

It Was Hot Enough To . . .

EVERY SUMMER some newspaper, somewhere, tries it—everybody says it's hot enough to fry an egg on the sidewalk, and the newspaper tries to do it. First you get a couple of good-looking girls, in this case Miss Ann Hite (left) and Miss Betsy Burchard. Then you dress them in shorts, for obvious reasons.

THEN YOU GET an egg. This egg was furnished by the Memorial Student Center. Then you find a bit of hot sidewalk. Out of all the hot sidewalk to choose from, The Battalion picked the front steps of the Administration building—President Morgan was out of town at the time, and didn't know what was going on. Then, of course, you break the egg.

THEN YOU WAIT. The egg was slower going than on a stove. In fact, the photographer and the reporter were a lot hotter than the egg looked. The egg took 45 minutes to fry, by the way, but it did fry, in spite of the salt brought along.

AS ANOTHER experiment, frying on the hood of a car was tried. It would seem that the egg would fry quicker on the metal hood of the car. We'll never know whether it will or not, because there is no way in the world to keep an egg yolk from sliding off the rounded hood of a car. Anyway, the afternoon was a success, because the pictures of the girls are pleasant to look at while sitting under a fan, and who cares if an egg will fry on the sidewalk anyway?

First Game

Aggies Beat Bryan Team

In their first game of the summer, the Aggie All-Stars eked out a 4-3 win over the Bryan Sinclair team, in a 12-inning game Tuesday.

The game was a pitching duel between the Aggies' Bryan Beard and Sinclair's "Windy" Imel. Imel, a recently discharged navy veteran, baffled the Aggies with a mean change-of-pace delivery that had some of the hitters falling all over the box.

First Inning Score

The Aggies scored in the first inning when Bud Denton hit a screaming triple into left field, scoring later on Dick Connor's long fly ball to center field.

Sinclair came right back in the top of the second as Byers, Smith, and Peters crossed pay dirt to go to a 3-1 lead over the Ags.

Bill Bates scored for the Aggies in the top of the fourth, and Beard followed him across the plate to tie up the score.

Winning Run

The Aggies winning run came in the 12th inning, when Dick Gardemal scored from second on an error.

The last 10 innings of the game were strictly a pitchers duel between Beard and Imel. Beard faced 47 men, gave up five hits, and struck out 13 men. Imel faced 42 men, gave up four hits, and struck out 13 men.

These two teams will meet again Tuesday on the lighted softball diamond on the campus.

The Aggies' next home game is tonight, on the lighted diamond, starting at 8:30 p.m.

Two Games Played In Dorm Softball

The second six-weeks intramural softball season has started, with two games played so far.

Dormitory 14 and dormitory 15 started the season off with an unequal 27-1 contest, with dormitory 14 on the winning end. Grissom of dormitory 14 gave up two hits in six innings to become the winning pitcher over C. E. Salmon, a pitcher converted from an outfielder, for dormitory 15.

Dick Gardemal of 15 scored their lone run in the first inning. Every man on dormitory 14's team scored at least two runs, and five men scored three runs in the slugfest.

The other game completed so far found College View, led by the pitching of Hamm, defeating dormitory 16, 13-3. O. Mattiza was the losing pitcher, giving up 14 hits in four innings.

Willingford of College View hit a four-sacker in the first inning to start his team on its win. Each team in the league will play three games against every other team during the season.
