John Wayne Todd kicked the conversion and CHS led 7-0.

A&M Consolidated junior high school opened its grid season on the right foot last night, trouncing Madisonville junior high, 33-13.

The Colts pulled close late in the first period when Bob Hall, 125-pound fullback, sprinted 65 yards. The extra point attempt failed, and the Kittens led 7-6.

Scoring on the sixth play of the game, the Kittens were never behind, although they had to break a 13-13 tie. Their first scoring drive covered 54 yards with Jim Wright going over from the 2.

Todd, 130-pound fullback, put the Kittens ahead 13-6 a few minutes later when he got loose for a 35-yard scoring run.

Frank Smith is the new president of the College Station-Bryan all-star bowling league, sponsored by the American Bowling Congress.

Hall, Madisonville's best runner, then traveled 73 yards and went over for the extra point to tie the game.

'Mural Banquet Set Wednesday

Consolidated marched back, and Todd ran 38 yards to score. Quarterback Edgar Feldman passed to End Bobby Ross for the conversion, and the Kittens led 20-13 at the half.

Two quick touchdowns in the fourth quarter put the game out of Madisonville's reach. Feldman scampered 33 yards to make it 26-13. Seven plays later, Sidney Greer, 108-pound halfback, piled over from the 3 for the last score. George Carroll made the extra point.

Intramural managers, officials and their assistants will be guests at an intramural department banquet Wednesday in the Grove.

Two hundred chickens will be served, said Barney Welch, intramural director.

Texas football fans who stay in the state get a chance to see only one game this week involving a Southwest conference team, since Baylor, TCU and Texas play inter-sectional contests and Arkansas stays at home.

The Aggie - Oklahoma A&M game in the Cotton Bowl Saturday night is the only SWC game in the state this week. After picking the winner in all of last week's games, here is the way this Saturday's games looks to us:

- A&M 13, Oklahoma A&M 12.
- Texas 19, Notre Dame 14.
- Baylor 35, Vanderbilt 13.
- Oklahoma 28, TCU 14.
- Arkansas 20, Tulsa 7.

Tradition Won't Help

Tradition will be on the side of the local Aggies this weekend, since they've won six out of the seven previous games with the Cowpokes. Unfortunately, tradition won't help once the whistle blows.

However, better things than their performance against Texas Tech are in store for this year's Cadets, and they showed indications of it at times in practice this week (even if Coach Paul Bryant did get peeved at them Wednesday).

Steers Must Be 'Up'

Sophomores will see a lot of action Saturday night, and sophs make lots of mistakes. On the other hand, the youngsters frequently have spirit and drive that will offset their errors. That's what will have to happen if the Aggies are to win Saturday, because the Missouri Valley Conference team is loaded with experienced hands.

Fullback Earl (Earthquake) Lunsford is the top runner in Coach J. B. Whitworth's backfield, and he was the best in the MVC last year. To make things worse, the Cowpokes have a good passing attack, too.

In spite of all the things in favor of the Stillwater crew, this corner still casts a weak vote for the Cadets.

Frogs May Make It Close

TCU, surprisingly strong against Kansas, sends its soph-loaded team against Bud Wilkinson's Sooners. Quarterback Charlie Curtis, another soph, guided the Frogs on three of their four touchdown marches and outshone Senior Ronald Clinkscales.

their starting lineup, and appear too inexperienced to go far in the conference race.

However, Bowden Wyatt has several good performers, notably Fullback Henry Moore, Guard Bud Brooks, blocking back Preston Carpenter and wingback Joe Thomas.

Tulsa, holder of a 3-7 record last year, doesn't figure to be too much better in 1954. With only 11 lettermen on hand, the team is weak in the middle of the line and inexperienced in the backfield.
