Cadets Start Drills for Hogs After 7-20 Loss to Baylor

By JERRY WIZIG
Battalion Sports Editor

The reserves and freshmen got most of the attention in yesterday's practice session as Coach Paul Bryant gave a near-rest to the players that saw most action in the 7-20 loss to Baylor Saturday.

A&M plays undefeated Arkansas Saturday night at Kyle field to climax Dads day. The players' fathers will be seated along the sideline. If they can get past the Aggies, and they will be heavily favored, the Razorbacks will be the best bet to win the Southwest conference title. Arkansas gets Rice and SMU in Arkansas after the A&M game.

Yesterday the reserves staged a muddy 30-minute scrimmage against a team of ineligible and freshmen using Arkansas plays. Arkansas is the only team in SWC that uses the single wing. The first-stringers ran through offensive plays.

Fullback Don Kachtik and end Jack Pardee, hurt in the first quarter against Baylor, didn't take part in the workout. Bryant said he is awaiting a report from the doctor on their condition. Kachtik suffered an injured nose and Pardee an injured leg.

Trainer Charles (Smokey) Harper was back at practice after missing the Baylor game. He was slightly injured last week when a freshman accidentally hit him on the sideline during a scrimmage.

Bryant called the Baylor game "our best game," and said, "I thought our kids put out a lot of effort." He added, "Now we're thinking ahead to Arkansas, not back to Baylor."

Too much Billy Hooper, too many fumbles and too many strong Baylor linemen were the big factors in A&M's 7-20 loss Saturday, the seventh straight time the Cadets have failed to beat Baylor.

Hooper and Baylor's pass patterns tore apart the Aggies' pass defense, best in the nation before the game. The senior from Sweetwater carried the Bears to three straight touchdowns after the Aggies almost completely dominated the first half.

It's doubtful if Hooper compares with his fellow townsman, Sammy Baugh, but Saturday he was all he needed to be as he completed 11 of 13 for 126 yards after his first two went incomplete. Rushed hard in the first half, Hooper seldom had to hurry his pitches in the last two quarters, and his receivers most of the time had a big jump on the A&M secondary.

Aggie fans probably will contend the turning point was A&M's failure to score early in the final quarter after picking up a first down on the Baylor one-yard line. Plays that were just as important were 1. The Aggie fumble on the Baylor 35 that stopped a promising march and started the first scoring drive for Baylor; 2. Hooper's 14-yard pass on a fourth down, seven situation that set up the Bears on the Aggie 19.

Kachtik was hurt late in the first quarter, suffering a nose injury, missed the entire second quarter, but started the second half. He had to go out again in the third quarter, came in once more and jarred many a Baylor back before the final gun.

Baylor's much-publicized left tackle, James Ray Smith, played a fine game, but at times Kettler and Kachtik went over him for nice gains.

The Cadets, wearing their gray uniforms with maroon numbers for the first time, scored late in the first quarter after a Baylor fumble. Center Lloyd Hale blasted Bear fullback Allen Jones, and guard Sid Theriot fell on Jones' fumble on the BU 29.

Kettler got 5 on a keeper and on the next play faked a handoff, rolled out to the left and threw to Huddleston in the left corner of the end zone for the touchdown. End Jack Pardee had decoyed Billy Hooper, and the pass dropped just over the Bear quarterback.

Kettler kicked good, and Baylor didn't get over the 50 until 6 minutes, 10 seconds were left in the second quarter.

Baylor scored like this: Hooper passed 7 yards to end Charlie Smith to end a 65-yard march which started after Bob Easley fumbled on the Bear 35. In the third quarter, J. R. Smith recovered Kachtik's fumble, and the aroused Bears knifed to the go-ahead score.

Hooper, from the 4, ran to his right and passed to fullback Weldon Holley for the score. The Aggies ran a series of downs after the kickoff, then Baylor went 56 yards in four plays. Hooper passed to end Excell Amyett for the last 27 yards. Halfback Bobby Drake Keith, missed his tackle at about the 15, and Amyett outran Billy Huddleston.

Steel Wins Honors In Horse Judging

Billy H. Steel, a senior animal husbandry major, was second high individual in horse judging at the American-Royal Intercollegiate Judging contest in Kansas City.

The senior livestock judging team of the school won seventh place in cattle judging. Steele is a member of the team.

