History Staff Publishes Work

Members of the history department have added several titles to their list of publications during the past few months.

Dr. John H. Hill is co-author, with Dr. Uaurita L. Hill, of "Justification Historique du titre de Raymond de Saint-Gilles: 'Christiane milice excellentissimus principes'" in the April issue of Annales du Midi. "Contemporary Writers and the Later Reputation of Adehemar, Bishop of Puy, A Faultless Leader of the First Crusade", by the same authors, will appear in an early issue of Medievalia et Humanistica.

"Notes on the Spanish and Mexican Ceremony of the Delivery of Land", by Thomas L. Miller was published in the October issue of Agricultural History.

"Brigadier General Adrian Woll's Report of His Expedition into Texas in 1842", by Dr. J. M. Nance, will be published in the Southwestern Historical Quarterly.

Our Texas, a junior high school history, by Dr. Ralph W. Steen was published in August. "The Ferguson War on the University of Texas" by Dr. Steen will appear in an early issue of the Southwestern social science quarterly.

Hog Single Wing Bothers Baylor

WACO—(AP)—Baylor wound up its contact work in preparation for the University of Arkansas Wednesday, running through a long drill featuring defenses to be used against the Razorbacks' single-wing strategy.

Coach George Sauer continued to alternate his backfield combinations, using Billy Hooper, Frank Peschel and Bobby Jones to quarterback the various units.

Line work saw the addition of two sophomores to the probable starting lineup for Saturday. Guard Dan Miller and tackle Bill Parsley may open in place of Henry Gremminger and James Ray Smith, both of whom were hurt last week.

Goodman Elected To Head Society

Edward Goodman was elected chairman of the A&M student branch of the Society of Automotive Engineers at the first meeting of the year last week.

Edwin Threadgill was elected vice-chairman; James Cowan, secretary and Harry Sweet, treasurer. W. I. Truettner, professor of mechanical engineering, is the faculty sponsor.

NUMBER PLEASE—If you are registered with the college, then these typists probably have your name and address. They are two of several girls who are compiling the lists for the new student directory. They are, left to right, Miss Peggy Stewart and Mrs. Jeanette Ruiz.

Rotary Club Hears Address by Street

W. E. Street, head of A&M's engineering drawing department and district governor of Rotary International, spoke to the Bryan-College Rotary club yesterday.

He spoke on "What is a Rotarian?" It was his official visit to the club as district governor.

Street defined a Rotarian as a man who by service seeks to improve his home, business, town, nation and world.

"The people of your town look to you for leadership," he told the club. He said this applied especially to the young people.

He listed some objectives Rotary International has adopted for the year.

The first is to "search the past for good things and bring them forward."

Increasing the number of Rotary Foundation fellowships is another. The fellowships, of which 110 are given each year, are for study abroad.

Other objectives are a 10 per cent increase in membership and increased adoption of Rotary's "Four-Way Test."

The principles of the Four Way Test are 1) Is it the truth, 2) Is it fair to all concerned, 3) Will it build good will and friendship, and 4) Will it be beneficial to all concerned.

Street, who has been a Rotarian since 1937, is the third member of the Bryan-College club to be district governor.

Saddle and Sirloin Hears Miller

Dr. J. C. Miller, head of the animal husbandry department, was the main speaker at the Saddle and Sirloin club meeting Tuesday night.

In his speech Dr. Miller advised the club members of the benefits they could derive from being a member of such an organization. He also told how membership in the club might someday help the members get jobs.

Lovie Rice, general chairman of the all-Aggie rodeo, gave an account of the work done up to date. Rice asked all club members to "work hard on their committees and have the biggest and most successful rodeo ever held here."

The rodeo will be Oct. 29-30 in the A&M rodeo arena.

Specia Will Head Marketing Society

Tony Specia was elected president of the Marketing society at the first meeting of the year Tuesday.

Other officers are Phil Spears, vice-president; Jimmy Jones, secretary-treasurer and Pete Goodwin reporter. Paul Gentry will be senior representative to the Arts and Sciences council.

No Sale

GREENVILLE, S.C.—(AP)—Police court Judge John V. Jester was handed a half-gallon jar of moonshine whiskey officers offered in evidence against a man charged with transporting it.

He unscrewed the cap and inhaled deeply. After a few seconds necessary to get his face back to normal, Jester asked:

"Has this man got a record?"

The officers said he did not.

"I believe it," Jester commented.

"And if he drinks this stuff he never will."

The officers said the defendant apparently was of the same opinion. They said he told them he bought the whiskey from a bootlegger but was unable to drink it and was taking it back when arrested.

Discipline Code Lists Definite Punishments

Punishments Also Put in Categories

Parts of the college discipline code have been revised, dividing punishments into categories and setting definite punishments for certain violations.

