

City Debt Causes Lively Council Meet

The usually quiet College Station city council burst into life last night over discussion of a debt payment.

Coulter Hoppes, Bryan attorney representing J. C. Culpepper, appeared before the council to ask the city to pay for construction work that Culpepper did while developing the Oak Terrace section in south College Park.

The major portion of the construction was the installation of water mains, fireplugs and street paving. Culpepper has built 80 houses in this area.

Before the construction was done, the city agreed to pay Culpepper for these services, "as the city is able, and only out of net earnings from the Oak Terrace section." These earnings are profits from taxes and utilities.

Culpepper's bill for his services was $21,454.03. However, the council pointed out that the city had made little or no net profit from the section.

It is up to the council to decide what they can commit themselves to do to pay the debt, Hoppes said.

Detailed explanations by council members were given to Hoppes showing why the city could make no payment on the debt now. They finally decided to table the matter until City Manager Ran Boswell could prepare a study of all income taken in by the city from the Oak Terrace addition.

Boswell explained that such a study would take time and would not be ready until at least the Nov. 1.

Hoppes agreed to meet with Boswell when the report is complete and then bring the matter before the council again.

The council also accepted last night the request of V. L. Vamey to keep a horse in the city limits. Vamey, who has already filed for the $10 license necessary, asked the city's permission to keep the horse on lots north of Lincoln avenue between the Kelley and College Hills additions.

The council approved the request with the condition that the city health officer approved the stable and pen.

Councilman Joe Orr was appointed to a county-wide committee to study water problems of Brazos county. Joe R. Barron, representative from Bryan, asked that the council appoint one man from the council.

Joe Sorrels was the only councilman absent.

States Rights '48 Candidate To Speak Here

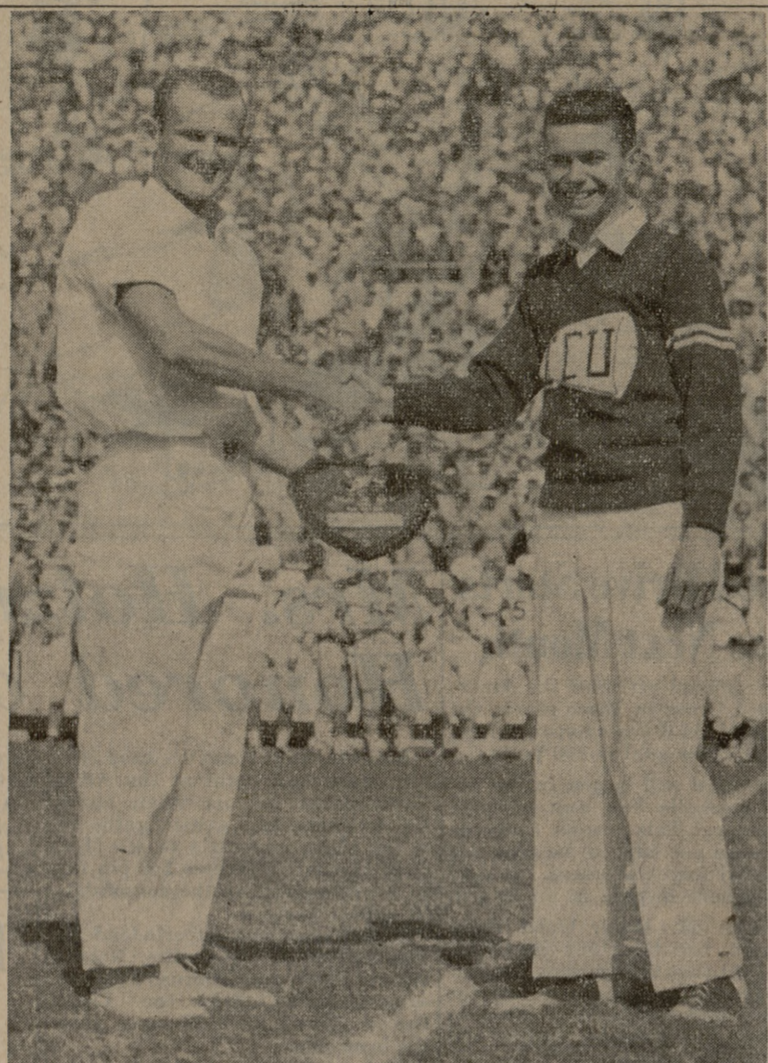

Col. Storm Thurmond, United States Army reserve, will speak at 11 a. m. Oct. 27 in Guion Hall. Senior military and air science students will be excused from classes to attend the program.

