Auditions Open For Talent Show

Applications for auditions for the Aggie Talent Show can be obtained in the directorate office of the Memorial Student Center, Mike Griffin, show chairman, said yesterday.

Sponsored by the music group of the Memorial Student Center, the Aggie Talent Show is open to all students. All types of acts may audition, Griffin said, and the winner will represent A&M in the Intercollegiate Talent Show March 18 and will also receive a plaque. In addition, his name will be engraved on a trophy to be placed in the MSC.

Show judges will be faculty members and auditions will be held Nov. 9, 10, and 12.

The can-can line, hit attraction of last year's show, will be repeated this year and anyone wishing to become a member of the special talent group may audition, Griffin said.

For Military Day

Saturday Classes Changed

Classes will meet earlier and for shorter times Saturday to allow the corps of cadets to prepare for the Fall Military Day parade.

The parade, which will begin at 11 a. m., will honor visiting military men and civilians, including six generals and Rice institute staff members.

The guests will also attend a luncheon at the president's home and the A&M-Rice football game that afternoon.

Included in the guest list are Dr. W. V. Houston, president of Rice, several Rice faculty members, and Floyd Cross of Colorado A&M, representing the American Veterinary Medicine association.

Congressman Olin Teague of College Station will attend the ceremonies, bringing with him Maj. Gen. James M. Gavin, army assistant chief of staff for operations, and five A&M graduates now assigned to the Pentagon. They are Col. C. W. Hahn, Lt. Col. William A. Becker, Lt. Col. Dorsey E. McCoy, Lt. Col. Lee L. Stewart, and Lt. Col. Victor M. Wallace. Becker was cadet colonel of the corps while he was a student and was senior instructor in field artillery from 1946 to 1948.

Also in Teague's party will be Oliver Meadows, chief counsel for the House committee on veteran affairs.

Lt. Gen. I. D. White, commanding general of the Fourth army, will attend with two members of his staff, Maj. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, former A&M commandant, and Brig. Gen. W. M. Breckenridge.

Flying from the West Coast will be Maj. Gen. Robert H. Terrill, commanding general of the 15th air force, headquartered at March field, Calif.

Terrill, who will bring his wife and 15-year-old daughter, plans to pilot a private lightplane to A&M. Other guests will include Brig. Gen. Robert M. Ives of Houston, assistant commander of the 36th division, Texas National Guard; Col. Albert A. Horner of Austin, chief of the Texas Military district; Col. Norman L. Callish, commander of Ellington air force base; Col. James A. Gunn, commander of Bryan air force base; Col. Majes C. McGeehee, deputy for operations

Yankees Elect

Arch H. Ely jr., of Madison, Wis., has been elected president of the Yankee Hometown club. Other officers elected were J. P. Uusk, Ballston Spa, N.Y., vice-president; N. J. Sprague, Manchester, Conn., secretary-treasurer, and P. M. Martin, Belmont, Mass., reporter.

Council Adopts Honor Code

Bonfire Building Begins Monday

Work on the annual bonfire for the A&M - Texas game will begin on Nov. 15, according to Howard Childers, senior yell leader and bonfire chief.

Cutting site for this year's bonfire will be four miles southeast of the college on land owned by Dr. W. E. Street, head of the engineering drawing department.

Centerpole for the bonfire was donated by Dr. Spencer Buchanan of the civil engineering department. The pole, which is 72 feet long, ten feet longer than last year's, will also be set by Dr. Buchanan.

Committees organized for the bonfire and their chairmen are: woodcutting, Sam Akard and Ernie Golub; stacking, Red Dowling; supply, Theo Lindig; communications, Al Heimer; first aid, George Knipple; guard duty roster, Bud Fair; refreshments, James Caffey and Garrett Maxwell; building supervisors, Frank Davis, David Bailey and Paul Holiday.

Coordinators for the committees are regimental and wing commanders Dale Fisher, Pat Wheat, John Leimbrook and Bill Utsman. Bob Carpenter is assistant to Childers. Trucks and saws have already been obtained for use in getting the logs. However, more trucks are needed for transporting the wood and chain and power saws for cutting the wood, Childers said. Anyone having access to these may contact Childers.

Full cooperation from all the cadets is needed to make this year's bonfire bigger and better than any one in the past, Childers said.

Orders Open For Senior Announcements

Orders are now being taken at the office of student activities for graduation announcements.

Three types of announcements are available—a leather-bound type which includes the class roll, a cardboard-bound announcement which also contains the class roll, and a Frenchfold type which does not contain the class roll. Prices on the announcements are 95 cents each for the leather-bound, 45 cents each for the cardboard-bound, and 25 cents for two of the Frenchfold.

