Run-Off Is Certain; Candidates Start Making Campaign Noises Again

Luther's Big Bat Wins Championship

Final statistics compiled during the past week in the College Station Little League show Mark Luther of the Marion Pugh White Sox edging Tommy Bramble of the V.F.W. Red Sox in their hotly contested battle for the loop batting championship.

Luther's sizzling .446 was only five percentage points higher than Bramble's .441. The Orioles' ace slugger, Donald Thomas, posted a final mark of .340 to nail down the third spot in the league. Rounding out the top five were Ervin Todd of the White Sox and Freddy Wright of the Red Sox. They clouted .316 and .306, respectively.

Bramble collected one more hit than did Luther, as they were far in front of their nearest competitors in this department. Thomas also finished third in this race.

Bramble Again
Bramble scored the most runs, too. Billy Mac Miller of the Orioles had the second largest total, but he was only slightly ahead of teammate Bobby Adams and the White Sox' Danny Feldman.

In the runs-batted-in category, Bramble again was the leader, although he had only a slight lead over Luther. Condy Pugh of the White Sox was a close third.

Cracking out the most doubles was Bramble, also. There was a five-way tie for the league leadership in triples, however. In the deadlock were Thomas, Feldman, the Red Sox' Ambrose Bernal, the Senators' Joe Olian, and the Orioles' Bill Berry.

Power-hitter Pugh was never headed in his bid for the home run championship title.

Bramble, Feldman, and the Senators' Jim Fowler all had perfect 1.000 marks to top the loop's pitchers. Trailing them was Joel Mills of the White Sox with a percentage of .750. He was closely followed by Miller, .714.

Miller had the best earned run average, 1.32. This barely edged Luther's 1.38, however. The Red Sox' Fred Wright posted a 2.00 to sew up the third spot.

Feldman actually had the top showing, 0.86, but he did not pitch the amount of innings required to be eligible for the championship.

Miller also headed the league's hurlers in the number of wins recorded for the season.

Band Boosters Will Sponsor Grove Dance

As the first of a series of fund-raising projects, the A&M Consolidated Band Boosters' club has scheduled a dance to be held from 8 to 11 p.m. Aug. 13 at the Grove.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by Bud Barlow's Brazos Bottom Boogie Busters. Mrs. Jimmie Howard will be the featured vocalist.

Dr. Luther Jones is chairman of the finance committee, which is in charge of these projects. Mrs. Kenneth Bailey will supervise the refreshments.

Young and old are invited to attend the affair, Jones said. Admission will be 50 cents per person.

Hoffman Working As Range Expert

Garlyn O. Hoffman is now working as a specialist in range management for the Agricultural Extension service.

Hoffman received his masters degree in range management from A&M in July. He was county agricultural agent in Sterling county from 1949 to 1951, and was assistant county agent in Tom Green county from June, 1948, until he moved to Sterling. He is a native of Ballinger.

Receiving his bachelors degree from A&M college in 1948 with a major in range and forestry, Hoffman was a member of the American Society of Range Management; Sigma Xi, professional science fraternity; and Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity.

A veteran of the air force in World War II and the Korean conflict, Hoffman holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal, and Purple Heart as a P-51 Mustang pilot. He was a prisoner of war in Germany and was discharged as a captain. He was a flight instructor and in charge of academic military training at Goodfellow AFB at San Angelo during his last tour of duty.

Hoffman, his wife, Mary Jo, and their two sons Joe, 9, and David, 2, live at 200 Cooner street in College Station.

Walter Coufal, Mike Krenitsky, Allen Coulter, Neil Sperry, David Reynolds, and George Reynolds.

Shivers, Yarborough Express Confidence

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Allan Shivers and attorney Ralph Yarborough made campaign noises again Monday in the cretainty they must settle their race for the Texas governor's office with a runoff election.

Both candidates agreed with unofficial vote tabulators that a second Democratic primary is a sure thing. The number of uncounted ballots dwindled and Shivers' small lead increased only by fractions.