Thurmond is national vice-president for army affairs of the Reserve Officers association, senior partner of the law firm of Thurmond, Lyman and Simons and a former of Aiken South Carolina.

As the states rights Democratic party nominee for president of the United States in 1948, Thurmond carried four states and received 39 electoral votes. He was governor of South Carolina in 1947.

The subject of Thurmond's speech will be "Importance of Reserve Officers in Today's World". He served in the European and Pacific theaters in World War II.

Thurmond received numerous service decorations and was wounded in the Normandy assault in 1944.

FOR BETTER RELATIONS—V. M. (Monty) Montgomery head yell leader (left), accepts a plaque from March Coffield, TCU head cheerleader. The plaque reads "TCU vs. A&M, 1953; for better relations between schools". It was presented at the A&M-TCU football game Saturday as a part of the activities for Southwest Conference Sportsmanship day.

MSC Forum Group Shows UN Material

In recognition of United Nations Week which started yesterday, the Memorial Student Center forum committee has placed exhibits and displays of UN material in the MSC.

Any organization desiring pamphlets or other materials for use in programs about the UN may obtain them in the MSC directorate office, said Bud Whitney, chairman of the forum committee.

The committee has information on the following UN commissions and organizations:

United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural organization.

World Health organization.

Food and Agricultural organization.

International Trade organization.

International Refugee organization.

The displays on bulletin boards and in display cases throughout the Center feature exhibits of pamphlets, periodicals and explanatory material about the UN.

Junco club will discuss "International Civil War and the UN," in its meeting tonight at 7:30 in room 3D, MSC.

The purpose of the display, Whitney said, is to promote interest in the UN and to spread information about the world government organization.

Ag Station Staffs Meet This Week

The annual conference of the headquarters and field staffs of the Agricultural Experiment station will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in the Memorial Student Center.

Administrative personnel and research workers in 17 subject-matter departments located here and at 44 field units over the state will attend the meeting.

Director R. D. Lewis said that much of the work of the conference will be done in eight subject-matter discussion groups Wednesday evening and Thursday afternoon. Included is a dinner meeting of the administrative staff with the heads of the departments and field units.

Chancellor M. T. Harrington and Vice Chancellor D. W. Williams will represent the A&M System on the program. Lewis will discuss the broad aspects of agricultural research in Texas.

The conference will end with a tour Friday afternoon of the new agricultural facilities.

New Area Bugle Stand To Be Built

A bugle stand will be constructed in the new dormitory area.

The stand, which is being donated by Col. Joe Davis, commandant, will be located about 20 yards north of the flag pole between dormitories 9 and 10.

It will be about the same size as the bugle stand near the YMCA and should be ready for use in approximately two weeks, according to Lt. Col. Taylor Wilkins, assistant commandant.

Four Cadets Hurt In Crash Sunday

Saunders A. Schreiber, junior electrical engineering major from Galveston, received a chipped elbow and a severely cut arm in a four-car accident Sunday night two miles from Ennis.

Schreiber's car plowed into the rear of a pickup truck.

The cause of the wreck was a car parked on a bridge on highway 75. A motorist was stopped on the bridge changing a tire.

A car just barely managed to stop and avoid hitting the parked car. Another car slammed into the first car. The pickup truck rammed the second car and Schreiber's car with four other Aggies as passengers, slammed into the pickup.

The four cars were jammed together so tightly they had to be

Band Soph Hurt in Crash Saturday

James Earl Justice, sophomore band member from Sherman is in fair condition in Sherman hospital from injuries received in a car wreck Saturday night.

Justice and his date were traveling between Sherman and Fort Worth after the football game, when he went to sleep at the wheel. His car rammed a utility pole.

He is hospitalized with a broken left arm, a broken right leg, cuts and bruises. His date was uninjured.

