

Cadets Stage Muddy Offensive Scrimmage

A&M's varsity football team yesterday concentrated on offense, scrimmaging on a muddy practice field.

The team also worked a little on defense as it entered the final stage of preparation for Saturday's game with SMU.

Halfback Elwood Kettler probably will miss the game because of an injured hip. "It kinda looks like he'll be out," said Coach Ray George yesterday.

Starting Backs

George plans to start a backfield of Don Ellis, quarterback; Connie Magouirk and Joe Boring or Billy Pete Huddleston, halfbacks; and Don Kachtik, fullback.

Boring, a good defensive player, probably will start if the Aggies kick off, although Huddleston's defensive play has improved since the season's start.

Except for Kettler, the Cadets

A&M Meat Team Gets Ninth Place

The A&M Meats judging team ranked ninth in overall competition at the American Royal Intercollegiate Meats Judging contest in Kansas City last week.

A&M had 2,656 points out of a possible 3,120.

The winner, Wisconsin, had 2,830 points.

The A&M team was fourth in beef judging, fourth in beef grading and tenth in lamb judging.

Harry McCampbell was third in the individual beef grading contest. Donald Lehnert was sixth individual in the overall contest and tied for second in the individual beef judging.

Other members of the team were Lee Wilson, Nick Alexander and G. T. King, coach.

A&M will compete next at the Chicago International judging contest Dec. 1.

will be in good physical shape for the Mustangs.

The Aggies will be in good mental shape, too, said George and backfield coach Gil Steinke.

Asked about the team's mental attitude after last week's 41-14 loss, George said, "It's great."

"I think they're going to play one of their best games," said Steinke. "We had one of our best workouts of the year last Monday, and the team looks ready to play a good game."

On the other hand, SMU may have three of its top players out of the game entirely or slowed by injuries. Backs Jerry Norton and

Wrestling Club Will Be Strong; Twelve Return

The A&M Wrestling club has 12 returning lettermen working out under Coach J. W. Griffith.

Team members and their weight class are: Bob Beattie, 123; Bill Gilbert, 130; Dick Cappel, 137; Jerry Pyle, Rudy Henson and Javier Gonzalez, 147; Bill Blackmon and John Johnson, 157; Al Perkins, 167; John Huff and H. D. Maxwell, 191; and Delbert Davis, heavyweight.

Freshmen club members who show much promise are Kenneth Jones, 177, and Dick Riemer, 130, Coach Griffith said.

Club officers are Pyle, president; Johnson, vice president; and Beattie, secretary-treasurer.

The team works out each evening at 5 p. m., although the first match scheduled will be with Texas University in Austin on March 20.

Griffith, physical education instructor, is sponsor of the wrestling club and works with the team in his spare time.

Dale Moore and tackle Don Goss were hurt in the Texas game.

Norton Leads

Norton is the player who did the most to beat A&M last year in Dallas. He has been SMU's leading ground gainer for the past two seasons.

Volleyball Club Seeks Members

The new A&M Volleyball club is looking for members interested in playing that sport.

"The object of the club is to promote volleyball on a more professional level than is now played at the college," said Barney Welch, director of intramural athletics.

Captain Ralph Stapper of Bryan Air Force Base is the coach and the organizer of the club. He is assisted by Nicky Ponthieux, A&M P. E. instructor.

Stapper is considered a volleyball professional, having played for the Houston YMCA, winner of the national volleyball championship for the last three years, the San Francisco YMCA, and the San Antonio YMCA.

The club was organized on a recreational basis and is similar to the Wrestling and Soccer clubs. The club will play other colleges and YMCA's that have volleyball teams. There also will be much intracamp competition.

The club is open to anyone interested in volleyball. There are 25 members. All equipment except shorts and gym shoes will be furnished by the college.

Fish Are Tall, Fast

"Height is misleading, speed and agility are two outstanding qualities of this year's freshmen," said Larry Hayes, freshman basketball coach.

"Their overall ability to score and run overshadows their height," said Hayes. "This is one of the best offensive teams in the school's history."

"This is the first year we have had more than three or four top players," he said. "In the past we have depended on three or four good boys and the rest of the squad was composed of pickups."

Players include: William Ballard, F, 6-2½; Charles L. Blood,

C, 6-5; Earnie Bruss, F, 6-2½; Granville R. Gattis, F, 6-2½; Roger Harvey, G, 5-11; John S. Henry, F, 6-4; Ted Harrod, G, 6-0; Robert Judd, C, 6-6; Conley L. Last week we began a series of talks about that illusory "something-for-nothing" stamp deal.

We dwelt at length on the point we wanted to make—that in the end it is the customer — you yourself — that must pay the 2%-of-sales cost of the stamps. That is the amount the merchant pays the stamp company for each and every stamp given his customers — WHETHER THEY ARE EVER REDEEMED OR NOT. Our guess is that the stamp companies sell twice as many stamps as they ever redeem. Wouldn't you like to be in a business where you could sell a hundred dollars worth of goods and only deliver fifty dollars worth and have the contract considered fulfilled? Over and over again. We believe it could happen in this highly competitive age only where the illusion exists that it is "free".

But suppose this were not the case and that every stamp were redeemed and the operation became somewhat more efficient. Would you still get good value for the 2% it costs?

AN EXAMPLE

Talking about something we know the exact figures on, let us use an electric floor polisher offered as a premium by one stamp company doing business locally. Let us be generous and assume the stamp company paid no more than a wholesale grocer would pay for the same machine. If so, he would make a profit (using the 2% of sales yardstick and assuming ALL the stamps were redeemed) of $16.36 on the "sale" or 58% markup. With the same markup by your grocer, you would pay $1.32 for a 3-lb can of Crisco, or $1.44 for a pound of Maryland Club Coffee.

Is it efficient? More later.
