At A&M Consolidated

Public School Week Begins

Public School Week is being observed at A&M Consolidated school March 1 through March 8.

The elementary school will hold open house during the entire week. Parents and friends are invited to visit the school any day from 8:30 to 2:15.

Junior and senior high school will hold open house on Friday evening from 6:30 to 7:45 with assembly from 8:00 to 9:00 p.m.

There will be radio programs over WTAW each afternoon from 5:15 to 5:45. The programs will be as follows:

March 1, Lincoln High School—Musical—Mrs. Argie Mae Rayford and Mrs. Earline Thomas will be in charge.

March 2, Texas Independence Day Program—to be presented by

A&M Consolidated Junior High School students—Mr. A. R. Owen is in charge.

March 3, A&M Consolidated Chorus—directed by Mr. R. L. Boone.

March 4, A&M Consolidated Elementary School—first, second and third grades.

March 5, A&M Consolidated Elementary School—fourth and fifth grades.—Mrs. H. S. Creswell is in charge.

March 6, Hill Billy music—to be presented by Frances Nemeo.

On Monday, March 1, the College Station Lion's Club had lunch in the Consolidated Cafeteria. The high school chorus under the direction of Mr. R. L. Boone presented the program.

The Consolidated High School Chorus under the direction of Mr. R. L. Boone will present the program for the College Station Kiwanis Club on Tuesday, March 2. School displays may be seen in several of the local business firm's windows. Lincoln school will have a display in Madeley Pharmacy's window. Consolidated elementary school's display will be seen in Lipscomb's pharmacy. Consolidated high school's display will appear in Pruitt's Fabric Shop.

Dallas Disc Jockey To Give MSC Show

Rueben Bradford, disk jockey on Dallas radio station WFAA will present his show "Music and Stuff for You and Me" here April 5. Bradford's radio shows have been broadcast nationally over the National Broadcasting company network.

He calls his national show "Opera Once Over Lightly." He tells the story of operas in plain language, and plays the arias from the operas.

The program for his show here is not definite, but he will probably review several operas and play other types of music, according to Bob King, chairman of the Memorial Student Center music committee. The music committee is sponsoring the show.

Students' Articles Collected For Book

A volume of written work by A&M students should be ready for publication by the end of March, said R. W. Feragen, English instructor.

The volume, edited by the English department, will contain the best writing from English classes, The Battalion and departmental publications. It will be published and sold by the Exchange store.

Architects Plan Inspection Trip

Eleven graduating architectural students and assistant professor G. K. Vetter will make an 18 day trip to Mexico.

This annual architectural inspection tour made by the fifth-year class is a highlight of the year's work.

The group will leave in A & M cars on April 3, spend two days in Monterrey, about two weeks in and around Mexico City, and return by April 21.

The purpose of the tour is to study Mexican contemporary architecture. This will include visits to private homes, the new modern University of Mexico, the pyramids, other Mexico City landmarks, and also side trips to surrounding towns.

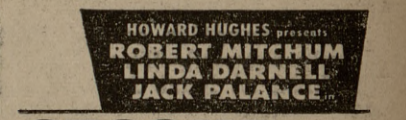

Vetter, instructor of the fifth-year design class, also made the trip last year to Mexico City. He has arranged for Arq. Mateo Ortiz and Arq. Antonio Malo, both graduates of the A&M School of Architecture and now living in Mexico City, to help guide the group.
