Local A&M Mothers Will Give Party

The Brazos County A&M Mother's club will hold a dessert game party at Maggie Parker's tea room at 2 p. m. Thursday.
 The party is to raise money for the $100 scholarship that is awarded by the club to some A&M student every year.
 The winner of the scholarship is awarded to a junior on the basis of ability and need.
 Mrs. J. B. Covington is in charge of arrangements for the party.

CHS Cafeteria Has Place in Brochure

The A&M Consolidated high school cafeteria has been selected to appear in the office brochure of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.
 CHS is to be included in the "key schools" to be publicized by the Washington department, according to a letter from the department.
 "We were selected because of our efficient operation and low cost of maintenance," Les Richardson, school superintendent, said.

Special Service Held by WSCS

A special prayer service conducted by Mrs. W. W. Caudill was the highlight of the meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service at the A&M Methodist church Monday night.
 The combined circles met in the Upper Room chapel for the service, which was in observance of the Week of Prayer.
 After the service the group moved to the lounge for a business meeting followed by a social hour.
 Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Stewart Brown, Mrs. A. M. Murehead and Mrs. Gordon Gay.

Personnel Course Here Is 'Average'

The business administration department's personnel administration curriculum, as compared to other schools, is average.
 R. L. Elkins of the business administration department, who is conducting an evaluation of the personnel administration curriculum, said there is plenty of room for improvement.
 From this study, recommendations for adding and eliminating courses will be made to improve the curriculum.
 Elkins has been conducting the study for two years, and expects to complete it by the end of June. Students in Elkins' 423 (Personnel Policies and Techniques) class are helping in the survey.
 They are comparing courses offered in fifty colleges and universities. Catalogs have been obtained from the registrar's office to make the comparison.

The Halloween party Saturday sponsored by the A&M Consolidated high school faculty was a "smashing success" according to students and faculty members.
 A large group of student and ex-students played games and danced to recorded music.
 Following the party, the high school girls held a slumber party at Carol Butler's home.

The students at Consolidated are invited this Friday to the Bryan high school homecoming game and the dance to be held at the high school.

During the last week, Pat Owens, Betsy Burchard, Sandra Couch, Marilyn Floeck and Helen Holmes lined up jobs in various College Station stores for the Future Homemakers of America to do on Saturday, Hobo Day.

Saturday eight girls cleaned windows and showcases and swept sidewalks for stores at the North gate for which they were paid, or given donations. Total profits for the morning amounted to $15.50.

A Saturday afternoon cove party was held at the home of Janet Folweiler last week. Faye Simms, Rita Hughes, and Joan Smith were co-hostesses for the affair.

The first week in November is National FHA week. The club has planned a special event for every day, Nov. 1 through 7.

Monday, school day, the girls brought roses, the symbol of FHA, to the teachers and also wore red and white, the FHA colors.

Yesterday was community day, and the members took fruit to the hospital.

Today is "No Gripe" day and anyone heard griping will be fined a penny.

Tomorrow, National day, is designed to promote better unity between nations. Saturday the girls will have another Hobo day.

Sunday, the FHA'ers will attend the Church of Christ together.

University Women Set Committee Meeting

The education committee of the American Association of University Women will meet at the home of Mrs. L. A. Knowles, 501 Kyle St., at 7:30 p. m. Thursday to review work done last year and to discuss plans for next year's projects.

This is the first general meeting of the year. Mrs. Knowles is committee chairman.

B. Reynolds, chairman of the fine arts committee. At the far right is an easel of Chinese embroidery from Canton, China, owned by Mrs. W. S. Allen.

International Relations Week

Fine Arts Is Theme of Meet

The fine arts and international relations committees of the Campus Study club were in charge of the club's meeting yesterday afternoon in the YMCA.

Special guests were wives of foreign students attending A&M. The invitation was extended by the international relations committee in honor of International Relations Week.

Members of the committee are Mrs. John Ashton, chairman; Mesdames W. S. Allen, I. B. Boughton and Edward Madeley. The committee also called on the wives of foreign students.

In observance of Fine Arts Week, Nov. 1-7, a two-fold program was presented, an art exhibit and a discussion of landscaping.

A highlight of the art exhibit was the showing of pictures done by E. H. Brock in water colors, oils, lithograph and pencil.

A collection of old paintings, rare china, hand-made embroidery and lace, objects of tooled leather and a few ceramics which had been loaned by members, were displayed.

The art exhibit was directed by Mrs. E. H. Reynolds, chairman of the fine arts committee.

Vice president of the group, Mrs. Louis J. Horne introduced Robert F. White, who discussed "Landscaping for Local Homes."

White told the group that a unity between house and garden with a feeling that the garden is to be lived in rather than looked at, is one solution to landscape problems.

New members introduced were Mesdames Melvin Huggett, G. D. Hallmark and J. D. Ebbs. Guests also were introduced to the group.

A tea for new members and guests was held after the meeting. The international relations committee and the fine arts committee were in charge of the tea.

Hostesses for the tea were from the fine arts committee, and included the chairman, Mrs. Reynolds and Mesdames E. R. Alexander, J. S. Mogford and R. C. Sneed.

Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey say:
 "Our Dad led the brass band in our home town. He started us on our way tooting in the band when we were eight years old. We watched and studied successful musicians as much as we could, worked real hard, and little by little began to get there."
