

After Seven Years

Their Day of Parting Will Be Extra Tough

By ED HOLDER
Battalion Co-Editor

Some of the closest ties in the world are between coach and player. The day of parting is always tough—for both of them.

But here's one that's extra tough. Dalton Faircloth has coached Don Ellis for seven years, and Fred Broussard for four years. This covers football seasons from 1946 and 1947 in DeQuincy high school where Ellis and Broussard started their football careers up to today at A&M. They soon will be going in three different directions. Faircloth has resigned from the A&M coaching staff, and has a job coaching in Greenville. Ellis will be graduated in June and will enter the service. Broussard has two more years of eligibility for A&M. "Don seems to be taking it pretty hard—I know I am," Faircloth said. "I told Fred Monday down at the coaches' office. He was in a hurry, and when I mentioned it, he just said, 'Aw, coach, you're kidding.'" "That made me feel even worse. It took a lot to convince him it's true. Faircloth has a little boy nine years old, Dalton Jr. "My boy sure thinks a lot of these guys. He's not going to like it a bit when he finds out he can't 'box' around with them anymore." Faircloth started thinking back to the day he first met them. "When I first saw Don, he was a spindle-legged little guy about 5 ft. 6 in. tall and 120 pounds. "But even then, a freshman in high school, he had that air of confidence which struck me right away. He always acted like he knew just what he was going to do.

"No, he didn't look much like football material then, but that was a long time ago. "I sure was proud of him when he made All-SWC this year. I think Fred will make it next year. "Don played three plays that season, and all in one game. He carried the ball one time, and made four yards.

"Boy, was he proud!" But then there's the case of "Little Freddie." "Fred came out next year. He made the team alright. He was always a little bigger than the other kids his age. He was tall and—well, just big all over. "In the high school annual his senior year, Don wrote, 'I'll make you proud of me some day.' "He sure has, too."

Faircloth met Ellis and Broussard again when they decided to come to A&M. Ellis transferred from Louisiana State university and Broussard came from high school. Last year Ellis ran halfback. This year he was moved to quarterback and Faircloth took over as offensive backfield coach. Broussard worked with them a lot of the time, since he and Ellis had to coordinate plays so closely. "It's rather unusual I'd say, but Don hasn't been injured seriously a single time. He hasn't missed a play since I've known him because of injuries."

And Faircloth ought to know if anyone does. "And the folks down in DeQuincy sure think a lot of Don and Fred. I had to buy tickets for 60 of them at the Rice game, and 50 of them at the Baylor game. "Those people watch the Aggies as much as they do their own high school."

HARROD HITS FOR TWO—Freshman guard Ted Harrod drives through the Lon Morris defense for a two point lay-up in the Wednesday night game which preceded the A&M-Oklahoma City University basketball game. Harrod led the Fish scorers with 15 points in the 68-64 victory.

The Aggie B team will meet the Dallas team at 11 a.m. Saturday. The A team will play Busy Bee at 2 p.m. Sunday. A&M defeated Chance - Vought of Dallas, 1-0, last Sunday.

Tigers Top Hearne In 40-13, 37-26 Tilts

Scoring first and leading throughout the contest, the A&M Consolidated Tigers Wednesday night downed the Hearne Eagles, 40-13, in a basketball game played in Hearne. Bobby Jackson led the scoring for the Tigers with 10 points, but four teammates scored at least six points to indicate the Tigers have a well-balanced attack. High point man for the Eagles was Dent with a total of four points, which further indicates the Tigers have a well-balanced defense. Consolidated jumped off to a 10-4 lead for the first quarter and held Hearne to a single point in the second period to stroll off the court with a 19-5 halftime bulge. In a "B" team curtain-raiser, Consolidated defeated Hearne, 37-26, with Norman Floeck dumping in 12 points for scoring honors as the "B" team also led throughout the contest. Dick Hickman scored eight points for the Tiger reserves, followed by Jerry Oden with seven, John Ray Perryman with five, and Manuel Garcia with five.

High point honors for the evening went to Eagle, Frankie Abate, who tallied 13 points for the losers. Halftime score in the "B" game showed Consolidated ahead by a 15-7 margin. The Consolidated Tigers today will compete in the fifth annual Bryan Chamber of Commerce invitational tournament, meeting Spring Branch at 8 p.m. in the Bryan high school gym.
