12 Students Tell Board They Will Disband TT's

David H. Morgan To Be Installed

Twelve students who claim that they and two other students are the entire active membership of the TT's, a secret fraternity, told a reviewing board yesterday that they will break up their organization.

Dean of Men W. L. Penberthy, who is chairman of the reviewing board, said last night that the students had "turned over all the records they have" to President David H. Morgan.

The students have also assured the board that "the people in Bryan would stop supplying facilities for meetings and encouraging the boys," according to Penberthy.

The board has asked the students to sign sworn statements that they will not reorganize the group. "I think the kids are absolutely honest and sincere," Penberthy said.

The 14 students who admitted to membership in the TT's have been assessed penalties by the board.

"We're guaranteeing them no immunity because of their statements," Penberthy said.

Penalties given the 14 are as follows:

Four graduating seniors: take all finals, degrees retained indefinitely.

The others, including two non-graduating seniors, six juniors, and two sophomores: finish semester's work, and then indefinitely suspended.

Penberthy said last night that the board had six more students to interview in connection with membership in the organization, but he did not know when the interviews would be.

Penberthy said he did not want to release the names of the 14 "until the investigation is all over."

Suspension Now Mandatory In Physical Hazing Cases

The Academic council yesterday made it mandatory for the college to indefinitely suspend any student who uses a board or other instrument of hazing.

The council approved the following addition to College Regulations: "The minimum penalty for admitted or proven use of a board or other instrument for hazing, initiation, or discipline of a fellow student is indefinite suspension from the college effective on the date of the offense."

Disciplinary Study

The Academic council also requested that the president of the college appoint the Executive committee or some other committee to "study all disciplinary penalties with a view to their revision in order to provide more equity in the punishment of certain offenses."

Both items were placed on the agenda of the meeting by President David H. Morgan.

College Attitude

"The purpose of the regulation is to show clearly the attitude of the college relative to physical punishment," Morgan said. "When a student uses a board or other instrument on the person of another student he is submitting his resignation to A&M College, and the college accepts."

"This action is not to be taken as a reflection on any recent decision made," Morgan said.

A faculty panel last week sentenced three senior students who admitted to using the board to reduced to private, move off the campus, removal from the Ross Volunteers, have to take all final exams, not allowed to participate in final review, and degrees not granted in May.

The Academic council is composed of all the heads of departments. The Executive committee is composed of the deans and the commandant.

According to College Regulations, it is possible to punish hazing by dismissal, which means "permanent separation from the college."

The new ruling requires that hazing be punished by indefinite suspension, which means "involuntary removal for an indefinite period of time or until specific conditions are met."

A&M Seniors

Two Injured in Accident

By JOHN AKARD

Two A&M seniors were injured last night when their car rolled one and a half times on old highway 6.

They were on their way to a senior "function" at the clay pits.

They are Ted Ritchey, industrial technology major from San Antonio and Fred Olds, architecture major from Abilene.

Officials at the college hospital reported their condition last night as "satisfactory." Ritchey suffered severe lacerations of the left arm and multiple lacerations over his entire body.

The college hospital reported this morning that the condition of the seniors was satisfactory. X-rays were being taken today, but Dr. Marsh expected no complications.

Olds suffered lacerations of the right elbow. X-rays were scheduled for this morning.

The accident occurred six and a half miles south of College Station on old highway 6.

Highway Patrolman L. V. Dunagan, who investigated the accident, said that there would "probably be some charges filed." He said he would "not know definitely about charges until he talked with the county attorney."

According to Dunagan, the car hit a shoulder on the right side of the road and then a ditch on the left side. It rolled one and a half times and ended up across the road.

The car traveled 115 yards from the time it first hit the shoulder until it stopped. There is a slight curve in the road at the point of the accident.

Dunagan said he had "no opinion" as to the cause of the accident, but it was probably "excessive speed."

"As yet I have found no evidence of drunkenness," Dunagan said, "but I have not completed my investigation."

Richard Harris, senior from Abilene and a personal friend of Olds, arrived on the scene about five minutes after the accident occurred. He gave The Battalion his account of the accident.

"We (Don Strange, Bill Bowdin, and Harris) were going to the senior party when we came upon the overturned car. There were a lot of Aggies running around the wreckage. The had pulled Ritchey out of the car and had bandaged his shoulder and arm. Olds was lying in a ditch beside the road where he had evidently been thrown from the car during the accident.

"We gave first aid to the injured men. A farmer from a nearby house called an ambulance and the highway patrol.

"Some of the Aggies took Ritchey, who was the most seriously injured, to the college hospital in their car. Others went after a wrecker.

"A Bryan ambulance arrived shortly and took Olds. The rest of the men went on to the party while Bowdin and I waited for the wrecker to arrive.

