Civilians To Have First Come Seating

The Civilian Student Council last night decided to allocate Kyle Field seating within the civilian section on a first come, first serve basis for the A&M-TCU game.

The council, in its first meeting since it was formed, voted on the seating allocation with the provision that the group defer definite action on the overall seating arrangement until the council has time to study the problem.

Allotment Argument

Arguments were raised at the meeting as to whether or not the Student Senate's allotments for the corps and civilian students were fair.

Jerry Schnepf, civilian member of the senate seating committee, explained that the allotment was fair but it would be hard to keep unauthorized persons out of the civilian section.

Straw votes in some of the civilian dormitories showed most of the students were in favor of a first come, first serve basis of seating, councilmen said.

Pete Goodwin, councilman from Law hall, said most of the students in Law hall who wanted seating by classes were seniors.

Cozad Elected

John Cozad was elected temporary chairman of the council to serve for the next three meetings. The next meeting was set for 4 p.m. Tuesday, and it was agreed that meetings would be held once each week until the affairs of the council were in order.

RUE PINALE—This young lady is one of the singers for the Cafe Rue Pinale floor show in the MSC tonight. Also on the show will be a can-can line and an apache dance team. Dancing will start at 8 p.m. in the games area of the MSC.

In other business done by the council, committees were formed to study the civilian section of Sbsa dining hall and the pricing of laundry done by the college.

The group voted to wait until three more meetings before permanent officers are elected. At this time, they will vote on a chairman, vice-chairman, secretary and parliamentarian.

President Elected For Austin Club

Other officers are Gene Hirschfeld, vice-president; Bill Alsop, secretary, and Henry Grupe, treasurer.

The club will meet every Thursday night in the YMCA basement.

Box Lunch Sales Set By Kiwanians

Kiwanis box lunches will go on sale at 10 a.m. Saturday at seven selling stations around College Station.

The lunches, which cost $1, will contain a thigh and a drumstick, bread and butter, potato chips, pickles and olives, cookies and an apple.

The lunches will be sold until the game starts. If there are any left over, they will be sold after the game, said W. E. (Woody) Briles, chairman of the Kiwanis box-lunch committee.

The selling stations and Kiwanians who will man them are as follows:

- South of the city limit sign on highway 6: Seller will be W. M. Potts.
- East Gate: Sellers will be R. O. Berry and W. M. Potts.
- Highway 6 and Jersey: Sellers will be K. A. Manning and Don Dale.
- A & M Consolidated high

First Big Weekend Set

Bryant, Aggies Open SWC Play With Frogs

Coach Paul Bryant gets initiated into the unpredictable Southwest conference tomorrow, as A&M opens its conference season with TCU, and the Cadets try to keep their record of not having lost to the Frogs on Kyle Field since 1948.

In 1948, TCU won 27-14, but A&M triumphed 42-23 in 1950 and tied 7-7 in 1952.

TCU is ranked a 12 to 13 point favorite over the thin Aggies. The Frogs lost to Oklahoma, 20-16, the nation's top team, after holding a 16-7 lead, but last week toppled unbeaten Southern California 20-7 on the coast.

A&M has improved every week under the intense drilling of Bryant and his nine assistants but still has been unable to gain the poise close to the goal that will make it a dangerous team. The Cadets, to have any chance for victory tomorrow, must be able to cash in on their scoring chances.

The Frogs are due to have a light workout on Kyle field at 4 p.m. today and will stay in Bryan overnight. The Aggies had a light drill yesterday and will work out in sweat suits today for a few minutes.

A&M probably will start Jack Pardee and Bennie Sinclair or Gene Stallings at ends, Larry Winkler and Bill Schroeder at tackles, Ray Barrett and Sid Theriot at guards, Lloyd Hale at center, Elwood Kettler at quarterback, Bobby Keith and Joe Schero at halfbacks and Don Kachtik at fullback.

Coach Abe Martin probably will start this eleven for TCU: Bryan Engram and Johnny Crouch at ends, Dick Laswell and Ray Hill at tackles, Malcolm Wallace and Bill Yung at guards, Hugh Pitts at center, Ronald Clinkscale at quarterback, Gerald Redus and James Swink at halfbacks and Buddy Dike at fullback.

A&M's probable starting line averages 196 to TCU's 203.

600 A&M Exes To Be Honored At Half-Time

More than 600 A&M former students will be honored during half-time ceremonies at the A&M-TCU football game tomorrow.

The exes will have a section reserved for them at the game. They are attending four class reunions here this weekend. The classes are '29, '34, '39 and '44.

This is one of the largest groups of former students we have had for a reunion weekend, said J. B. (Dick) Hervey, former students secretary.

All four of the classes will have luncheons in the Memorial Student Center before the game. After the game, each class will have a separate function.

The class of '29 will have a barbeque at Hershel Burgess' farm tomorrow afternoon.

The class of '34 will have dinner at Maggie Parker's dining room in Bryan.

The class of '39 will meet after the game in the MSC for an informal reception and dinner.

