Wrong Track

The budding "over-enthusiasm" of former students has invaded the stately halls of the capitol at Austin.

The Texas senator, an Aggie-ex, yesterday told the Senate that the other Southwest conference schools were jealous because A&M appeared to be getting a good football team.

He probably is right, but it would be quite wrong for the Senate to investigate the conference officials' ruling.

These officials made the action, and they're the ones to correct their mistakes—not the Texas Senate.

Opportunity Lost

The outgoing Student Senate set a poor example for next year's senators at their final meeting last night.

Personal remarks, no doubt hastily injected and duly apologized for later, smirched a good chance for the newcomers to get a good look at how they will be expected to carry on.

With all of the fine work the Senate had done this year, it was a shame that a senator had to say at this last meeting, "This is the first meeting I've attended that really disgusted me."

No Definite Plans Made On Press Move

Exactly when the A & M Press will move has not yet been decided, according to J. Frank Tucker, manager of the Press. The new location is across the street from the college power plant.

"All we know is that we are going to move. Just when it will be, we cannot yet say," Tucker said. Easily handled equipment will be moved by press employees, he said. The heavy machinery will be moved by a moving agency, and the equipment will be moved over a period of time, rather than all at once.

With this spread out moving, the press will not have to suspend all operations, and will be able to keep right on printing most of the time.

No definite plans as to what will be done with the present quarters of the press, in the basement of Goodwin hall, have been made, Tucker said.
