Livestock Judgers Win Second Place

The Junior Livestock Judging Team at Texas A&M College took 40,072 points to win second place in the Intercollegiate Livestock Judging Contest in Oklahoma City recently.

Team members are Billy Steele of Streetman, William Helbig of Frederickburg, Kenneth Killion of Elkhart and Franklin Parker of Miami. Dale Handlin of the A&M Animal Husbandry Department is team coach.

Welgehausen earned 840 points for high place on the five-man Aggie team and sixth individual place in the overall contest. Helbig was eighth and Steele was tenth.

The Aggie group, all of whom won first place in sheep judging and second in swine.

Clubs Must Get High School Rooms

Members of home town clubs and other students desiring space for High School visitors for High School Day should first utilize single vacancies and vacancies created by students clearing the campus for the weekend.

If sufficient space cannot be found in this manner then students should contact the Housing Office in Goodwin Hall for the use of rooms which are entirely vacant.

Students are asked to use single vacancies as far as possible, however, in order that some vacant rooms may be reserved for high school students who arrive on the campus without known arrangements. It is felt there is sufficient space to handle these visitors if the above system is followed.

Eisenhower Talks With MacArthur

WASHINGTON, March 19—(AP) President Eisenhower had a talk yesterday with Gen. Douglas MacArthur about the world military situation, including the war in Indochina.

MacArthur, now chairman of the board of Remington Rand Inc., reported that the President wanted to get his point of view on the general strategic picture.

They discussed national and international matters with "great frankness," MacArthur told reporters, but he added "no greater significance should be attached to the meeting than that it was a general discussion between two old friends."

MacArthur's last military post was that of supreme commander in the Far East.

When he was asked whether he and the President talked about Indochina, where French and loyal native forces are fighting a furious battle with Vietminh Red guerrillas, MacArthur said at first that he "would not care to go into any greater detail."

He then added, however, that

Indochina is an important part of the world situation, and that "in general we reviewed that situation." He declined to state his own views of Indochina, saying "I am no longer in a position of authority and I have always thought that responsibility should go with authority."

It was the first time the two old soldiers had met since last June 8, when MacArthur was a guest at a White House stag party. He had two sessions with the President today. In between he was guest of honor at a small presidential luncheon.

MacArthur has been on inactive duty since 1951, when President Truman removed him as supreme commander in the Far East as the result of disagreement over policy.

Lamont to Lecture On Artificial Kid

Capt. Lamont E. Danzig, chief, fluid and renal section, surgical research unit, Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, will give a lecture at 7:30 p. m., March 22 in the lecture room of the Biological Sciences building on the A&M campus.

He will lecture on "The Use of the Artificial Kidney in Medical Practice," Dr. Ide P. Trotter, dean of the Graduate School said today.

"This lecture should be particularly interesting to biologists, biochemists, pre-medical and medical and medical personnel in this area," Dean Trotter said.

Baseball Team To Go to Houston

Jerry Nelson goes after his second win of the season Saturday when the Aggie baseball team, unbeaten in three starts, meets the University of Houston at Houston.

Nelson, unanimous all-conference choice last year, is the ace of A&M's pitching staff. Joe Hardgrove and Lou Little are credited with the other two Aggie victories. "The team is improving and looks ahead of last year's squad," said Coach Beau Bell. Last year's team finished fourth in the conference with an 8-7 record.

Other starting positions for the Aggies will go to catcher Jim Williams, first baseman Lester Byrd, second baseman Charles Laissner, third baseman Jim Parrish, and shortstop Jim Dishman.

In the outfield will be Eric Miller, John Stockton, and Bubba Hubbard.

The Aggies open the Southwest conference season March 27 against the Rice Owls at Houston.

Aggies Meet Rice, LSU Tomorrow

Col. Frank Anderson will take nearly every varsity trackman to Houston this week-end. They will meet Rice and L. S. U. in a triangular meet Saturday.

Bobby Gross, Junior from Big Springs, will lead the team in the shot and discus. Gross has not been defeated this year.

Dale DeRouen, Southwest Conference mile champ, will lead the distance men. Other outstanding distance are: James Blaine, Bob Boles, Verlord Westmoreland, William Coker, Carl Wilmesen, and Bob Hooper.

In the hurdles it will be Glen Blake, Harley Hartung, Tom Dollahite, Kent Fry, and Jim Hollingsworth. Entered in the sprints and middle distance for the Cadets there will be Don Tedder, Kyle Kilgoh, Carrol Goyer, Bobby McCarn, Terry Vettesers, Carrol Libby, Gerald Stull, Wallace Kleb, and Frank Norris.

Little competition is expected in the distances but in the sprints the Owls are favored. L. S. U. has a group of fine middle distance men and sprinters.
