Two Clubs Plan Dance Thursday

The A&M Employees Dinner club and Newcomers club will have dinner and dance together in a western atmosphere at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Memorial Student Center ballroom.

The early part of the evening will feature square dancing to the music of the Capers Combo. Lee Thompson will be caller of the squares.

The dance is to be informal and sport and western-style clothes are to be worn.

Here Is Mrs. A&M

(Ed note: These are the five finalist entries in the Mrs. Texas A&M contest. From these five Mrs. Texas A&M will be chosen and announced at the married couples dance, the Maroon and White Ball, Saturday in the ballroom of the Memorial Student Center.)

Entry: Mrs. Mary Eleanor Wyatt, B-5-A, College View.

Letter: My wife should be Mrs. Texas A&M because without her I wouldn't be able to graduate. In addition to being a wonderful mother to our baby, Ellie manages to keep inside the G. I. bill. She also handles the jobs of house-keeper, cook, morale booster, secretary, and tutor. Some indication of the help she has been in getting me through A&M is reflected in these grade point ratios . . . 0.98 before, and 2.58 after she took over.

Ellie has been an "Aggie-Lover" ever since her high school days. She spent one year at Baylor, and then took her degree at TCU. However she always yells for the "Farmers" when we play Baylor, and once I heard her pulling for A&M against TCU. I have yet to find an Aggie tradition that is new to her.

That diploma that I get on May 27 should have "Mr. and Mrs." written on it.

Entry: Mrs. Suzanne Petty, Jr., 402 Cooner St., College Station.

Letter: Why I think my wife should be chosen as Mrs. Texas A&M.

My wife considers her loyalty to me and my school her chief "job" at this, the most important phase of my life. Suzanne takes active part in all school functions and is as much a booster for A&M as I. However, this loyalty is not her most important qualification for being Mrs. Texas A&M. Certainly her neat house, thrifty shopping, and willingness to forfeit things all women desire are important. But more important is the encouragement she gives to others, for she knows what it means to be disheartened. Two days after our marriage she was stricken with polio, supposedly never to walk again. With courage and determination she fought, suffered, and won . . . not a complete recovery but enough to join me in establishing a Christian home for our now six-month-old daughter. To be selected to represent our school would be a wonderful tribute to a person who exemplifies the qualities that an A&M student's wife should have.

Then too, I love her.

Entry: Mrs. Thelma Cardwell, 701 Dexter, College Station.

Letter: To whom it may concern . . . Why my wife should be Mrs. Texas A&M: She can just as easily bake a pie, clean a room, change a baby's diapers, lead a discussion, paint a picture, mend a shirt, sing a lullabye, and be no less than four different personalities (maid, nurse, cook, and sweet-heart) all within the span of a day's time. She is indispensable to me, and is the making of my happiness here at A&M. She is the personification of that spirit which drives Texas Aggies to do things greater than they dream possible.

Entry: Mrs. Glenda Ann Durham, C-18-Z, College View.

Letter: My wife should be Mrs. Texas A&M because "It would be a nice appreciation gift for all the effort she has put forth in so many little ways since we have been down here. I doubt if anyone else would think she has done anything spectacular or great, and I know there are many other Aggie wives who have done just as much for their husbands, but being slightly prejudiced I think she's done a wonderful job with little reward except a hope for the future. She's proud of the school I've chosen . . . she believes in it's past and its future, its traditions, and its famous Aggie Spirit. "Mrs. Texas A&M" is only a title that will soon be forgotten by most, but if my wife is chosen to represent the typical Aggie wife, I know she would never forget the way I and my school have chosen to say "Thank you!"

Entry: Mrs. Maria Garza, Jr., 104 Sulphur Springs Rd., College Station.

Letter: My wife should be Mrs. Texas A&M because of her devotion to her husband, child, job, and home, and for being a true inspiration both to her family and to everyone that knows and has known her. She is truly a symbol of good faith and friendly personality, along with the great qualities that attribute to her willingness to make friends. To me she represents the real foundation of Aggie culture, comparing with an inscription on Ross' statue. "Soldier, statesman, and knightly gentleman"

"Wife, secretary, and loving mother". To me she has given faith and sweet devotion; to our child, love and care; to her job, personality and knowledge; and, to all our friends, unselfish pride and courtesy. She is, without a doubt, the glory of our home.

Rev. Clem Hardy Will Speak Here

The Rev. Clem Hardy and Mrs. Hardy, missionaries from South America, are the principal speakers during the evangelistic crusade at the First Baptist church, this week.

The Rev. Robert Longshore, pastor, said the Hardys will conduct revival services and special mission studies on work in Brazil being done by Southern Baptist missionaries. Mrs. Hardy will teach in the school of missions which will begin at 6:15 and last until 7 each evening. The mission study will be followed by an evangelistic message delivered by Hardy.

Intended messages of the revival will be to show the oneness of evangelism and missions, as suggested by the revival theme, "We Two Are One."

Music for the services will be conducted by Gene Layman. Other teachers for the mission studies are M. D. Woodruff and Mesdames M. D. Woodruff, L. E. Layman, C. S. Harris, and Robert H. Harms.

EE Club Organizes Eta Kappa Nu

The Electrical Engineering club has written for the necessary papers to become a member of the national Eta Kappa Nu, an honor society for electrical engineering majors, according to M. C. Hughes, head of the department.

About 20 juniors and seniors are members of the present organization. Temporary officers are Melvin M. Newsome, president, and Donald E. Hightower, secretary.

Eta Kappa Nu requires that its members be in the upper fourth of their class. An organization, before being admitted to the national organization, has to be active for 12 months.
