

Foods Group Lunch Has Autumn Theme

An autumn theme was carried out at the luncheon meeting of the Foods group of the College Women's Social club Friday at the A&M Christian church.

Mrs. Bardin Nelson, hostess for the meeting, greeted the guests and gave each a decorated place card in the shape of a fall leaf.

As soon as the members were seated, Mrs. I. G. Adams, program chairman, introduced Dr. Sylvia Cover of the A&M Experiment station. Dr. Cover gave a talk and demonstration of cooking meats at different temperatures.

Each of the tables was centered with an arrangement featuring Chinese tallow branches arranged in a brown jug surrounded with Japanese persimmons.

The buffet table was covered with a brown linen tablecloth. The centerpiece of jewel-like fruit and leaves was arranged in a copper and brass chafing dish flanked at either side by brass candelabras holding lighted chattruse tapers.

The menu included samples of the roasts which Dr. Cover had prepared during her demonstration.

After the luncheon Mrs. C. F. Richardson, president, presided over a short business meeting. She introduced Mrs. John S. Denison, chairman of the luncheon, who introduced her committee.

Mrs. G. E. Potter was co-chairman. Other committee members were Mesdames J. C. Lowell, A. B. Currie, Richard Vrooman, Barlow Irvin and Bardin Nelson.

Kiwanians To Collect Toys

The College Station Kiwanis club will sponsor a Christmas project in December for the underprivileged children of the city.

The project is part of the club's annual program.

The club will give the children toys, clothing and non-perishable food, said Robert Shrode, member of the underprivileged children committee.

Proceeds for the Kiwanis Kapers, which was held Saturday night, will be used in the project. The club received $87 from the show.

"We will need the help of the citizens of the community in the project," said Shrode. "More definite plans will be made after the Thanksgiving holidays."

Students at A&M Consolidated high school will leave by bus at 3:30 this afternoon to attend the football game with Dear Park tonight. The busses will return about 3 a. m. tomorrow.

The final football dance of the year was held Friday. Many of the ex-students attended and committee members said it was the most successful of the year.

The dance was sponsored by the junior class.

After the dance Sandra Couch entertained about five couples for refreshments at her home.

At the student council meeting Monday, Faye Simms, assembly chairman, asked each representative to hold an election in the home rooms for one person from each home room to work on the assembly committee.

The council also approved Dec. 21 as the date for the senior class Christmas dance.

Four students from A&M Consolidated will attend the Texas High School Press association meeting in Denton next week.

Betsy Burchard, editor of the Round-up; Sandra Couch, news editor; Clifton Bates, sports editor; and Jerry Holmes, editor of the annual; will go.

The Library club will travel to Kurlin next Tuesday for a skating party. The club members plan to leave about 7 p. m. accompanied by the parents of several members of the group.

Last Saturday Mrs. Rollin J. Lord's ninth grade class had a

Downward Is Speaker At Dames Club Meeting

Richard A. Downard, supervisor-trainer of the Texas Engineering Extension service, spoke at the meeting of the University Dames club Tuesday evening in the South Solarium of the YMCA.

In his talk on basic human relations he pointed out a three-fold program of human relations, cooperation, helpful criticism and getting along with one's fellow man.

"Two-thirds of the people that lose their jobs," he emphasized, "lose them because of friction with other employees, rather than lack of ability to handle the position."

Club president, Bobby Reich, asked the members to bring food for the Christmas basket to the next meeting. Louise Longnecker, chairman for the basket, is to find a family to receive the donation.

Nicki Wolf, chairman for the Christmas party reported, and Olga Check, refreshment chairman for the party, told the members to be sure to let her know how many would attend.

After the meeting the hostesses for the evening, Nicki Wolf and Laverne Rhodes, served coffee and sandwiches.

Thanksgiving Service Set

A community-wide Thanksgiving service will be held at the A&M Presbyterian church at 8 a. m. Thursday, said the Rev. Norman Anderson, Presbyterian minister.

The Rev. T. Walter Moore's speech will highlight the service. Moore is the Methodist district superintendent for the Galveston area.

An offering will be taken for the Church World Service, a national organization supporting European relief.

The A&M Presbyterian church choir will sing. They will be accompanied by Miss Margaret Berry on the organ.

Ketch Explains Thanksgiving Day

An explanation of what Thanksgiving means today was given Tuesday by the Rev. Clarence Ketch, pastor of the A&M Christian church.

He said Thanksgiving had become "religionized" and men have been restricting the day to just a few people.

"This is because the people have come to think of Thanksgiving as only a church activity, and so they restrict it to those in the church," Ketch said.

"Some of us ought to think about what Thanksgiving means and then we would be more thankful," said Ketch.

He spoke to the College Station Kiwanis club.