Both expressed confidence: Shivers that the conservative Democrats who followed him in backing President Eisenhower in 1952 will give him an unprecedented third term; Yarborough that the "loyalists" who stuck with Adlai Stevenson will put him in office.

Returns to the Texas Election Bureau at 6:30 p.m. from all 254 counties, 220 complete, show the following totals for candidates in Saturday's Democratic primary election:

Governor—Davis 16,062, Halmes 19,538, Shivers 650,919, Yarborough 632,040.

Lieut.-Governor: Hinson 180,277, Johnson 197,612, Ramsey 755,491.

Senator: Dougherty 322,175, Johnson 840,287.

Attorney General: Crouch 223,199, Shepperd 897,727.

Supreme Court: Brewster 435,773, Keenan 224,275, Scott 302,563.

Criminal Appeals: Davidson 310,275, Davis 224,421, Graves 270,705, Haley 241,394.

No Majority

The 35,169 votes cast for two minor candidates kept either Shivers or Yarborough from getting a majority. Arlon B. (Cyclone) Davis of Dallas had a total of 15,874 and J. J. Holmes of Austin had 19,295.

A runoff primary is required when no candidate gets a majority. The runoff will be held Aug. 28.

Victory in the general election automatically follows Democratic nomination in Texas.

The Republicans also held a primary Saturday, but there was little evidence of interest in it. The four GOP candidates for statewide office were unopposed, so no tabulation of the total vote was made. The only clue to the amount of Republican enthusiasm was in Houston, the state's biggest city, where 320 GOP votes were cast.

Two Texas congressmen were ousted from office in Saturday's Democratic primary.

Final Count

The Election Bureau's final count of votes in the 16th District in west Texas showed state Sen. J. T. Rutherford of Odessa beating Rep. Ken Regan of Midland by the thin margin of 25,241 votes to 25,052.

In the 12th (Fort Worth) District, Mayor Jim Wright of Weatherford beat Rep. Wingate Lucas of Grapevine, 34,077 to 21,930 by the latest count.

In East Texas' 3rd District, Rep. Brady Gentry of Tyler hung onto a slender lead over former Congressman Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater. The incomplete count showed: Gentry, 31,908, Beckworth 30,655.

Shivers' lead over Yarborough was 18,919 votes in the Election Bureau's afternoon count, an increase of 455 from this morning. The Governor still needed to boost it by some 16,000 votes or more to stay out of a runoff.

That appeared impossible, with only an estimated 45,000 votes still out—all in counties which had not shown a decisive enough trend to give either candidate the advantage.

Paper Wanted For Uniforms

A&M Consolidated high school's drum majorettes are sponsoring a paper drive to get money for new uniforms.

Mildred Dew, one of majorettes, requests that anyone with any kind of newspapers or magazines to throw away contact her at 4-4336 or bring them to 1204 Foster.

Bell Makes Radioisotopes Study

Dr. Ruel R. Bell, instructor in the veterinary parasitology department, is in Oak Ridge, Tenn., studying the techniques of using radioisotopes.

He is one of 32 scientists and physicians from throughout the United States who are enrolled in a four-week course conducted by the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, a non-profit educational corporation of 32 Southern universities.

Bell and his classmates are studying radiation measuring instruments, the nature and theory of radiation, statistical problems in radiation measurements, and the techniques of working safely and effectively with radioisotopes.

Bell is interested in the use of radioisotopes in diagnosis, therapy and research involving diseases of domestic animals. Radioisotopes—or "tracer atoms"—are by-products of the atomic energy process. They are particularly valuable in veterinary research because they emit energy in the form of radiation which can be located and measured at any stage of a complicated chemical, biological, or physiological reaction, allowing scientists to follow such reactions closely, Bell said.

MSC Gets Awaited TV . . . Almost

The drive for TV in the MSC has reached its end—except for 30 minutes of work and one part.

MSC officials said the television sets there could possibly be connected today, because only a small wiring job was left. Also needed was a part.

Plans are to connect two sets: one a console model in the main lounge, and the other a table model in the fountain room.

The MSC-TV drive has been going on for several months.
