It Can't Happen To Me

The A&M Accident Prevention committee is one of those unheralded, unsung groups, that do a lot of work, do it quietly, and consequently are not heard from much.

And sometimes they do their work against odds—people who refuse to believe accidents can happen to them, and who don't want to report hazards.

When a member of the committee, or anybody else, points out an accident hazard, the person responsible for the existence of the hazard feels personally insulted.

"I'm careful," he says. "Accidents don't happen to me."

But accidents do happen, and they always happen to somebody who thought it couldn't happen.

The committee is now leading the way in a campaign to find and correct accident hazards on the campus. Everybody—students, staff, and faculty—will have a chance to report hazards, either through the forms that will be sent out, or through the departmental representatives that have been appointed.

This will require that everybody become accident-conscious, and make a sincere effort to weed out hazards.

It's been said many times before, but it's still true: accidents don't happen; they are caused.

The Only One

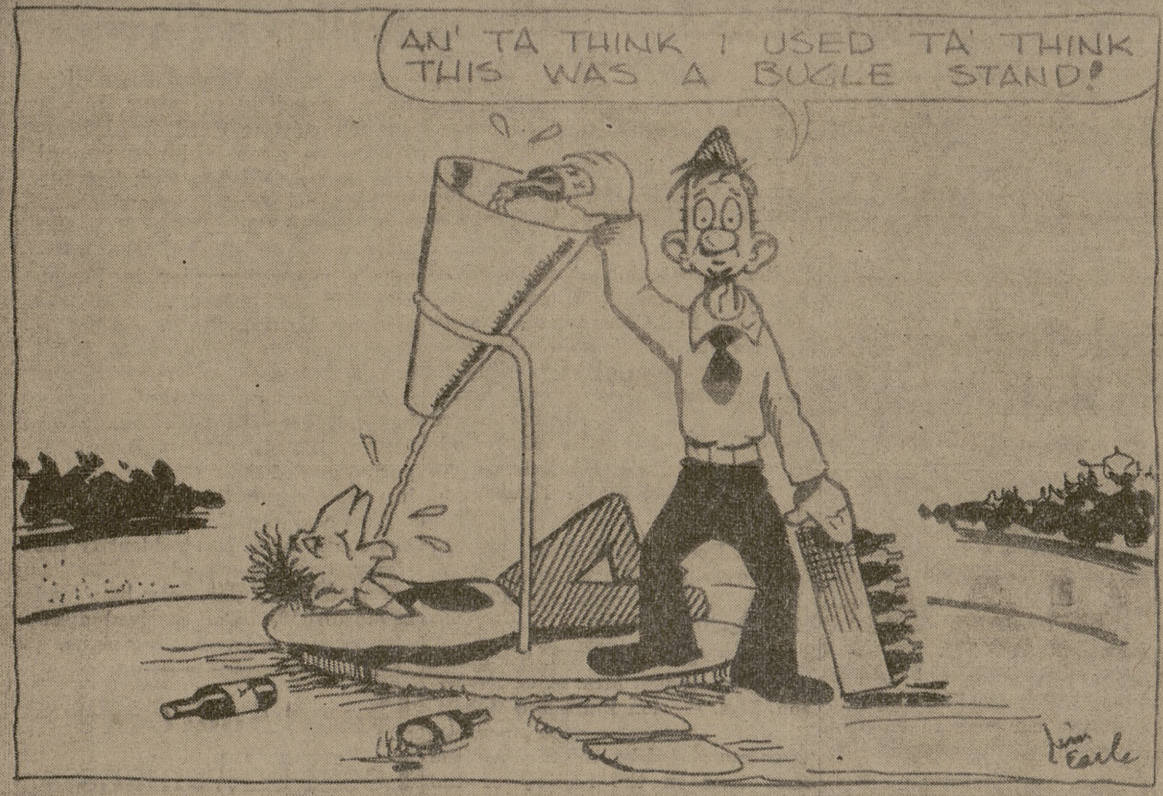

A group of the local women have banded together to do something about Bryan's old Carnegie library, and they have strong arguing points for improvement.

Everybody knows the library is sadly lacking, but one little known fact is that the Bryan library is the only public library for all the counties surrounding Brazos.

The library needs attention, and this group is prepared to do something about it, but they are going to need everyone's help.

AH Laboratory Being Remodeled

Remodeling of the animal husbandry department's meats laboratory, is almost finished.

The lab, located in the Animal Industries building, is receiving a new acid resistant tile floor with new drains and plumbing. Also a new knocking pen is being installed on the killing floor.

The large cooler room, where fresh meat is kept, is being painted with rust resistant paint, and a new concrete floor laid.

For smoking and curing hams and bacon, a new airconditioned smokehouse, of the latest design is being installed.

"The new smokehouse and acid resistant tile floor will help us to serve our customers better and keep everything more sanitary," said Roy Simms, manager of the locker plant.

Two Profs Attend Research Meeting

Two members of the agricultural economics and sociology department will attend a meeting of the Regional Land Values Research sub-committee in Stillwater, Okla., November 19-20.

They are William G. Adkins, assistant professor in the department, and John H. Southern, agricultural economist, U. S. Department of Agriculture, who is attached to the department.

The sub-committee meeting is held to bring members up-to-date on research in land prices and related problems.

Canterbury Club To Attend Meet

Students from the Canterbury club of St. Thomas Episcopal chapel will attend an Episcopal Student conference Dec. 3-5.

The conference, which will be held at Trinity church in Victoria, will have the Rt. Rev. John E. Hines, bishop coadjutor of Texas, as principal speaker.

Included in the conference are a banquet, study groups, and a dance.

Registration for the conference must be turned in to the church before the Thanksgiving holidays.

Agriculture Group To Appeal Code

The Agriculture council voted to appeal the honor system and adopt a new code proposed by Alpha Zeta, Jerry Johnson, secretary of the council, said yesterday.

A committee has been set up to have the new honor system explained to all classes in the school of agriculture. It will be voted on by each class.

Members of the committee are F. E. Tutt, Morris Bailey, John Johnson and C. A. Edwards.
