For Polio March

District Captains Selected

District captains for the Mother's March on polio Jan. 29 have been announced by Mrs. John V. Perry, chairman of the march.

The University Dames Club met for a business meeting followed by bridge and canasta at the South Solarium of the YMCA last night.

The business meeting was presided over by the president, Bobby Reich.

Each area of the city has been divided into districts with a captain heading each district. Rural areas are being organized by Mrs. J. O. Alexander and Miss Emily Ritter.

"These districts will be further divided into sections which will be headed by lieutenants," Mrs. Perry said.

Each volunteer who wishes to participate by working in her own block is requested to telephone the captain in her district and give her name, address and telephone number, said Mrs. Perry. The volunteers will then be contacted by a lieutenant.

"This year is victory year in our polio campaign," she said.

Thousands of children throughout the country will be inoculated with a new serum that is better than gamma globin, Mrs. Perry said. Although the present serum is effective in stopping paralysis, it has not proven successful in preventing polio, she explained.

"Tests have been made with the new serum and if no polio cases are reported among the children inoculated, then every child in the country will receive the serum shots," Mrs. Perry said. "This will end the struggle against polio."

District captains and the territory they represent are Mrs. J. D. Lindsay, College Hills; Mrs. E. E. Brown, Cooner and North Gate additions; Mrs. W. G. Breazeale, campus homes; Mrs. J. B. Baty, residences south of the campus; Mrs. J. M. Holmgren, Jones Bridge road area; and W. A. Tarrow, Negro area.