Other members are Robert L. Kemp, Sam D. McAnally, Frank S. Parker jr., Kenneth G. Killion, Lowie K. Rice and Allan E. Turner.

Dr. W. M. Warren of the animal husbandry department is coach for the team.

Two Aggies Killed in Crash On Way to Baylor Game

Band Will Get Either Hats Or Money

The Texas Christian university band will get back either the hats that were taken from them by A&M students or money to pay for them, said J. Frank Ford, cadet colonel of the corps.

Ford said he had "some new leads" on the location of the 11 missing hats, taken after the A&M-TCU football game Oct. 16.

One sophomore cadet has been given disciplinary action for participating in the incident.

He was given an official reprimand, eight hours extra duty, conduct probation, campused until Christmas, and prohibited from attending out-of-town football games for the rest of the season. The college received a letter from the vice-president of TCU, giving the number of hats that were missing. The letter said the hats cost $5.50 apiece.

Ford said a collection would be taken up among the military units to pay for the hats if they could not be found.

President David H. Morgan and Student Senate President Jerry Ramsey have written letters of apology to TCU officials.

Aggielands Arrive Today For Pickup

Aggielands may be picked up on the first floor of Goodwin hall beginning today, the office of student publications announced.

The yearbooks were due to arrive earlier this year, but technical difficulties at the publisher delayed delivery until now, according to the office of student publications.

Students must present their identification cards in order to receive their Aggieland, said Karl Elmquist, acting manager of student publications.

Awards Announced For Two Classes

Scholastic awards for this year to be given one freshman and one sophomore electrical engineering major have been announced by the electrical engineering department.

The awards to each winner will be a framed certificate and a one-year paid membership in the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. They will be presented to the freshman electrical engineering major who has the highest grade point ratio for the regular freshman programs, and to an electrical engineering sophomore selected by the staff of the department on the basis of scholarship, personality and extra-curricular activities.

The awards will be known at the Eta Kappa Nu awards.

Denison Elected

William V. Finn of Denison was selected president of the Grayson County Hometown club. Other officers are Richard C. Reynolds, vice-president; Brooks Williford, secretary; and Norman Grigg, business manager.

Freshman Injured Friday In Crash Near Denton

By BILL FULLERTON
Battalion News Editor

Silver Taps was held last night for William Taylor, 19, sophomore from Laird Hill, and Rex Hudson, 19, sophomore from Henderson, who were killed about 9 a.m., Saturday when their car and a truck crashed headon in the rain 12 miles east of Corsicana.

They were headed toward Waco for the football game between A&M and Baylor when the accident occurred.

Taylor was driving when the car ran off the road and onto the soft shoulder. When he tried to get back on the pavement, he apparently lost control and hit an oil-field truck. The driver of the truck was not hurt.

Funeral services for Taylor were held yesterday morning in Kilgore. He was buried yesterday in Atlanta, Tex. Taylor is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Taylor, of Kilgore.

Hudson is survived by his mother, Mrs. A. A. Hudson, five brothers and two sisters. Funeral services for him were held yesterday afternoon in Henderson.

Members of their unit, Squadron 2, acted as pall bearers at the funerals. The entire squadron attended both services.

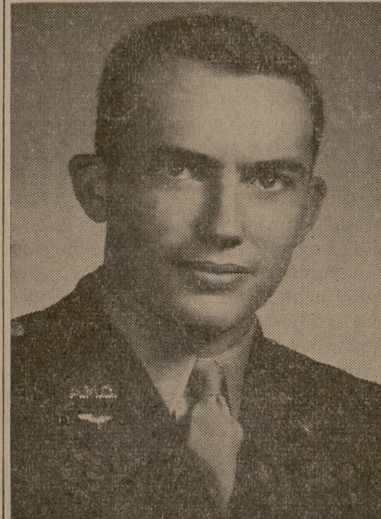

Freshman Injured
Victim of another weekend accident, Jack Albert, freshman from San Angelo, is recovering from a badly cut arm and other lacerations received in a headon collision a half mile south of Lake Dallas Friday night.

Albert was taken to the Denton hospital where he was to remain several days before going home for a couple of weeks to recover.

