WATCH IT MOVE—Mrs. Ben Evans blows into motion a mobile hanging in the living room of her home, 1106 Langford S. The Evans built the mobile and have used in several different places in their home.

Mobiles in Your Home - III

Local People Make Mobiles

(Ed. note—This is the third in a series of four articles on the use of mobiles in home decoration.)

Mobiles are coming into wide use for decoration in College Station homes.

Many persons are building their own, while others buy ones already built that will harmonize with their decorating scheme.

The fish-shaped mobile is one that can be bought all over the country, but the Gale Vettors made their own from coat hangers. They're a group of three large and three small fishes bent from the wire. They are suspended from the ceiling by strings; each part moves independently.

The Ben Evans built theirs (see photograph) using nothing more than string, fine wire, a few pins and florist form blocks.

The light blocks are easily moved by the slightest gust of air and the mobile is in constant motion.

"The pins were very important in balance," said Mrs. Evans, and she removed one which had been used to weight a block. Immediately the entire mobile hung at an odd angle, showing what a difference only a tiny amount of weight could make in the balance of these delicate designs.

The Bob Reeds have used several different kinds of mobiles to brighten up their "pre-fab" home.

"We took cardboard ribbon spools and watercolored them," said Mrs. Reed. "We needed the bright red, green, yellow, blue and ivory to add color to the rooms.

The Reeds hung the spools on heavy wire and balanced them with string.

Another mobile they used was one made of four hollow wire rectangles. These were attached to one another and hung from the ceiling in such a way that each could move independently.

The David Yarbroughs found the bar between their kitchen and living room to be an excellent location for a mobile that they constructed.

Theirs is a series of eye-shaped discs in graduated sizes. The largest is beige and the others are yellow, blue, orange and finally a small dark blue ball. The discs carry out the color scheme used in the house.

Various locations were used for the mobiles. One hung over a low table, another over an occasional chair, and a third over a corner of the room in several homes was found to be just the spot that needed brightening with this new art form.

Several students have built mobiles for their own use and for sale. Gillette Berger, veterinary medicine student, has sold some he has made. Rufus Turner and Louis Dabney, architecture design students, built the mobile that hangs in the main lounge of the Memorial Student Center and two that are on display at the architecture department.

FAMILY FAVORITES

By Mrs. Charles Byrd

(Ed. note— Mildred Byrd is well qualified to edit our Family Favorites column, since cooking is part of her job. She is the home economics teacher at A&M Consolidated high school. Mrs. Byrd is from Waco and attended North Texas State college. She has lived in College Station for three years. Capt. Byrd is a dorm counsellor in the freshman area, and is doing graduate work toward his masters degree in agricultural education. The Byrds have two children, Pat, 13, and Chic, 10, both students at A&M Consolidated school. They are members of the First Baptist church.)

This one is served as a summer dessert. It's one of our very best favorites; I think the kids could eat it every day.

Pineapple Ginger Ale Sherbert

- 1/2 pkg. of lime or lemon jello 1/2 cup lemon juice
1 cup hot water 2 cups unsweetened pineapple juice
3/4 cup sugar 2 cups pale dry ginger ale

Dissolve jello and sugar in hot water; add lemon juice, pineapple juice and ginger ale. Pour into freezing tray. Set refrigerator at coldest temperature and freeze until thick. Turn out in cold mixing bowl and beat with electric or rotary beater. Return to cold tray and freeze until firm.

This one is used as a main dish. It's one of my few original recipes; I discovered it back when I was a bride. Although I've entered it into several contests, it's never won a prize, but my family likes it.

Pepper-Pot Soup Meat Loaf

- 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs 1/4 cup grated onion
1 can pepper pot soup 1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 pounds ground beef dash pepper

Mix all ingredients well. Place in shallow pan and bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

Young Adults Class Plans Dish Supper

There will be a covered dish supper and social at 6:30 p. m. Saturday for the young adults class of the A&M Presbyterian church.

The supper is sponsored by the seekers class of the church. Hosts for the evening are Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Cech, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Harland, Maj. and Mrs. Robert Willets, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Zobel.

Landers Elected Student of Month

Roger Q. (Jakie) Landers Jr., senior range and forestry major from Menard, was elected the 4-H Student of the Month at A&M by the Collegiate 4-H club.

Landers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Q. Landers sr., is president of the Collegiate club and will appear on the Texas A&M Farm Review March 20 in Dallas.

Art Work Advised For Taming Youths

Juvenile delinquency may be cut down by the children's ability to express themselves creatively, said Mrs. R. R. Lyle at a meeting of the Child Study club.

The club met Wednesday morning at Mrs. Lyle's kindergarten, 715 Park Place South.

While discussing her topic, "Creative Art," Mrs. Lyle said that artistic talent, which was once thought to be hereditary, can now be found and should be encouraged in children by parents and teachers.

She feels that this creative ability should be encouraged early and continue through adolescence. The creative instincts expressed through dancing, art, and music, she said, can aid older people after retirement because they will be more content.

Mrs. Lyle's talk was illustrated by demonstrations of children's art, dancing and music. She was assisted by Mrs. A. D. Medien, 610 Welch S.

After the meeting refreshments were served with Mrs. Lyle as hostess.

Students to Install Officers Sunday

Officers of the Presbyterian Student league will be installed at 6:30 p. m. Sunday at the Presbyterian Student center.

Officers are Fair Colvin, moderator; Bud Whitney, vice-moderator; Murray Milford, fellowship chairman; Bill Minor, clerk; and Martin Burkhead, treasurer.

Freshmen elected to the council were Fritz Landers, Murray Milner, and Ed Burkhead.

The installation will be followed by a debate on the proposed plan for uniting the three major Presbyterian churches into one church.

IE Wives Hold First Meeting

The IE Wives club held the first meeting of the spring semester Tuesday evening in the YMCA cabinet room.

The club is composed of the wives of all Industrial Education and Industrial Technology majors.

The meeting was called to order by the new president, Betty Foster. A fund raising project for the club was discussed, and members decided to bake for a basket to be passed among the club.

The officers announced that the next meeting would feature a demonstration of the Necchi sewing machine.

After the meeting ginger ale and cake squares were served by the hostesses, Jo Ann Richardson, Joan Mitchell and Martha Hall.

Hostesses for the next meeting are Betty Foster and Laverne Lipps. It will be Tuesday, Feb. 23 at the YMCA.

Grass Fire Here Causes No Damage

A grass fire yesterday at 11 a. m. caused no damage, said Ran Boswell, city manager.

The fire was at 1017 James Parkway in College Hills. The fire started when some trash in the alley caught fire, Boswell said.
