A vastly superior Cub line and fumbles at the wrong time wrecked A&M's freshmen football team last night, and Baylor's frosh romped to a 38-14 victory before 11,000 fans at Waco.

The Cub line opened up gaping holes for backs Robert Crow, Bobby Peters and Joey Allen and held the vaunted Fish offense in check for most of the night. A&M got only 124 yards rushing, while the Cubs pounded out 332 yards on the ground.

The Fish also lost the ball six times on fumbles, three of which Baylor turned into touchdowns.

Fumbles gave Baylor a 13-0 lead at the end of the first quarter, the Fish battled back to take a 14-13 lead late in the second quarter and then Cub quarterback Ken Helms completed a sensational 7-yard pass to end Bill Anderson for a touchdown as time ran out in the first half.

Helms tore loose from three Aggies to get the pass away.

After that, Baylor turned the game into a runaway. The Cubs took the second half kickoff and marched 80 yards in 15 plays, scored again on the last play of the third quarter to end a 57-yard drive and ended the scoring with a 58-yard march after recovering an Aggie fumble.

The two Crow boys were the leading runners for their teams, but Baylor's Crow had the best of it. He raced for 95 yards on 11 carries, while John had 52 yards on 8 tries.

Peters scored two touchdowns for Baylor and drove for 79 yards on 17 carries. Allen had 83 on 17 and halfback Weldon Hicks had 40 on 5.

Fullback Ken Hall scored A&M's first touchdown on a 6-yard end run but was held to 19 yards on 9 carries. Quarterback Bobby Conrad passed 13 yards to end Fred Maples for the second Fish score.

Leading rusher for the Fish was halfback Lloyd Taylor, who got 35 yards on 6 carries and set up the first score with a 22-yard punt return. Ed Dudley wound up with minus 8 yards on four tries.

Baylor's real heroes were linemen like end Bill Anderson, tackles Fred Britton and Bob Prigmore and guards Charles Bennett and Gil Pelton.

They opened up holes so wide the Cub backs often were several yards past the line of scrimmage before they were even touched.

Crow and Hall, though held in check on offense, played terrific defensive games for the Fish. Ends Bobby Marks, Dean Meeks and Peter Humber were other bright spots on defense.

It looked like an unofficial corps trip for the Aggies as the teams lined up for the kickoff, with several hundred uniformed cadets visible in the stands.

Crow fumbled on A&M's first play from scrimmage and Pelton recovered for Baylor on the Fish 31. Allen, Peters and Crow took it to the five, and Peters went over left guard for the score. His conversion was no good.

Two plays after the Cub kickoff, Wright fumbled on a handoff to Hall and center Larry Cowart recovered on the Ag 44. Peters ran for 17 over left guard, picked up another 17 through the middle. Quarterback Paul Caver sneaked over from the one, Peters kicked good.

After a fair preliminary of intersectional games, the Southwest conference Saturday begins its main event, with six of the seven conference teams meeting league opponents. SWC members won 11 and tied one of 20 games played with outside teams, but last week's 20-7 win by TCU over Southern California was the only one that brought top national prestige to the conference.

Last week's results left the hand that tosses the coin a bit shaky, but here are this week's picks:

A&M 15, TCU 14.
 Baylor 27, Washington 14.
 SMU 14, Rice 7.
 Texas 21, Arkansas 14.

Frogs Have Lots of Sophs

This year's TCU team doesn't bear much resemblance to the wild-throwing spread-formation Frogs of Dutch Meyer's era. But the '54 Frogs much of the time have run their conservative (compared to other years) split-T with more finesse and poise than a sophomore-loaded team normally does.

Playing their first home game since the Texas Tech season opener, the Aggies might have some little unopened packages ready with unpleasant surprises inside them.

Another incentive for TCU is the fact that they have to win this one to stay in the chase for the conference title. Two losses usually puts a team down and out.

Why pick A&M then? Call it a belief that the Ags' will finally get that poise inside the enemy 20 that they haven't had before.

Baylor, one of the major disappointments of the Southwest, has another rough one Saturday, but it couldn't be as bad as last week, when the Hogs won a 21-20 game.

However, the Bears have a big edge in the fact that they play at home, and if Texas weather is its usual self, the Huskies should be a pretty tired outfit in about the third quarter.

SMU Defense Tough

Rice mentally should be ready for its top game of the season against SMU.

But Duane Nutt, Hal O'Brien, Don McIlhenny and Frank Eidom are a hard bunch to stop, and the SMU defensive line has given up only 97 yards per game on the ground.

If the Longhorns are finally going to start playing like they were supposed to, they'd better begin this week. From all indications, Texas, a top-heavy pre-season favorite for the title, has been playing like a team of zombies the last three weeks.

Kittens Beat Brenham 18-0

The Kittens, with help of quarterback Edgar Feldman and left halfback Sidney Greer, romped to a 18-0 win over Brenham in a non-district game at Brenham Thursday night.

The first half was mostly a defense game until Feldman threw an 18-yard pass to Kirby Jackson late in the second period. Feldman took the ball over from the one-yard line and the Kittens led. Greer's run was short for the extra point. The score remained 6-0.

Mid-way in the third quarter Pete Rodriguez recovered a fumble putting the ball on the Brenham 30-yard line. With a strong wind at their backs, it took the Kittens only four plays to reach pay dirt. Again the extra point run did not reach the goal and left the score 12-0.

In the fourth quarter Brenham started to move. With the ball on the Kitten 23 and first down they elected to throw a long pass but Edgar Feldman was right there. He intercepted the pass and ran it back 77 yards for another Kitten touchdown. The extra point was no good leaving the score 18-0. This win gives the Kittens a season record of three wins and one tie and a district record of one win and one tie.