The class of '44 will also have a reception in the MSC after the game.

Band Will March At Game Saturday

The 240-member Texas Aggie Consolidated Band, the largest college consolidated band in the nation, will march with a 12-man front during half-time ceremonies at the A&M-TCU football game tomorrow.

The band will execute two double minstrel turns, one elongated counter-march by ranks and one regular counter-march by ranks, said John Dornbusch, band drum major. Also, formations will include "TCU Frogs" and the "T."

The band will honor the classes of '29, '34, '39 and '44 during the half-time activities.

Corps Will March To Game Saturday

The cadet corps will have a graded march-in at the A&M-TCU football game tomorrow.

Cadets will assemble in their respective parade areas. First call will be at 12:35 p.m.; assembly, 12:38; and move out, 12:43. The corps will be clear of the track by 1:15.

The order of march will be as follows: corps staff, band, first wing, second wing, first regiment, second regiment.

Colors and guidons will be carried and will be drawn Saturday morning from the supply rooms. They will be turned in at the gun room under the stands after the march-in.

Box Lunch Sales Set By Kiwanians

School: Sellers will be Jim Baty and Doyle Letbetter.

● West Gate: Sellers will be Ed Ivy, R. E. Leighton and Roy Wingren.

● The traffic circle: Sellers will be Sid Loveless, Mike Krenitsky and S. A. Kerley.

College Station Cub Scouts will assist the sellers. Signs will be placed at each station, and the sellers will wear bright aprons and chefs hats.

Tonight a crew of Kiwanians gather at A & M Consolidated school's cafeteria to fold the boxes and do part of the lunch packing. Early tomorrow morning another crew will complete the packing job and get the lunches to the selling stations.

227 Fish Try Out For Drill Team

First tryouts for the freshman drill team were held last Wednesday on the main drill field with 227 candidates for the 39 places on the team.

"It's going to be hard to pick the best 39 boys," said Capt. Joseph C. Brusse, sponsor of the freshman drill team.

"They should be ready sometime in the near future," he added.

Swink and Dike, TCU's leading runners, are both sophs, and quarterback Charlie Curtis, who stood out against OU, is also a first-year varsity man. Swink has a 6-yard rushing average, and Dike has picked up 260 yards on 63 tries.

Clinkscale was named Associated Press Back of Week after his performance in the OU game.

A&M's pass defense is second in the nation, and TCU has the fourth best punting game in the country. Cadet opponents have completed just 12 of 31 passes for 82 yards in four games, a 20.5 yards per game average.

Bryant has made several position changes in practice this week.

Past Closed; Aggie Exes Can Relax

Sorry, Aggies, you can't check up on the old man's grades at A&M anymore.

Records of former students are closed to the merely curious. If you want to see your father's record, you have to have a legitimate excuse or your father's permission, said H. L. Heaton, registrar.

"It's a matter of policy," he added.

Maybe this "policy" was started at the insistence of old grads whose sons were looking up their records and deciding they didn't have to study either.

TSCW Will Hold Carnival Tuesday

Texas State College for Women will hold its third annual Gold Rush carnival on the campus Tuesday.

Miss Sara Lauterbach, chairman of the invitation committee addressed a letter to W. L. Penberthy, head of student activities, inviting all Aggies to the affair, which is being held to raise money for the TSCW foundation.

"We will enjoy having the Aggies on our campus, and we know that they will find the carnival entertaining, exciting, amusing—all they would desire," said Miss Lauterbach in the letter.

Banquet Discussed

Plans for the annual banquet were discussed at a meeting of the Pre-Med and Pre-Dent society last Tuesday.

Two films were shown. They were "Skin Grafting of Extensive Burns" and "Surgery in Chest Diseases."

Football, Dances Fill Three Days

A&M will have its first big weekend of the year this weekend, with all the entertainment that goes with a college weekend.

Focal point of the three days is the A&M-Texas Christian university football game at 2 p.m. Saturday on Kyle field.

A&M comes home for the first time since the Texas Tech opener registration day to start Southwest conference competition against the sophomore-laden TCU Frogs. More than 25,000 fans are expected for the game.

Highpoint for the social side will be the Harry James dance Saturday night in Sbsa hall.

Famed trumpeter Harry James, who is equally famous for being Betty Grable's husband, will bring his Music Makers with him for the three-hour dance.

Featured will be Paula Gilbert, Gordon Polk, Willie Smith, Corky Corcoran, Juan Tibal, and Buddy Hayes. The dance will be in Sbsa hall from 9 p.m. to midnight.

Concert, Too

The band will play a concert in Guion hall from 7:15 to 8:15.

A smaller dance for the Friday night celebrators will be held at the Memorial Student Center's Cafe Rue Pinale.

Pinale will be open from 8:30 p.m. until midnight yell practice, and will feature the Ernie Martino combo for dancing. On the floor show will be a can-can line, singers, and an apache dance team from Houston.

The games area of the MSC, near the bowling alleys, is transformed into a French-style nightclub for Rue Pinale.

