The Extension Service club is made up of the wives of the headquarters staff and the ladies on the staff of the extension service.

HI, SCHOOL

Candidates for queen to reign at the homecoming game with Waller, Oct. 16, have been chosen.

The winner will receive a corsage and a football autographed by all the team members. Runners-up will be duchesses for her court.

The election is decided by which girl collects the most money in a city-wide canvas, at a penny a vote. All money will go toward the junior-senior banquet.

Candidates who have been chosen by the home rooms are Anna Beaty, Ann Hite, Shirley Brown, Marcia Smith, Jean Puddy and Janet Fowler.

The area and district officers of the A&M Consolidated school Future Homemakers of America chapter took a trip to Waco Saturday, Sept. 26 to find out about state degrees.

Marilyn Floeck, president of FHA at Consolidated; Marian Gaddis, chairman of the area honorary membership commission, and Elsie Richards, district parliamentarian, attended the meeting.

The FHA members have been invited to the state fair in Dallas, Oct. 17.

Four hundred Kids' day buttons have already been sold by the FHA in their campaign to raise money for the Polio foundation.

They will continue selling the buttons at 25 cents each until they reach their goal of 2,000 sold.

Mexican Art Exhibit Opens Sunday in MSC

An exhibit of modern paintings by Mexican artists will begin Sunday in the Memorial Student Center ballroom.

The paintings were borrowed from public and private collections throughout the nation, said Mrs. Enalita Newton Terry, advisor to the MSC art gallery committee.

One of the most prominent artists represented will be Diego Rivera, famous for his huge murals depicting Mexican progress and mosaics he designed to decorate the outside of the new University of Mexico in Mexico City.

Francisco Zuniga, well known in art circles for his individualistic style in India ink work, will be represented in the display.

Prints of lithographs and ink drawings as well as oils and watercolors will be presented in Sunday's show.

Guillermo Meza will have some of his oils displayed as well as Raul Anguiano and David Alfaro Siquieros.

Watercolors by Rufino Tamayo will highlight that portion of the exhibit.

Mrs. Terry said plans are underway to have some Latin-American students present at the opening of the show Sunday.

Free Represents CHS Senior Class

Members of the student council at A&M Consolidated high school were chosen in school-wide elections yesterday.

Representing the senior class will be Melvin Free and Pat Owen. From the two junior rooms Jay Page, Barbara Mullins, Jean Adams and Larry Glaze were chosen.

Sophomores chose Faye Simms, Norman Floeck, Rita Hughes and Bobby Withcher.

Representatives from the three freshman rooms are Mary Lou Ergle, John Harrington, Betty Mead, Larry Leighton, Ernest Tanzer and Jo Ann Walker.

Local Girl Scouts To Meet Thursday

Girl Scout troop 21 of A&M Consolidated school will meet at 3 p. m. Thursday at the home of their leader, Mrs. L. S. Burkhalter, 205 Timber.

At the last meeting plans for the year were made and the following officers were elected: Mary Ann Kirkham, president; Donna Dale, vice-president; Shirley Rogers, treasurer; Susan Caudill, secretary; and Mary Ann Kirkham, troop historian.

The troop meets every Thursday at Mrs. Burkhalter's home.

Three Freshmen In 4-H Finals

Three A&M freshmen are in the state finals of the 4-H club awards program for this year.

Jerry Weatherby, Fort Worth, is a finalist in the leadership contest; Walter Miers, Rotan, a finalist in both leadership and dairy achievement; and Murry Milner, Brownwood, a finalist in farm and home electrification.

Winners will be announced soon, according to state 4-H club leaders.

Reduction in Rank

The excuse did not cover the drill period.

Soon after leaving Fort, the Army officer went to the Military Science building and searched the rosters of both H Company, the freshman chemical corps unit, and A company, the upperclassmen unit, trying to find a cadet first lieutenant with the name he had been given.

The officer could find none and thereupon supposed the name he received was false.

He then notified the senior Chemical Corps instructor that he would like to observe a class and see if he could spot the cadet under suspicion.

While entering Friday morning the building where Chemical Corps military science classes are held, the Army officer saw Fort, the cadet in question, approaching.

He stopped Fort and asked him why he was late to class. Fort said he could not find the military in his room and had been to the hospital to get a new one.

Thereupon the officer asked to see Fort's identification card.

The name Fort had given the officer did not agree with the one on the ID card.

When the officer asked Fort why he had lied, Fort said, "I just panicked."

When asked by a Battalion reporter why he had lied, Fort said, "When the officer stopped me Thursday afternoon, I just said the first thing that came to my mind." "I was pretty excited and I just lost my head," he said.

Fort has had a good record at A&M, Myers said.

He has had no more military deficiencies than the average cadet. He had a better than average summer camp record and has not previously been in any major difficulty with the military, Myers said.

Sepulveda told investigating officers that he tried to get Fort not to skip drill, but that Fort asked him to not report him absent.

Sepulveda's record is also without a major flaw, said Myers.

A new commander and executive officer for A Chemical Corps have not yet been selected, said Col. Myers, but the tactical officer for the company has been asked to submit recommendations.

It is not a crime or a breach of regulations to cut drill, Myers said. Fort was reduced because he lied and Sepulveda was reduced for submitting a false report.

It is, he emphasized, the company commander's responsibility to report all absentees, including those men who are excused from drill.

Unless an advanced student has too many cuts in drill, the only punishment he receives is a $1.80 reduction in pay for every absence.

Otherwise, said Col. Myers, cutting drill is just like cutting any other class.

Telephone Calls are Important Calls

No matter when you need to make a telephone call, at any time of the day or night, you expect your telephone to work. And the chances are, you'll find it hard to remember when it didn't give you the service you expected!

What is the magic that has so much to do with your telephone's dependability? Telephone people call it "preventive maintenance." Actually, it's finding and eliminating troubles before they happen.

Of course, occasionally it may be necessary to report trouble on your line. When you do, you'll find the repairman courteous, efficient and neat in his work. And you'll also find him tremendously interested in keeping your telephone the dependable servant it is.
