Students Enthused Over Fair, Football

By JON KINSLOW Battalion Managing Editor

Football, naturally, remained the center of attraction for most Texas colleges, but the current State Fair of Texas in Dallas led a close second.

University of Texas

One of the said lucky few was er-game story is headlined, "The Orange and White, but after Spirit Was There—But So Saturday's game with OU, they Sooners."

Rice Institute

During the next several years, new dormitories will begin to dot the Rice campus. Rice officials are planning some modern buildings, at least according to the cost, which will be $3,600 for each student housed.

Southern Methodist University

The Ponies in Dallas have also been caught in the Bermuda shorts fad. They are even so popular that one student remarked, "I seriously think that everyone on the campus should wear them."

Texas Christian University

The Skiff, TCU student newspaper, and the Student Congress for us not to want to participate, here or anywhere else.

University of Arkansas

The Razorbacks took their first win on Texas soil since 1948 recently when they bowled over TCU 20-13. The boys from Arkansas were pretty happy over it, too, and some of their enthusiasm must have carried over to last weekend when they beat Baylor.

Baylor University

One short note from Baylor: They get their day at the Fair Oct. 5, and they got a bonafide holiday for it. However, the "fair" they got to see was the Heart o' Texas Fair in Waco—which might be compared to UT's imitation of our bonfire.

TSCW

The Tessies don't let a good moon go to waste even if there are no dates around. The school's class of 1957 celebrated the annual Harvest Moon, complete with an hour-long serenade and picnic.

North Texas

Some Italian cosmetologists, says the NTSC paper, have devised a few "improvements" for the ladies compact. It consists of what actually amounts to the girls wearing no makeup at all since the new look is for pallid, death-like colored faces with eyes painted to give them a sunken look.

Letters to the Editors

Editor's Note: The Battalion prints all letters received that are signed and are not libelous or obscene. We would like to request that the length of letters be kept to not more than 250 words.

Editors, The Battalion: WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO THE TRADITIONS OF AGGIE-LAND? We realize that the present technique is done in the best interests of the school as far as the authorities are concerned.

Another thing we were wondering is why some freshmen flatly refused to carry the players off the field Saturday in Houston. Since in the past ALL freshmen participated in carrying them off, we feel that it was slighting the players, and why wouldn't the players feel the same way?

A school has to be proud of its exes and how are we training boys to be men that we can be proud of in the future? We admit that in the past, traditions have been a little strong, but in correcting that should we wipe them out altogether?

It's our belief that the school is tending to work toward QUANTITY instead of QUALITY. We admit that this would increase the money for the local establishments, but how would it aid A&M, now, or 10 years from now?

These are a FEW of our opinions and we would appreciate hearing the opinions of others. Dick Warren '55, Bill Ike Allred '55, Bob Bell '56, Frank Eichman '56, Charlie Bond '55

Editors, The Battalion: I receive the student publications of three of Texas' largest colleges, and in none but The Battalion have I found the football coach quoted in his more or less confidential talks to the players.

Was it necessary that a news item go out from College Station stating that the coach sent the first team in early, or such remarks as those where The Battalion quotes Coach Bryant making