Justice's sister called College officials and notified them that Justice would not return to school this semester. She said would call the college at a later date to settle disposition of his clothing and possessions.

SLC Sets Up New Group To Handle Student Aid

Corps Trip Leaves Loan Fund Broke

The Fort Worth Corps trip has left the student loan fund flat broke.

The office loaned out $2,600 last week. When the week started, Monday morning, the fund only had $50. By collecting old loans, they managed to meet the demand.

But by Saturday there was a sign on the loan office door. It said "No money."

Dorm 5 to Elect Student Senator

The two floors of non-corps students living in dormitory 5 are going to have a representative on the student senate.

Filing for the position will begin Oct. 26 in the student activities office and close Oct. 30. The election will be from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. Nov. 3 in the lounge of dormitory 5.

Although he will be elected from only half a dormitory, the senator from dormitory 5 will have a full vote in the senate, according to Leo Draper, chairman of the election commission.

There will be a meeting of the election commission at 7:30 p. m. Nov. 2 in the student activities office to plan the election.

Baylor Ticket Sale To Close Friday

Date tickets for the A&M-Baylor game will be on sale until 5 p. m. Friday.

Students purchasing tickets must have their identification and student activities cards.

Because of the A&M win over TCU last week-end, the athletic department is expecting a sell-out.

The only remaining reserved seats are near the goal line or in the end zone. However, the business office expects Baylor to return one section of tickets.

Who's Who Selection Chairmen Are Named

The Student Life committee may give away more than $1,000 to students or campus organizations needing financial aid.

The money will come from an expected $2,000 profits from this year's Twelfth Man Bowl football game.

The first $1,000 will go to the Student Aid committee for its Student Health Loan fund. Students may borrow money from this fund for medical bills not covered by their hospital fees.

The next $1,000 will be given to a special committee formed at yesterday's meeting. Both groups will split equally any additional profits.

The special committee can use its share for financial aid in any way it decides. It could either loan or give away the money.

Receivers might include the cadet corps, campus chest or students with losses from fire.

The special committee could even donate its funds to the Student Aid committee. If this was done, the new committee would be abolished.

The Student Aid committee formerly controlled all Twelfth Man Bowl profits.

The new committee was formed following suggestions by Student Senator Carroll Phillips and Corps Commander Fred Mitchell.

Phillips asked if the campus chest drive could be connected with the Twelfth Man bowl.

Mitchell suggested that needy students receive money as gifts instead of loans. He favored forming a subcommittee to check if they were worthy of the gifts.

Phillips pointed out that if the money was given away instead of loaned, it would not be available for future students.

Later Mitchell suggested that all money not needed by the Student Aid committee be given to the cadet corps. Mitchell said that since the game is played between Army and Air Force units, the corps should get the money.

Profits Be Established

Faculty member Dan Russell moved the special committee be established and that game profits be divided between it and the Student Aid committee. He also moved the special committee decide how it would use its share.

The recommendation must be approved by the Student Life committee.

Members include Mitchell, Phillips, Bill Rowland and Bill Henderson. R. L. Hunt was appointed chairman of the Twelfth Man Bowl committee. Assisting him will be Mitchell, representing the corps, and Wallace Birkes representing the non-military students.

Russell reported the Student Health Loan fund now has between $1600 and $1700. Last year's Twelfth Man bowl profits totaled $2,034.88.

T. B. Field was appointed corps Who's Who selection chairman. Doyle Lowrie was named selection chairman for the non-military students.

The Student Life committee will name Who's Who for 1953-54 at its December meeting. Students may make recommendations starting today in the Student Activities office. A box for recommendation forms soon will be ready in the MSC. Deadline is Nov. 15.

Decided to Delay

The Student Life committee decided to delay Bill Reed's motion that it complain about some instructors not honoring distinguished student cards.

Reed made the recommendation for the Student Senate. He will ask the senate whether it wants to complain to the Dean of the College or to the heads of departments concerned.

The presidents of the junior and senior classes were asked to have their groups check themselves as part of the college's self-evaluation program. They were told to have a report ready by the next meeting.

The Student Life committee also:

- Heard a report on the progress of "We Are the Aggies," a publicity movie about A&M student life.
- Elected Carroll Phillips parliamentarian.
- Voted to continue giving reduced priced Guion Hall tickets to privileged students.