Corps Will March

The corps of cadets, 4,000-strong, will give its first public performance of the year Saturday when they march into the game at 12:45 p.m. Saturday.

The march in will be graded. The A&M band will march at the half-time.

Among the Aggie fans at the game will be more than 600 former students, who will be here attending reunions of four classes.

The classes are '29, '34, '39, and '44. All four classes will have luncheons in the MSC before the game, and they will have separate functions after the game.

A midnight yell practice in the Grove Friday night will start the Aggie spirit rolling for the game.

Death Claims Meteorologist

Grady Norton, hurricane-forecasting weatherman, who died several days ago, was a member of the first class in meteorology in 1913 at A&M.

The class was set up by the government during World War I. Among the instructors was Charles F. Brooks, now director of the Blue Hill observatory, Cambridge, Mass. He had been professor of meteorology at Harvard for many years.

The American Meteorology society was organized in 1919 by the class. Brooks was its first secretary and served until this year. Members of the class have kept in close touch with each other through meetings of the AMS.

Norton was named head of the hurricane forecasting service in the southeastern United States in 1935, with headquarters at Miami, Fla. He gained world-wide renown through his work.

Speakers Named For AS Lectures

Three more speakers were named for the air science department's series of lectures to the seniors.

R. L. (Satch) Elkins of the business administration department will speak Oct. 28 on "Human Relations in Management."

J. O. Edwards, assistant comptroller of the Humble Oil and Refining company, will speak on "Work Simplification" Nov. 11.

H. C. Wendler of the International Business Machines company will speak Nov. 18 on "Control Systems in Management."

Seating Plan Gets First Try At TCU Game

A student-section seating plan based on the number of student activity tickets sold will be used in Kyle field tomorrow for the first time.

The plan, which will be used at all home games this year, has the corps students sitting by classification, with the civilian students in a separate section above them.

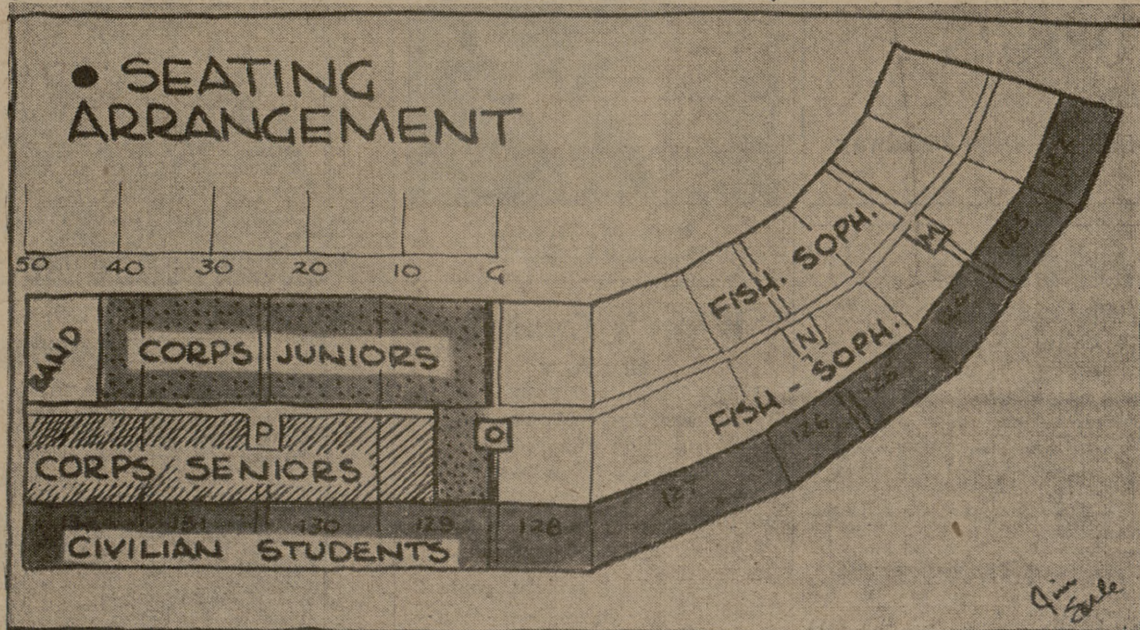

The Civilian Student Council voted last night to have seating in their section on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Seating proportions were allotted by percentages of student activity tickets sold. The student activity tickets contain a season football ticket, and this season ticket is the only ticket good for the student section.

John Benefield, chairman of the Student Senate seating committee, reported that civilian students bought 26.5 per cent of the total number of tickets sold, so they were given about that percentage of seating space.

Eighteen ushers, both civilian and military students, will enforce the plan tomorrow. The different sections will also be marked by painted lines so students can tell them apart.

Civilian students will enter the stadium by ramps M, N, O and P. Corps seniors and juniors will enter by ramps O and P, and corps sophomores and freshmen will enter by ramps M and N.

SEATING PLAN—This is the seating plan that will be used tomorrow and at all the home games this season. The sections for different classes are marked in different shades.