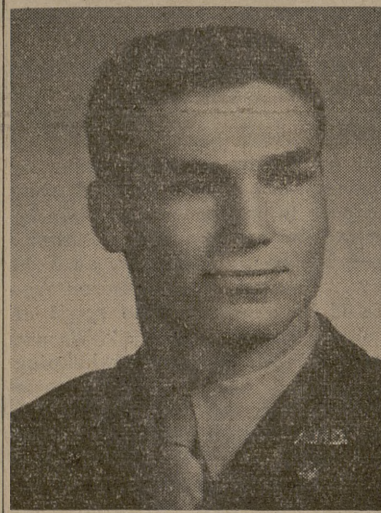

His injuries are painful, but are not considered serious, said Hadley Foster, commander of C infantry, Albert's unit.

A Negro in the other vehicle was killed in the collision, and Bruce Capers, a student at North Texas State college who was with Albert, was also hurt.

Albert and Capers were on their way to Denton to pick up their dates for the game in Waco.

Day Students Have Election Tomorrow

One student has filed for day student representative to the Civilian Student Council election to be held tomorrow from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in room 1-H, Puryear hall.

The student who filed is John C. Henderson, senior day student. The election is to fill a vacancy on the council caused when no day students filed for the previous election. The day students are allowed one representative on the council.

Write-ins will be permitted in the election, said W. G. Breazeale, civilian counselor.

Brown Addresses Science Academy

Dr. S. O. Brown, of the biology department, gave a demonstration speech of the electron microscope and its operation to the A&M chapter of the Texas Collegiate Academy of Science Thursday night.

Art Herzog was elected social secretary at the meeting and Harold Fox reporter. Plans for a barbecue to entertain a delegation from Mary-Hardin Baylor were made.

Saddle and Sirloin To Meet Tonight

Entries for the all Aggie Rodeo will close at 7:30 p.m. today at the called meeting of the Saddle and Sirloin club in the Animal Industry building.

Sam McAnnally, president of the club, said it is important that all members be present, even though the meeting conflicts with Town Hall. It will be a short session.

Duo-Pianists Play Tonight For Town Hall

Alfred and Herbert Telt-schik, duo-pianists, will be the attraction at Town Hall at 8 p.m. tonight in the G. Rollie White coliseum.

Seats are on a first come first served basis. Individual tickets may be purchased in student activities office until 5 p.m. today and after 7 p.m. at the door.

The Teltshik brothers began their musical training under the guidance of their father. They were born in Floresville, Tex., and attend the Juilliard School of Music in New York.

They were called to active duty during World War II. While in the army they gave numerous recitals at home and overseas.

Back to civilian life as a full-fledged two piano team, they purchased a small bus converted to transport their luggage and two concert grand pianos, which they maintain, tune and repair themselves.

They have completed their second transcontinental tour of the United States and Canada.

Six Engineers Get Scholarships

Six chemical engineering students have received senior scholarships of $250 each, Dr. J. D. Lindsay, head of the chemical engineering department announced.

The award winners and sponsoring companies were John E. Frandolig and Robert E. Zumwalt, Dow Chemical company, and Thomas M. Campbell, Edward B. Field, Jimmy Dale May and Ray Ben Nesbitt, Universal Oil Products company. The awards were presented recently at a meeting of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

Twelve top students in the department were interviewed for the scholarships, Lindsay said, and a committee of staff members made the final selection.

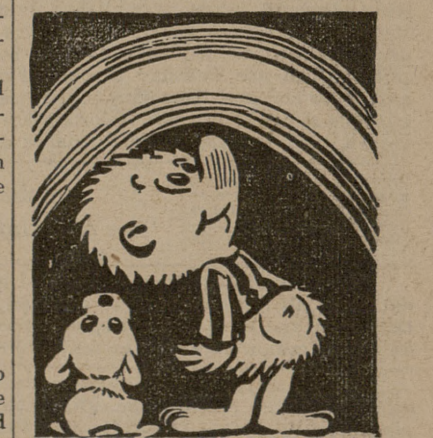

Biggest Dance Set Saturday Night

The biggest dance of the year, "Midnight in New Orleans," is set for Saturday night in the Memorial Student Center immediately after the A&M-Arkansas football game.

Margaret Long, program director for the MSC said three groups would play for the dance. The Aggieband Orchestra will play fox-trot music in the ballroom, the Capers Combo will play Latin American music in the serpentine lounge, and the Prairie View Collegians will play blues and rhythm in the assembly room. The entire second floor of the MSC will be decorated for the dance.

Tickets are $1.25 and are on sale at the main desk in the MSC and at the booth next to the post office.