Saddle and Sirloin, Rodeo Clubs Meet

The Saddle & Sirloin club and the Aggie rodeo club will have a joint meeting tonight in the main lecture room of the A&I building immediately after yell practice to discuss last minute details and problems of the rodeo this weekend.

"Since the books will close at the end of this meeting, all those who haven't entered any of the events and wish to do so, should attend this meeting," said Lowrie Rice, assistant rodeo chairman. All contestants should attend in order to learn when they will draw their stock.

Jim Ehlers, ticket chairman, said, "All members who have tickets should be present in order to learn when and where to turn in ticket money and all unsold tickets."

Ed Harvill will give a report on the rodeo band that will take part in the parade to be held in Bryan, beginning at 4:30 p. m. Friday afternoon.

Proceeds from this rodeo will be used by the Saddle & Sirloin club to send members of the livestock judging teams to Chicago, Kansas City and Fort Worth to represent A&M in national collegiate judging competition.

Neighbors Elected Council President

C. C. (Chuck) Neighbors, senior journalism major from Kane, Pa., was elected last night president of the Arts and Sciences council.

Also elected were Chuck Newman, vice-president; Bill Coppage, secretary-treasurer; Bruce Sterzing, senior representative to the Inter-Council; and Wade Cannon, junior representative to the Inter-Council.

Bob Hendry, editor of the Commentator magazine, reported on the progress of the magazine. He said the material for the next issue was ready for the printers, and the magazine might possibly be out before Nov. 1.

Hendry also said that he expected the magazine to make a profit this year.

The council decided to form a committee to study the honor code. The committee will be appointed at the next meeting, Nov. 2.

Poultry Class Sets Turkey Farm Tour

The poultry husbandry 303 class will take an all day field trip Oct. 28 to inspect turkey farms and the equipment necessary to operate them in the Schulenberg area.

Ross M. Sherwood, class instructor, has made arrangements with a hatchery, a locker plant, and several turkey farms to receive the 15-man class.

The class will also visit the Goliad battleground.

Honor Code Ruling Set by Each Class

The number of students that must adopt the honor code before an honor system can be installed in a class can be decided by individual classes, said Dr. J. P. Abbott, dean of the college.

Abbott said this had been his opinion ever since the code was originated. He did not know if every class was following this procedure or not.

Weather Today

Cloudy with occasional light showers. Warm with moderate winds.

Seating ID Cards Ready for Non-Regs

Non-military juniors and seniors who have paid their student activity fee must pick up their seating identification tickets before the A&M-Baylor football game.

Those who have not paid will not be allowed to sit in the student section.

The purpose of this move by the student senate is to provide better seating for both corps and non-military juniors and seniors. This will keep high school students, ex-students and local citizens out of these sections.

Non-military and corps ushers will make sure the seating arrangement is followed at home games. Their duties include the roping off of junior and senior sections, placing signs, labeling ramps by classes, patrolling the borders of these sections and reporting persons who do not cooperate to the dean of men's office.

Dates and student guests should wear guest ticket stubs pinned to their lapels or dresses. This is designed to provide identification for everyone sitting in the student section.

Student identification tickets will be issued only once. It is suggested that they be removed after the game starts for use at later games.

Dormitory students may get identification tickets from the following students:

Dormitory 2—Wallace Griggs, room 317

Draper Receives $450 From Corps

The corps of cadets has given Leo Draper $450 to help replace his possessions lost when his apartment burned Oct. 10.

"You guys have been doing too much," Draper said when the money was given him.

Money is still coming in from some units in the freshman area, according to Terry Wilson, chairman of the collection there.

Marine Rifle Platoon To Be Formed Here

A marine reserve rifle platoon will be established here with William Warren, marine captain and animal husbandry professor, as company commander. The first meeting of the unit was held last week.

32 SECONDS — Fred Mitchell corps commander, gives the traditional kiss to Jane McBrierty of TSCW this year's Aggie sweetheart. The kiss was part of the half-time ceremonies at Saturday's A&M-TCU football game. Reliable sources, with stop watches, timed the kiss at 32 seconds.
