Committee Proposed For McCarthy Condemnation

WASHINGTON (AP)—A compromise plan to hand the hot issue of condemning Sen. Joseph McCarthy to a special committee for immediate action rolled up powerful Senate support Monday night. The basis of the compromise is an understanding that the Senate will get a chance to decide before the summer adjournment whether it wants to stay on the job to act on committee findings on a long list of charges against the Wisconsin Senator.

Confident of the backing of Democratic leaders and middle-of-the roaders in both parties, Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California said he will move to put into his motion to send the censure question to a six-man committee a requirement that it report back by Aug. 10 or before adjournment what progress it has made.

In this manner he accepted a proposal made earlier by Sen. Irving Ives (Rep.) of New York. Sen. John McClellan (Dem.) of Arkansas announced he would go along with the Knowland motion in this form.

If the committee hasn't completed its inquiry, Knowland said, the Senate "then can decide whether it wishes to remain in session" until a report is ready. He has announced the Senate will have twelve or fourteen days of work ahead of it after disposing of the censure question.

For different reasons, some of the strongest friends and foes of McCarthy still were attacking the committee's proposition and demanding a definite showdown now.

In Guatemala

Army Disbands After Revolt

GUATEMALA (AP)—A revolt of military cadets, backed by the army, broke out in Guatemala Monday and President Carlos Castillo Armas was forced to agree to disband his irregular "liberation" forces after a day of sporadic fighting.

Representatives of Castillo Armas' ruling junta signed an agreement Monday with delegates of the Guatemalan regular army which apparently ended the conflict.

The agreement, signed on lines fixed by the regulars, provided for disbanding the ragged anti-Communist "liberation army" which invaded Guatemala from Honduras in June and brought Castillo Armas to power by overthrowing the leftist regime of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

The fighting, which was reported to have erupted at dawn between 120 military cadets and a band of the irregulars at a house of prostitution, was supported later in the day by the regular army.

At 5 p.m. the army ordered a cease-fire, and said the principal points of the agreement were:

1. A government guarantee that the rebel military cadets would not be subject to punishment or reprisals.

2. Immediate disarming and disbanding of the liberation army.

3. A guarantee by the regular army to place itself under complete jurisdiction of the government junta.

Six persons were reported killed and eighteen wounded in various encounters during the day.

Regular troops from nearby Aurora Air Base were the first to come to the support of the cadets. Normally about 500 officers and men are stationed at Aurora.

Subsequently regular forces seized control of the national radio station, and issued an ultimatum to the junta to disband the "liberation" army.

New Bill Means More Housing

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Monday signed a housing bill which he said will mean that "millions of our families with modest incomes will be able, for the first time, to buy new or used homes."

"Families will be helped to enlarge or modernize their present homes," he added in a signing ceremony at the White House.

"It will raise the housing standards of our people, help our communities get rid of slums and improve their older neighborhoods, and strengthen our mortgage credit system."

As much as Eisenhower liked the new law, it fell short of his request to Congress for 140,000 new low-rent public housing units, to be subsidized by the government, during the next four years.