"The wrecker arrived about 45 minutes after the accident occurred and the highway patrolman came 10 minutes later. There had been a delay in notifying the patrolman, but he arrived on the scene 10 minutes after he was notified.

"I helped the patrolman make the investigation and then the group of students who had congregated helped the garage man turn the car over and hitch it to the wrecker."

Mrs. Terry Starts Painting Collection

A collection of paintings by famous artists that visit A&M has been started by Mrs. Emalita Newton Terry, director of the Memorial Student Center Art gallery.

Three paintings in the collection now are "Aggie Ex" by E. M. (Buck) Schwetz, "Pinky Downes" by Wayman Adams, and an original print by Miss Janet Turner.

These artists were invited here by special invitation. Mrs. Terry plans to receive a painting from all future artists that visit here for the purpose of building up what she calls "a little wall of fame."

Mrs. Terry plans to have as visitors Sasha of Hollywood, a famous ceramist; Walt Kelley, who draws Pogo; and Xavier Gonzales in the near future and to get a picture from each to put in the collection.

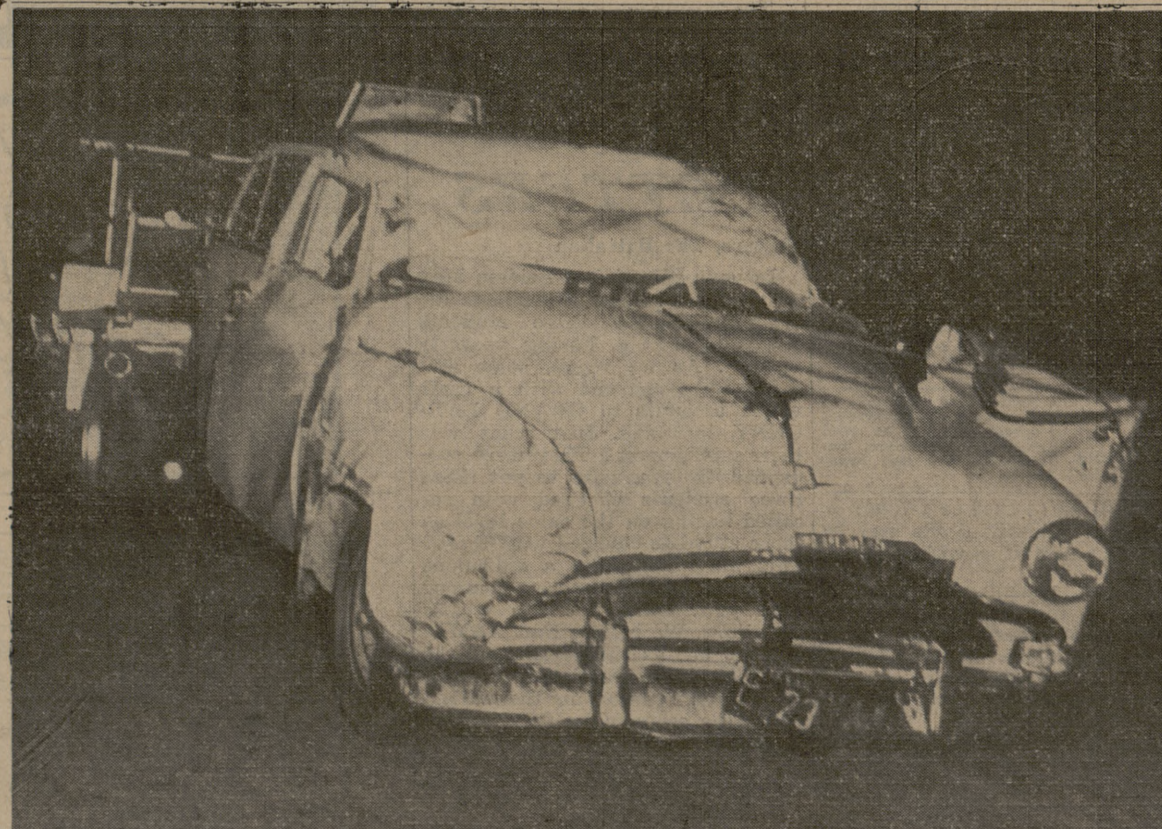

Explorer Scouts Given Plane Ride

About 20 local Explorer Scouts were given an orientation ride in a C-47 Saturday, said R. H. Fletcher, of the mechanical engineering department.

Col. John A. Way and Maj. J. C. Lowell, of the military department, were pilots of the planes.

Instructions in parachutes, course charting and rules of navigation were given by Sgt. T. M. Buford.

The fliers flew to neighboring towns and learned to pick out land marks.
