Raiders to Try For Third Win

If two of Texas Tech's Red Raiders listen to their older brothers, they may learn how to defeat A&M for the third time in Tech history Saturday night.

Only twice in the 12 games played between the two schools has a Tech team won. In 1946, the Raiders edged the Aggies, 6-0, and in 1948, Tech won by 20-14. Both games were played in San Antonio. A defensive standout in the 1946 victory was Glenn Lewis, brother of Tech's leading rusher for this season, halfback Don Lewis of Quitaque. Glenn is now an assistant coach at Lamesa high school. Charley Reynolds scored for Tech on a 10-yard romp in the final three minutes after running an interception 17 yards.

Hatch crosser with the winning touchdown to climax a 70-yard march. Otherwise, it has been strictly A&M.

This will be only the third time that the contest between the two similarly-sized state schools has been played on a college campus. The 1927 game was played at Tech, and the 1942 contest at College Station. San Antonio's Alamo stadium was the scene for the games of 1943 through 1950. They played at Amarillo in 1932 and in the Dallas Cotton Bowl in 1951.

Reserved and general admission tickets are still available for the game, expected to draw more than 20,000.

Tech Wins In '48

Playing a lot of ball for Tech in the 1948 triumph were two older brothers of the current Raiders' tackle, Jimmie Williams. Bob, now assistant coach at Phillips, played center. Don, assistant coach at Dallas Highland Park, was a tackle. A&M led 14-0 with seconds remaining in the first half in '48. Then Ernest Hawkins and Cal Stevenson collaborated on a 91-yard pass play. In the second half, Stevenson cracked over after Walter Maloney's punt return, and Tim

Undefeated Raiders Better '52 Record

After their first three games of the season Texas Tech's Red Raiders are well on the way toward bettering their 1952 record.

The '52 Raiders compiled a 3-7-1 record. This year's team has won its first three games, setting up a meeting of two undefeated teams Saturday.

Tech rolled over West Texas State, 40-14, downed Texas Western, 27-6 and last week upset Oklahoma A&M, 27-13. The Oklahomans had edged Arkansas, 7-6, the week before the Hogs beat TCU, 13-6.

Coach DeWitt Weaver is expecting a greatly improved team, although a back-breaking schedule may keep the amount of improvement from showing in the bare, final-season standings.

With a ground-gainer like Bobby Cavazos, Tech will run a lot from the split-T but with more passing than last season. Quarterback Jerry Johnson, the Border conference's number two man in total offense, has picked up poise.

whose work was confined to defensive play following an auto accident last fall, backs up Johnson.

One platoon football means some little setbacks will not be used as much as earlier planned. Mainly, it has pushed some defensive standouts of last fall down as far as the fourth team.

Bob Cavazos Aims For All-America

Bobby Cavazos, Texas Tech's great break-away runner is a top contender for All-America honors this year after two years as an honorable mention on the mythical team.

Twice Cavazos has made both the official All-Border conference and the Associated Press all-conference teams. He has been Tech's leading rusher for two seasons.

Speedy, powerful and elusive, Cavazos "hits the handoff faster than anyone I've seen," said Coach DeWitt Weaver. He is a good kickoff returner and may kick extra points.

Here are some of the highlights of Cavazos's career: Sophomore year, ran for 119 yards and scored three touchdowns against TCU, the SWC champs; gained 117 yards of the 131 Tech netted against Baylor.

Junior year: Scored two touchdowns and gained 104 yards, on four carries against North Carolina State; gained 185 yards against Texas Western; 64 yard scoring run against Baylor; two touchdowns and 91 yards against Tulsa.

An animal husbandry major, Cavazos was reared on the King Ranch, home of Assault and Middle Ground, winners of the Kentucky Derby.

ELLIS RETURNS PUNT—Don Ellis takes Georgia punt on Aggie 34 and heads up sideline for a 24 yard return to the Georgia 42. Bob Easley (35) throws a block on Derwent Lanley (No. 44) on the midfield stripe.

★ Quarterback of the Week ★ Miller's Super Market

Miller's Super Market on Highway 6 South is a firm which goes all out for anything it undertakes.

A little over a year ago, this enterprising super market went into business. It did its best to establish a store which could serve everyone with almost anything.

Miller's today is a complete, handy and quick-serving business . . . a food center in every sense of the name.

When it comes to football, no other business in town has more interest. Miller's sponsors each week a gridiron contest—the football sweepstakes. Valuable prizes await each week's winner. You don't have to be an expert on football to win, you just need to bring along your rabbit's foot.

If you're not lucky at football guessing, Miller's offers something else that doesn't require a bit of luck—it offers you SUPER VALU. Black Gold Stamps, which are aptly named, are given with every purchase. There's a lot of gold at Miller's just waiting to be panned. All you do is save your stamps—pretty soon they'll add up to a valuable prize. What's more—double stamps are offered every Tuesday, if you happen to shop early in the week.

So next time you need anything—check at Miller's. You'll find that you get great value with every purchase. You'll also be pleased with the efficiency of every member of its staff. Try them. They're waiting to serve you.
