

Local Societies and Clubs Set Plans

The beginning of school marks not only a sudden flurry of school activities, but also brings to life the work of a number of the local clubs and societies. Both the organizations which have been dormant during summer months and the clubs which have persisted despite the heat take a new interest in planning the year's programs.

A number of the local clubs have reported their plans for the year. These, in addition to the societies which have not yet charted their fall schedule, will constitute the greater part of the society news for the year.
