

String Quartet Set For Sunday Recital

The University of Texas string quartet will be featured on the fourth Memorial Student Center Recital Series Sunday at 4 p. m. in the Memorial Student Center Ballroom.

In addition to concerts in Austin, the quartet has performed in many Texas cities since its founding in 1948. During an eastern tour in 1952 it was highly praised by critics, especially in New York and Washington.

The quartet consists of the internationally known Cuban violinist Angele Reyes, whom Eugene Ormandy has called, "one of the greatest young violinists of today," at first violin; Edward Fiorelli, formerly of the Eastman School of Music and an exceptionally talented young virtuoso, at second violin; Albert Gillis, called by the Washington Times Herald, "One of the country's distinguished violinists," as violinist; and Horace Britt, master cellist and founder of the group, as cellist.

Miss Phyllis Young, artist pupil of Britt and instructor of cello at the University will join the quartet for the MSC Series performance.

Roxs Relates Impressions To Auxiliary

Capt. D. J. F. Roxs, chief Netherlands liaison officer, was guest speaker at the meeting of the American Veterinary Medicine auxiliary in the Memorial Student Center Thursday night.

Capt. Roxs gave a talk on his country comparing it with the American conception of Holland. He also told about his first impression of this country and his first baseball game.

The faculty wives of the School of Veterinary Medicine were special guests for the evening. Mrs. W. W. Armistead, wife of the head of the School of Veterinary Medicine, presided at the tea service.

Senior wives were hostesses for the evening and presented Capt. Roxs with a gift from the group.

Mrs. A. A. Price and Mrs. J. H. Milliff are co-sponsors of the AVMA Auxiliary.

FOR RECITAL SERIES—Miss Phyllis Young will join the University of Texas string quartet for a concert Sunday at the Memorial Student Center.

Editors, The Battalion:
I wish to tender my resignation from my present position on The Battalion, which is that of Exchange Editor. There is a certain group on the campus which wishes "to advise and grade" this paper in its printing of the news. I personally cannot accept the views of the Student Life Committee. If a newspaper is to be of service to its readers, I believe that it must be free from censorship, and that is what this group proposes to do.

To publish an accurate account of the news is the job of every newspaper and newspapers in. The paper and the man can not perform its or his job if others, outside of his profession, tell him what to print, and how to print. When any society does this, the paper becomes the organ of the government, which gives only its side of the news, a publication that does not give two sides of the question, in other words, it is a parrot repeating the same phrases over and over again.

I, therefore, feel that this committee has no right to censor this publication. Since they propose to do so, I must resign.

Sincerely,
S. Gardner Collins '53
Ex-Exchange Editor

Editors, The Battalion
Attention: The Student Body of Texas A&M

Since this may well be the last publication of The Battalion that will publish material controversial to its policy, I would like to ask a few questions of the student body.

I am sure that everyone will take an interest in the fate of The Battalion, and try to determine why it has been made responsible to a committee.

I am sure that it won't be difficult to find plenty of argument related to both sides of the case. But now that you know the arguments of both sides, do you want the paper to be liable for what it prints? Do you know what that may mean?

It may be said that the action taken last night was the opinion of the majority of the students, and that the majority should rule. You are right, the majority should rule, but was last night's action a majority vote of the students?

Do you as an individual student here at A&M want to read a newspaper, and wonder at the same time if what you are reading is the complete story, or rather is it only part of the story, with that which was considered as "Undesirable and Degrading" being left out? Suppose those who controlled the paper wish to pass a measure that they think the majority of the student body may not support? Do you suppose that you would ever hear about it?

Stop and think about that the next time you vote in a student election. Are you going to vote for someone who will try to destroy your means of learning what is going on in your school? Stop and Think.

Shunzo Kodera Observes UN Government Seminar

Shunzo Kodera, A&M student from Japan, has just returned from New York and Washington where he was attending the United Nations-Washington seminar.

The conference is sponsored by the National Conference of Methodist Youth and the Board of Missions and World Peace of the Methodist church.

MSC Compiling Talent Directory

A&M students who are talented, musically or otherwise, and wish to give a public performance can leave their names with Miss Margaret Long, Memorial Student Center program consultant.

Miss Long is compiling a list of talent to provide entertainment for any occasion.
Performers on Miss Long's list have previously entertained at the football and cross country banquets, at short course meetings and at the Aggie talent show.

"We will be glad to help any Aggie organization looking for talent," Miss Long said.

The seminar, now in its fifth year, gives college students an opportunity to see world and national government in action.

After three days of observing the United Nations in New York, they held conferences with leaders in the nation's capital and observed Congress in session.

While in Washington the students have been guests of the state department, the embassies, the Supreme Court and various senators and representatives.

The congressmen that the students met included Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas.

Architect Wives To Hear Langford

Ernest Langford will be the featured speaker for the meeting of the Architects Wives society at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the south solarium of the YMCA.

Langford, head of the architecture department, will speak on "The Real Cradle of Texas Independence."

The meeting will be followed by a social hour.

friendliness is "catching!"

It's been proved time and again! When "party line neighbors" aren't getting along, if just one or two try to be extra friendly, all the unpleasantness usually disappears. Yes, indeed! Friendliness is "catching" — makes everybody feel better. And it's so easy! Just fair-sharing the service—always giving "right-of-way" for emergency calls—spacing calls when you have several to make—cutting phone visits short when someone else needs the line.
