2500 Aggie Exes Spearhead The Development Fund Drive

Twenty five hundred A&M men will spearhead the Development Fund drive for 1954 beginning September 1st. This is the second year in the far reaching program which calls a large organization of A&M men in cities throughout the United States who are "good will ambassadors" for the Association's annual giving program.

The plan was conceived by the Executive Board last year and approved by the Association Council. This year's campaign is patterned after last year's program, only the number of Fund Chairmen has been increased from 1,370 in 1953 to 2,500 this year.

Association President Oscar T. Hotchkiss, jr., '24, Port Arthur, has appointed 700 Fund Chairmen for cities where less than 100 A&M men reside.

The new feature of this year's program is the appointment of Fund Chairmen by class in 28 cities where more than 100 A&M men reside.

A class chairman for approximately every five men who have not yet contributed to the 1954 Fund has been asked to serve. 1,500 men will head up the campaign in these 28 cities.

In commenting on the plan, President Hotchkiss said,

"The ultimate in a fund organization would be the appointment of every A&M man as a fund chairman who would make his own gift. Since this is impractical, we are asking 2,500 men this year to serve. If each of these Chairmen will average gifts from five A&M men in September, the 1954 Development Fund will be the best in its twelve year history."

Each Fund Chairman will be provided special materials and information concerning the Development Fund, its purposes and how it operates. The Fund Chairmen and others may enlist to assist him will present this information to other former students in order that they may have a better understanding and a closer contact with this program of the Association.

The Association is the most democratic organization of its kind. Every A&M man is a member and no membership dues are charged. The Development Fund is in keeping with that democratic philosophy. Each Member is asked to make a contribution each year of whatever amount he wishes and feels able to give. This one financial solicitation is made for projects of benefit to the College and student body. Its strength lies in the participation of many thousands of A&M men.

The work of the local Fund Chairman will result in the fund and the program of the Association resting even more closely with the great body of members.

It has been emphasized that Fund Chairmen will not conduct high pressure campaigns. They will endeavor, however, to represent the Development Fund in their respective communities and classes. They will provide information and opportunity. They will serve to strengthen the communication between the Association and its membership.

Association Vice President W. L. Ballard, '22, Dallas, said in a statement before A&M Clubs recently,

"Our major goal in our Fund Program is to broaden our participation to the end that every A&M man make a gift every year. The Development Fund Chairman organization is a major step in the attainment of that goal."

TEES Plans School For Plant Protection

A permanent plant protection officers training school will soon be launched by the Texas Engineering Extension service of the A&M System.

The new course, to be sponsored by the Industrial Plant Protection Officers' Association of Texas, will be the first permanent instruction program of its kind to be instituted in the United States, extension service officials pointed out.

W. D. Beasley, coordinator of police training for the extension service, will direct the new training course. Plans are being made to conduct two one-week courses a year on the A&M campus.

The school will be open to all security supervisor personnel of Texas, regardless of whether or not they are members of the association.

"Industrial plant protection has become a vital, specialized branch of modern police science, especially with the ever-increasing need for the protection of plants engaged in manufacturing products for the military services, and our new course will do much to help Texas industry better perform this important task," coordinator Beasley says.

The decision to establish the new training program was made at a recent meeting of the board of directors of the plant protection association in Longview. A. T. Deere, general superintendent of Industrial Security, Texas Division, at the Dow Chemical Company, Freeport, and president of the association, presided at the meeting. E. W. McAllister, personnel manager in charge of security at the R. G. LeTourneau Manufacturing Company, Inc., Longview, was host to the group.

Members of the association's board of directors who attended the meeting included: J. E. Clegg, superintendent, plant protection department, Humble Oil Refining Company, Baytown; Arthur W. Allen, chief, plant protection department, Lone Star Steel Company, Lone Star; I. B. Hale, chief, industrial security, Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corporation, Fort Worth; A. L. Dymond, Universal Match Corporation, Longhorn Armament Division, Marshall; Paul Hansen, director, security division, Reynolds Metals Company, Louisville, Ky. (plant at Corpus Christi); E. W.
