

$500 Grant Open For Architects

Architecture students at A&M are eligible for a $500 grant from Royal Tile Manufacturing company of Fort Worth to assist in their fifth year studies, according to E. L. Wilson, president of the Texas Architectural foundation, an agency of the Texas Society of Architects.

The awarding of the grant will be made to an outstanding fourth-year student each year from either A&M, the University of Texas, Rice Institute, Texas Tech or the University of Houston.

The winner for the coming school year will be announced May 1. Selection of the recipient, according to Wilson, will be based upon "evidence of his good character, outstanding ability and his need and purpose."
