

It's Hail, Brother

In case y'all didn't know it, summer is really here. In fact, it has been here since 10:32 Tuesday night.

Spring left us, and it left us in about the same condition it joined us a while back. It's still cool and rainy, and once in a while the sun comes out and burns everyone and everything up.

Of course, now that summer has come around we can all sit back in the shade. Or can we?

There's rain in the south, rain in the north, and, more than likely, there's rain in the east and west.

Up in the Panhandle and similar parts, the weather must be even worse than ours. All the reports coming from that far away section of our state say, "The weather looks like hail."

And talking about something "looking like hail," the rainy weather here at the College points out a worthwhile need. There's a few sidewalks on the campus that are lower than the earth banks on each side. When it rains, the sidewalks are not fit to walk upon, for the mud gets pretty thick.

The sidewalk to be built on the east side of the drill field will be a soul, or rather, sole saver. At present, in rainy weather, a person might just as soon stop across the drill field as try to threadmill his way down the muddy concrete trail on the other side of the street.

One thing is sure. We need either nice weather or a soil erosion expert.

It's hail, brother—all over.

By Mrs. Fred E. Weick

A native of Illinois, Dorothy Weick did her college work at the University of Chicago. She married "the boy next door," who is now director of the personal aircraft research center at A&M. Two of their children, Donald and Betsey, are married and living in the East. Their youngest son, Dick, will graduate from A&M next year.

Broiled Ham With Pineapple

Pineapple rings or spears or peach halves or apricot halves are equally good. Drain the fruit, brush the top with melted butter, and sprinkle lightly with sugar. Place around slice of ham and broil. A center-cut slice of ham 3/4 inch thick will serve four people or more, depending on size of ham.

Spoon Bread

2 T. shortening
2 cups milk
1/2 cup water ground corn meal,
white or yellow

Put shortening in casserole to heat in 350 degree oven while mixing the batter. Scald milk, stir in corn meal, and cook until thick. Add egg yolks and salt and beat well. Beat egg whites stiff, add sugar, and stir into corn meal mixture. Pour into casserole and stir in hot fat. Bake 20 to 25 minutes. Serves four to six.

Lemon Cake Pie

1 cup sugar
2 rounded T. flour
Pinch of salt
1 rounded T. butter

2 eggs
Rind and juice of 1 1/2 to 2 lemons
1 cup milk

Sift sugar, flour, and salt. Cream butter into sugar and flour, add egg yolks, then lemon rind and juice and mix well. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and add milk slowly. Put into unbaked pie shell and bake 45 to 60 minutes at 350 degrees.

Also nice baked without pie crust in individual custard cups and served with a lemon sauce.

Spanking

this charge, and had been receiving psychiatric treatment since his return to Bryan.

His mother told county officials that he had been pronounced cured.

The youth said that there was no sexual urge included in his impulse to spank children. "I don't know why I do these things," he said. "The urge just comes over me."

He had been involved in a similar incident here about four years ago, which led suspicion to fall on him. Bryan Chief of Police H. W. Collins remembered handling the boy on a similar spanking complaint, and reported to College Station's Police Chief Lee Norwood. Norwood and Sheriff J. W. Hamilton made the arrest Friday.

The county attorney said that investigations of the case may take a couple of weeks.

Churches Set Services

Several local ministers have announced special programs for this Sunday.

At the Faith Evangelical and Reformed Church the morning sermon will be "Gratefully Remember." At the evening service a film strip, "The Church Around the World," will be shown.

The Rev. Mr. Nolan Vance of the A&M Methodist Church will continue the series on "The Marks of a Christian" with a sermon entitled "Sincerity."

How spiritual understanding of the law of God opens the door to individual growth and progress will be brought out at Christian Science services.

All services at the A&M Christian Church have been moved up an hour earlier, according to the Rev. Mr. Clarence Ketch.

At the Church of Christ Mr. James Fowler's sermon will deal with "The Parable of the Unjust Steward."

The Rev. Mr. Norman Anderson of the A&M Presbyterian Church will preach Sunday on "Moral Dilemmas."

"God's Plan of Salvation" is the topic for the sermon to be delivered Sunday by the Rev. Mr. R. D. Longshort, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Thomas Swygert will preach on "The Prodigal" at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church. The Luther League and the Church School Teachers Association will meet during the week.