Calling cards are also available in both printed and engraved styles. Prices on these are $1.95 per hundred for the printed style and $2.95 per hundred for the engraved cards.

Deadline for ordering is Dec. 8. Delivery will be within approximately three-and-a-half weeks after the deadline or about Jan. 5, which will give the seniors two weeks to get them mailed before graduation, said W. D. (Pete) Hardesty, business manager of student activities.

Corps Trip Parade Won By Aggie Band

The Aggie band won first place in competition with 48 other units in the Dallas corps trip review Saturday, according to the military department.

Other top placings were A engineers, second; B anti-aircraft artillery, third; A anti-aircraft artillery and A ordnance, tie for fourth; and B engineers and D infantry, tie for sixth.

A anti-aircraft artillery has top cumulative standing as a result of three pass-bys. The band is in second place.

The next graded review will be Saturday morning.

Voluntary System Set for Ag Classes

By BOB BORISKIE
Battalion Co-Editor

The student Agricultural council Monday night adopted an honor system for not only the School of Agriculture but all freshman courses in the agriculture curriculum, George Munns, agricultural council president, announced yesterday.

The council favored the honor system by a 15 to 1 vote with 3 abstaining. Students who objected to certain provisions of the proposed system declined to vote, although they approved in general the idea of an honor system, Munns said.

Subject to the approval of the dean of the School of Agriculture, the following statement will be posted in each agriculture classroom:

"Holding my integrity to be of primary importance in my scholastic endeavors, I hereby pledge that I will not lie, steal, cheat, or take unfair advantage of my fellow students in this course."

Rise Forecast In Enrollment During 1960

College enrollment in Texas won't change much until 1960, when it is expected to rise rapidly, according to a report of the Southern Regional Educational Board.

The report, entitled "Future School and College Enrollments in the Southern Region," says that for every four students in Texas colleges now, there will be seven in 1970.

"We expect Texas to have about 215,000 to 225,000 college students by 1970, or 90,000 more than the 1952 enrollment," the report says. The board expects the increase to be largest in the graduate schools, with as many as 250 per cent more graduate students expected in 1970.

The report says that enrollment in all educational levels will increase in the next 30 years, with a 70 per cent increase expected at the college level.

One of the factors on which the predictions are based is the expected increase of about 100 per cent in the number of high school graduates.

Discounting the percentage of high school graduates who do not attend college, this will result in about a 70 per cent increase in the number of college students.

Morgan Gives Talk

President David H. Morgan made the principal address last night at the annual appreciation dinner for the eighth Boy Scout district. He spoke on "Leadership." He returned to A&M after the talk.

Reception After Talk Honors Pollard

The Great Issues committee of the Memorial Student Center will have a reception tonight for Dr. William G. Pollard, who will make the first talk in the Great Issues series tonight.

Pollard, executive director of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, will talk on "Secrecy, Security, and Science."

The talk will be at 7:30 p. m. in the MSC ballroom. About 50 persons are on the guest list for the reception.

Pollard has been executive director of the Oak Ridge Institute since 1947, and in this position he has been active in the development of atomic studies.

Although he did his undergraduate work at the University of Tennessee, Pollard got his MA and PhD degrees from Rice institute.

He taught physics at Tennessee until World War II, when he became a research scientist at Columbia university. After the war he became a member of the board of the Oak Ridge institute and was later made executive director.

He is also an ordained priest of the Episcopal church. He started in church work in 1948 as a vestryman and lay reader at St. Stephen's church in Oak Ridge.

His talk is the first in the Great Issues series, which will also include Harold Stassen and Robert Hutchins.

Stassen speaks here Nov. 17.

Aggie Players To Present Play

The Aggie Players will open their 1954-55 season Monday at 8:15 p. m. in Guion hall with "Misalliance," one of George Bernard Shaw's comedy successes.

Under the direction of C. K. Easten, English department instructor, the play will be presented nightly through Thursday, with a matinee scheduled for Tuesday at 2 p. m.

Members of the cast will be Ted Castle, Florence Delaplane, Ann Tishler, Vic Wienen, Harry Gooding, Bill Gilbert, Bill Swann, Iris Bullard and Don Powell.

Weather Today

Forecast for today is partly cloudy throughout the day with widely scattered thundershowers in the vicinity.

Yesterday's high was 76, low 53. The temperature at 11 this morning was 67.

THE BIG DANCE—The Memorial Student Center dancing classes had their annual formal dance last night, with about 500 persons attending. Chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hass, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Stark. The Aggie-land combo played.
