More Than 650

Extension Workers Meet Here

More than 650 Agricultural Extension service personnel are now in the campus for the annual Extension conference.

The week-long meeting will feature speakers of national prominence.

Dr. Evelyn Duvall spoke this morning on "What Teen-Agers Are Really After" and "The Professional Person as a Family Member."

She is family relations consultant with headquarters at Chicago, Ill. A nationally known author, her books include "Building Your Marriage," "Facts of Life and Love," "Family Living," "Keeping Up with Teen-Agers," "Marriage is What You Make It," and others.

She has written numerous articles for popular and professional periodicals and has appeared on "America's Town Meeting of the Air" and many other network programs.

She is regional consultant for the American Institute of Family Relations, advisory board member of the Child Study Association of America, past-executive of the National Council on Family Relations, and a member of numerous professional and honorary societies.

Other speakers for the meeting were Frances Scudder, director of the Federal home economics programs; Reba Staggs, of the Chicago Livestock and Meat board; Dr. Sumpter S. Arnim, University of Texas dentistry school; William Kramer, Sears, Roebuck, and company; and L. R. Quinlan, Kansas State college.

Workshop sessions have included group work in animal husbandry, crops and soils, dairy husbandry, entomology, horticulture, marketing, pastures, and poultry husbandry.

The workshops, held each afternoon, are led by extension specialists.

The conference will close with a general session Friday.

MSC Offers Television For World Series Games

The Memorial Student Center will have television sets at different places in the building during the world series baseball games between the New York Giants and the Cleveland Indians.

Here is a schedule for the rest of the week: Thursday, sets will be in the main lounge and the fountain room.

Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, sets will be in room 3D, the assembly room, the main lounge, and other areas if needed.

Since the series may end Sunday, a schedule for Monday and Tuesday has not been made.

However, Wayne Stark, MSC director, said sets would be available on those days if games are being played.

Petroleum Club Hears Executive

Joe M. Alford, executive secretary of the petroleum branch of AIME, spoke recently at the first meeting of the Petroleum Engineering club on the "Advantages of becoming a student associate member of the AIME, petroleum branch."

After the talk, club members elected the following officers for the year:

Frank E. Patterson, secretary; Jack C. Lonquist, treasurer; Al Nickols, junior representative to the engineering council; and George S. Teutsch, reporter.

College Conference Set Here Oct. 4-5

Approximately 75 administrators, deans and faculty representatives from all the junior colleges in Texas will convene Oct. 4-5 at A&M for their 11th annual conference.

Dr. John D. Moseley, president of Austin college at Sherman, will speak at the Monday evening banquet highlighting the two-day program.

His topic will be "Junior Colleges have a Challenging Responsibility in Higher Education in Texas."

John R. Bertrand, dean of the Basic Division, will preside at the banquet. Invocation will be given by Dr. E. J. Howell, president of Tarleton State college at Stephenville.

Dr. Monroe S. Carroll, dean of Baylor University, will preside at one of the opening day sessions. Others on the slate of speakers include Prof. Royal B. Embree Jr., of the University of Texas and Dr. Walter H. Delaplane, dean of A&M's School of Arts and Sciences.

Discussion of junior college libraries, student personnel work, visual aids for effective teaching and conference-leading techniques are main parts of the program.

Silver Taps Set For Bennett, Blum

The flag is being flown at half mast today and silver taps will be observed tonight for two A&M students who died during the summer.

The students were Edwin Bennett of Mission and Clyde Blum of Clifton.

Bennett drowned July 11 while swimming near Phoenix, Ariz., where he was attending summer camp.

Blum, a graduate student, died July 11 after he had contracted bulbar polio several days earlier. He was moved to Waco after his case was diagnosed as polio.

Reverend Eisenbise will speak on his recent trips to India, Italy, and the Holy Land and show slides of these trips.

U. S. Issues Warning; Britain Gives Promise

LONDON—(AP)—The United States and Britain, with a threat and a promise, Wednesday night brought France near a long-sought agreement to rearm West Germany in defense against Communist attack.

First, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles warned the nine-nation conference discussing the problem that American troops may have to be pulled out of Europe if France rejects plans to line up German land, air and sea forces within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Next, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced a British offer to keep four divisions, plus a tactical air force, on the European mainland indefinitely provided the conference agreed on bringing a rearmament Germany into NATO.

The British-American broadside appeared carefully timed to assure the success of the conference, which had been called to figure out ways of freeing West Germany and rearming her as a full and equal 15th member of NATO.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, as soon as the nine foreign ministers ended their session, confidently told newsmen he thought the conference would end in success Thursday night.

And a high American source indicated Dulles expects the windup within a day or two. This informant said the secretary has ordered his plane to be ready to fly him back to Washington Sunday.

Adenauer, 78, told newsmen: "I think we can take a deep breath if the rest of the conference takes its expected course."

That course was unofficially indicated by officials attending the talks:

1) The United States, Britain and France probably will announce their intention to end the occupation of West Germany, restoring to the federal republic virtually full control over its internal and external affairs.

The Germans in turn will issue a counter-declaration offering to join NATO and a new seven-nation European alliance — where they will be allowed to rearm within clearly marked limits.

2) The Brussels alliance of 1948 — A 50-year British - French - Belgian - Dutch - Luxembourg pact against aggression — will be revised to admit West Germany and Italy, both enemies of the Allies in World War II. Experts of the seven nations will be assigned to write a protocol — or supplement — to the treaty giving the alliance some powers to control the arms and armies of its continental members.

Praised Aggies

Council Rebukes SMU Fighters

Southern Methodist university's student council has voted unanimously to rebuke the SMU students involved in fights with A&M students last weekend.

And the SMU student body agrees with their student council "almost to a man," according to Carleton Wilson, editor of the Campus, SMU's student newspaper.

The fights, which happened early Sunday morning, involved at least two groups of A&M students and a group of SMU boys reported numbering about 20.

Disciplinary action against the SMU students is in progress, Wilson said. Mayne Longnecker, SMU dean of students, is calling in witnesses and interviewing students connected with the affair.

The probable next step will be calling the SMU students before a faculty disciplinary committee, composed of 10 faculty members and called the "supreme authority" on disciplinary matters at SMU, Wilson said.

"The dean may decide to handle the case himself and not call the board," Wilson said, "but the students here want to throw the book at them."

The case will probably be decided Friday, he said.

He said that some of the SMU students involved were probably athletes, but that the SMU student body wanted no favoritism shown them.

At least two affairs are reported. In one, as told by A&M students Robert Wilkinson and Lloyd Fite, a group of "20 or 30" SMU students approached them as they were taking their dates back to SMU dormitories at 12:30 a.m. Sunday.

The group of students said they "wanted some senior boots, but would settle for your uniforms," Wilkinson said. Wilkinson and Fite are juniors.

Wilkinson said one of the SMU students pushed him against a car and then to the ground. Wilkinson's serge uniform was ruined in the scuffle.

Ivan Irwin, SMU student body president, promised full payment for the uniform in a letter to Jerry Ramsey, Student Senate president.

In another incident, described by SMU student Bob Dobbs, a law student and a former student government officer, the same group of SMU students surrounded an A&M senior and several freshmen, again saying they "wanted some uniforms."

Dobbs, who said he and several other SMU students were trying to break up the group, paid two of the Aggie freshmen for hats that were taken during the incident.

Dobbs said the incidents started at about 12:30 a.m. and lasted for about an hour. He described the group of SMU students as "roaming around looking for Aggies" on the campus.

"Not at any time did any of the A&M students act like anything but perfect gentlemen," he said. "We're sorry for the way our students acted, and we hope there are no hard feelings on the A&M campus."

Wilson also expressed regret at the incidents, and said he spoke for the rest of the SMU students in condemning the SMU students involved and praising the Aggies.
