The score was Blues 21, Maroons 7 yesterday at the end of a 30-minute scrimmage between the two elevens, highlighting A&M's 11th day of spring football practice.

With Bobby Conrad, a 1954 freshman hot in pursuit of veteran Elwood Kettler's job, at the helm, the Blues scored first, then struck twice more after the Maroons tied it.

Ken Hall, the jet-fast fullback of last season's Fish team, scored first for the Blues, intercepting a Kettler pass and streaking about 35 yards across the goal.

Guided by Kettler, the Maroons, who had seven lettermen, lashed back, with pint-sized halfback Billy Dendy, another soph next fall, turning in a 50-yard dash around left end to set up the tally.

Kettler threw a short pass to end Dean Meeks for the touchdown, Meeks taking the ball away from two defenders. With the score 7-7, left half Carlos Esquivel shot through the left side and sped about 60 yards for the second Blue score behind Hall's block.

A little later, Conrad, back in punt formation, raced about 45 yards deep into Maroon ground but fumbled, with the vets recovering. After a couple of first downs, Blue end Bobby Drake Keith recovered a Maroon fumble and then Conrad went back to work.

He passed to Keith for about 10 yards. He went back to pass again several plays later and darted through the left side, got a block from Hall and ran about 25 yards to score.

After that, head coach Paul Bryant sent the Blues in and put up the Whites, quarterbacked by Donald Grant, against the Maroons.

With Billy Stevenson, Don Mc-Clelland and Cliff Hamby—all sophomores next fall—in the backfield, Grant drove the Whites to the 1, then speared over.

With sophomore Jimmy Wright at quarterback, the Maroons drove to the 3, then Wright carried over.
Fullback Roddy Osborne contributed a 25 yard gain, halfback Ed Dudley a 15-yarder to the 10.

Afterwards, Bryant had praise for Hall and Esquivel. Hall was the first he singled out, then Bryant said, "I thought Esquivel did well today, both on offense and defense."

He said, "Our line is improving on 'explosive' speed, but we don't move them out when we have to go up the middle."

Halfbacks Don Watson and Gene Henderson, who started for the Maroons Saturday night, have missed this week's two workouts.
Watson has been excused from the remainder of practice to compete in track. Henderson suffered a leg injury Saturday.

The Reds yesterday lined up this way—Ends, Gene Stallings, and Dean Meeks; tackles, Darrell Brown and Jack Powell; guards, Jim Stanley and Dennis Goehring; Center, Lloyd Hale; quarterback, Kettler; halfbacks, Dendy and Dudley; fullback, Jack Pardee and Osborne.

For the Blues—Ends, Bobby Marks, Nolan Hutchinson, Richard Sorrels and Keith; tackles, Charles Krueger and Henry Clark; guards, Dee Powell and Paul Lillard;

Center, Herb Wolf; quarterback, Conrad and Wright; halfbacks, Esquivel and Loyd Taylor; fullback, Hall and also Osborne.
