus, Maroon band drum major is Baker Brogden and drum major of the white band is Ed Hervill.

One hundred and sixty men will march tomorrow.

Bloodmobile Visit To Campus Cancelled
The American Red Cross bloodmobile unit closed Aug. 31 canceling the drive scheduled in College Station for Dec. 7-11, said Harry L. Boyer, chief of housing.

"I wish to take this opportunity to thank all A&M students who donated in our previous drives," said Mary Mathis, assistant administrative director.

Weather Today

CLOUDY

Cloudy today with no expected change in temperature. Possible showers late tonight and early tomorrow. Low this morning 56.

The Aggies will enter the contest with the benefit of experience gained from the victory over Kentucky, while Houston will be tasting action for the first time.

Both teams feature defensive play, and the game winner may be determined by the team that can score first and then hold on to the lead.

Few Seating Changes Made

No big changes are apparent in the newly-approved Kyle Field seating plan for this football season.

The seating will be as follows:

Bands
The varsity and freshmen bands will occupy all the lower part of Section 132 and six seats into Section 131 closest to Section 132. The area will run from the 50-yard line to about the 37-yard line. The corps senior section will be the 18 rows above the main aisle.

A-AAA Wins First In Graded Pass-By

An anti-aircraft artillery won first place in the first regiment graded pass-by Wednesday.

A armor was second, and B armor, A field artillery and A infantry tied for third.

Other places were A engineers and B field artillery, sixth tie; B infantry, A chemical and A ordnance, eighth tie; A army security agency and A quartermaster, 11th tie; and A signal corps and A transportation, 13th tie.

The units given last places this week will not have a formal inspection, as announced earlier, because of the housing and moving situation, said B. K. Boyd, regimental commander.

Applications are now being accepted from all juniors who wish to join the Ross Volunteers.

Requirements are a grade point ratio of 1.5 or better and a 2.0 in military science.

Senate Approves New Football Seating Plan

In its first action of the year, the Student Senate accepted last night the part of the Kyle field seating committee's report on the football game seating plan.

A motion was defeated to use a date card system whereby a cadet's date carries a card with a code letter on it showing her where to sit.

The Senate's opinion was that students should instruct their dates on seating procedures in Kyle field. The group also voted to have signs placed over ramp entrances denoting the classification of the section.

The Senate passed a motion directing signs to be placed over ramp entrances to Kyle field to be made by and purchased from the MSC. The signs will be of a semi-permanent nature.

V. M. (Monty) Montgomery, a member of the Senate welcoming committee and head yell leader, reported that he contacted members of University of Kentucky's student government while attending the game Saturday.

A traffic committee was set up by the Senate to investigate the campus parking situation and make recommendations on how the problem can be eased.

Last year's Senate traffic committee made recommendations which resulted in enlargement of the dormitory 5 and Law hall parking lots.

John Benefield, a junior senator, made the suggestion that if the Battalion, printed notices of yell practices, attendance at the functions would improve.

The Senate passed a motion requesting that, if possible, the Battalion should follow this policy.

In an appeal for better student attendance at yell practices, the Senate adopted the following solution:

"The tradition of yell practice has long been the Aggie student body's method for signifying their support of A&M teams. Yell practice is held at 7:05 every Tuesday and Thursday night in the Grove.

"During a week in which a home game is scheduled, the Thursday night yell practice is eliminated and a Friday yell practice will be held at 11:30 p.m.

"Support of this activity is the responsibility of all students attending A&M, non-military as well as military."

Ted Uptmore, suggested that the MSC chimes play the Aggie War Hymn before every yell practice so non-military students would know it was being held.

A committee was formed to investigate possible means of informing non-military and married student when yell practice was being held.

An investigation of distinguished student privileges was given to Senate representatives to the Student Life Committee for action by the SLC.

The Senate was of the opinion that some departments of the college are not adhering to regulations concerning DS cards.

First Town Hall Shows Will Be Held in Guion

The delay in construction of the new physical education building has made it necessary to hold the American Album of Familiar Music and Charles Laughton Town Hall programs in Guion hall.

Two or three concerts will be held to accommodate everyone wishing to attend the two programs. The American Album of Familiar Music is scheduled for Nov. 17 and Charles Laughton for Dec. 7.

Town Hall tickets were sold on the assumption that the new physical education building would be completed in time for the first engagement, giving a larger seating capacity than Guion hall.

Because of the steel strike, the completion date for the gym has been set back to next year.

All persons who have Town Hall tickets, both students and non-students, will have their tickets marked at the Office of Student Activities for a 7 or 9 p. m. performance.

If necessary, a matinee will be held on the same day.

American Album of Familiar Music is scheduled Nov. 17. Charles Laughton will appear Dec. 7.

Cherry To Attend Tax Conference

Cherry does research in the field of farm taxation for the agricultural experiment station.

Attending the conference will be governmental tax officials, industrial executives, and representatives from educational institutions.

The dance is for all Aggies with dates this weekend. Tickets are 50 cents a couple.

Phillips Says MSC Facilities Open to All

Corps Scholastic Officer Carroll Phillips told The Battalion he has instructed first sergeants that freshmen have as much right as anyone else to use all Memorial Student Center facilities.

Phillips also said he told them that freshmen in the Center were not to be treated in anyway that might be considered hazing.

Phillips, who is also a member of the MSC council, said he gave these instructions yesterday to clarify how students have always been expected to act in the MSC. No new policies were set, he said.

Phillips spoke to first sergeants from the new area.

Corps Commander Fred Mitchell said yesterday that freshmen must follow the Articles of the Cadet Corps and corps traditions while in the student center.

He said that class distinction is not being abolished in the MSC.

A Battalion reporter asked Mitchell if the first sergeants were told not to allow verbal hazing of freshmen in the MSC.

Mitchell said "Hazing of any type is non-existent anywhere in the Corps of Cadets."
