Bryan Business Machine

TYPEWRITER IS WON BY AL ABDULLAH

Al Abdullah, '54, CO of "A" Cavalry, picked up a brand-new portable typewriter for nothing at Bryan Business Machine Co. Friday morning.

Abdullah's name was on the ticket that P. L. "Pinky" Downs drew in Bryan Business Machine's free drawing.

Hundreds of other Aggies entered their names, but weren't so lucky. All isn't lost for them and other persons wishing to own a fine portable typewriter, however.

You can buy a new portable for only $6 down and $6 a month. You also get a liberal trade in on your old machine at the Bryan Business Machine Co., 429 S. Main in Bryan.

Rhodes Scholarship Applications Due Soon

Applications for Rhodes scholarships must be completed and in the hands of the secretary of the state committee in Austin not later than Oct. 31, 1953, according to T. F. Mayo, local representative.

Applications may be obtained from Mayo in room 317, Academic building. No examination is required.

Rhodes scholars will receive 500 pounds a year and will enter Oxford university, England, in October, 1954. A two-year study in any field is open to juniors, seniors or graduate students who are unmarried and between the ages of 19 and 25.

Competition is based on college and scholarship records, and on all-around achievement in other fields, such as athletics, leadership and general interest.

The state committee of selection will send the two best Texas candidates to district competition in New Orleans.

The district consists of six states: Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. From the 12 selected candidates, two from each state, the district committee selects four Rhodes scholars.

Smith added the point and the first half ended with Baylor leading, 14-6.

The Aggies put on the only serious scoring threat in the third quarter, driving to the Baylor 29 before Coody intercepted an Ellis pass on the Baylor 13.

Passes Count

In the fourth quarter Aggie scoring drive, A&M ripped the Bear pass defense to shreds as the Aggies started on their own 13 and drove 87 yards in eight plays that included five completed passes, one incompleteness and two plunges into the line by Easley.

From the A&M 13, Easley bulled over left tackle for six yards, then Ellis tossed to Sinclair for 17 yards and a first down on the Aggie 36.

After Easley rammed center for three, Ellis connected with Sinclair again for 16 and another first on the Baylor 45.

Francis Bears jumped offside on the next play and the officials walked the ball to the Bear 40.

With Ellis moving entirely to the air with deadly precision, a pass to Kettler for seven yards put the ball on the 33, and after an incomplete pass to Sinclair, Ellis connected with Bill Schroeder for 16 yards and a first down on the Bear 17.

On the next play, Ellis drifted to the right, found Sinclair all alone in the end zone behind Davidson and flipped to him for the touchdown. Kettler converted and the score was Baylor 14, Aggies 13 with 5:16 left to play.

A clipping penalty pushed the Aggies back to their own five the next time they got the ball and A&M never was able to move out from their own goal line.

From the Aggie 11 on fourth down and four yards needed for a first, Easley, on orders from Coach Ray George, tried to run from punt formation for the necessary yardage. He lost two yards and the Bears took over on the Aggie 9.

Four plays later the ball had moved back to the A&M 18 and the Aggies took possession.

Ellis completed a pass to Magouirik for 4 yards, and another to Easley for 7.

The game ended with the Aggies on their own 28 yard line and a first down.