Under the new rules, mental or physical hazing and "membership in any group or organization not sanctioned by the college" will result in immediate dismissal or suspension for not less than one semester.

The hazing regulation includes the use or possession of a board, "or any other instrument obviously designed for hazing," room service, and "interference with a student's use of his free time."

Three offenses will be punished by immediate suspension for not less than the remainder of the semester.

They are:

1) Painting or defacing other college campuses.

2) Direct disobedience of orders or making a false official statement.

3) Using a car on the campus after the student permit has been revoked.

Six more offenses are listed as "punishable by suspension."

They are:

1) Allowing oneself to be hazed or performing personal service.

2) Participation in or promotion of any activity to interrupt the functions of the college or resist the authorities of the college.

3) Drinking or possessing alcoholic or intoxicating beverages on the campus.

4) Having firearms, fireworks, or explosives on the campus.

5) Attending any public place "declared undesirable by the faculty or off limits by the military authorities."

6) Answering for another student at any official roll call.

The new regulations also say that punishment for other violations of the college regulations, basic policy, or the Texas criminal code "shall be commensurate with the gravity of the offense."

The last part of the new rules says that cadets who violate any part of the basic policy of college regulations will be required to report to their tactical officer.

He can give any punishment except separation from the cadet corps, suspension, or dismissal. The commandant will review the tactical officers' decision.

Civilian students will be required to report to their dormitory counselor, who also can give any punishment except suspension or dismissal. The head of the student affairs department will review these cases.

Offenses warranting suspension or dismissal will go to the commandant for military students, and the student affairs head for civilian students.

Under the college regulations, "suspension" means temporary separation from the college, and "dismissal" means permanent separation.

Other specific punishments listed are admonition, reprimand, probation, restriction, removal from college housing, and, for cadets only, demerits and extra duty tours.

When a violation of regulations involves damage to property, the student may be charged for repairs.

The revisions in the discipline code were approved by the Academic council after recommendation by the Executive committee.

Stone Art Exhibit Displayed In MSC

An exhibit of Swedish stoneware is on display in the promenade display cases in the Memorial Student Center.

All of the pieces are original hand made work. The Contemporary Arts association of Houston brought the exhibit from Sweden last spring for a show in Houston. The association helped the MSC art gallery group get the show for A&M.

The exhibit, which started Oct. 2, will remain through Oct. 14.

Gary Bourgeois, chairman of the group, and Tommy Williams, committee chairman for the Swedish art exhibit, worked with Mrs. Ralph L. Terry in arranging the show.

Final Rites Held For Croslin Twin

Private funeral services were held for James David Croslin, three-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Croslin, yesterday at 10 a.m. in Babyland of Bryan cemetery.

Survivors are Mr. and Mrs. Croslin, and Robert, the deceased infant's twin brother.

Rev. R. L. Herring jr. of Calvary Baptist church conducted the services under the direction of Callaway-Jones Funeral Home.

Hornet's Nest

DETROIT, Mich.—(AP)—It just doesn't pay to antagonize the little woman—even if you have two policemen with you.

Raymond Cobb, 40, went to the home of his estranged wife with the two officers to establish Mrs. Cobb's residence for a divorce suit he planned.

Mrs. Cobb bopped her husband with a bookend, fired a vase and a dish at the officers and then pushed one of the officers down the stairs. Cobb and one of the policemen required first aid at Receiving Hospital.

Kiwanians To Sell Chicken Lunches

The College Station Kiwanis club will again sell box lunches at the A&M home games. The seven selling spots for the lunches will be located around the outer edges of the campus.

Boxes will contain two pieces of fried chicken, bread and butter, cookies, apple, pickles and napkins. The price for the lunch will be $1.

The club expects to sell 500 boxes with the proceeds going to youth organizations in this area.

Last year the club sold all the boxes they had prepared.

Dean Bertrand Will Leave This Sunday

John R. Bertrand, dean of the Basic Division, will leave Sunday to become dean and director of agriculture at the University of Nevada.

Bertrand was graduated from Texas Tech in 1940 and took advanced work at Cornell university. He served as a research fellow at the University of Mississippi and as a member of the staff at Sam Houston State Teachers college.

In 1946 he came to A&M as an assistant professor of rural sociology. He was promoted in 1947 to assistant dean of agriculture directing a guidance program for agricultural students.

When the Basic Division was organized in 1950, Bertrand moved from assistant to the dean of agriculture to be head of the freshman counseling division, called the college's "non-degree granting school."

At his new post at the University of Nevada, Bertrand will serve as dean of the College of Agriculture, including the schools of agriculture and home economics, and also as director of the agricultural experiment station and of the co-operative extension service in agriculture and home economics.

Cliff Ransdell, assistant dean of the Basic Division, is acting dean there now.
