A FRIENDLY WELCOME—Judy Nuhn, Madalyn Pulver, Cynthia Thompson, and Rusty Skinner exchange greetings with B. A. Southwestern Telephone Co. Moving To New Building

New $60,000 Southwestern States Telephone Co. Building at 200 Nagle St. across from the Catholic Student Center has been completed and the business office will open there Monday, announced G. M. Brennam, Division manager. The 40 by 85 foot brick and fireproof structure will house a new inter-toll dialing system, which is slated to go into operation Jan. 8. Inter-toll dialing, Brennam explained, enables the operator to dial the number you give her without going through another operator. In other words she dials the number direct, as it is given to her. Automatic Electric Co. of Chicago is installing the new system. Other equipment, such as switch boards, is now scheduled to be moved into the new building Dec. 28. All College Station and Bryan phone numbers will have to be changed before the new system is complete, Brennam said. We hope to have this done before Jan. 8 he said. But other companies are having trouble meeting that deadline and it might be postponed until February.

When the phone numbers are changed, Victor will be the prefix for College Station and TAYlor for Bryan numbers.

A&M Students, Advisor Escape Injury In Crash

Three A&M students and their advisor escaped serious injury yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding turned over near Bloomington, Ill.

The Dairy Husbandry judging team, E. L. McLaughlin, Arnold Henricks and Charles Briggs and their coach, A. L. Darnell turned over early yesterday afternoon after leaving a Chicago dairy judging contest.

Henricks received an ankle injury. The extent of injury was not reported. Other occupants of the wrecked car were reportedly unharmed.

They were riding in a 1955 Ford station wagon owned by the college. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $1200-1500, and was not covered by insurance.

The team had been in judging contests in Waterloo, Iowa and Chicago, and were returning to A&M. They are expected to return the latter part of the week as soon as the automobile can be repaired enough for the trip.

Maybe He Should Try Wrestling

One thing is for certain—singing isn't a job for a sissy.

Down in New Orleans, known world-wide for its jazz and blues, a senior musical student at Tulane University, would be singing the blues himself—except that he can't sing for the next three weeks. Seems that he busted his jaw, for the second time, while hitting a high note.

The student reported that he would be able to keep his position on the Tulane Glee Club, as his director "had been through this before."

STRAIGHT POOP—Assistant Coach Phil Cutchin takes time out to demonstrate the finer points of blocking to the Fish team in yesterday's practice. The Fish tangle with the rough Baylor Cubs here Thursday night at 7:30.

Ingenuity Saves Day

American ingenuity was pressed into play on the campus yesterday as date tickets ran the gauntlet of demand.

Facing the ever growing crowd of anxious and worried Aggies, ticket sellers were faced with a serious problem when the 2,000 date tickets ran out at 10 a.m. yesterday.

Much disappointment was averted when some ingenious person, identity unknown, hit upon the idea of transferring some of the student tickets to serve as date tickets.

It took a little extra work on the part of the girls in the athletic office but it is imagined that they had rather stamp a few tickets than explain to the eager cadets that they would have to go without a date at the game this weekend.

It was reported that, although 2,000 date tickets is the usual number, the occasions where they were all sold have been few and far between.

Psychologists could have a merry time figuring the motive for the unusual sale of the date tickets.

It is true that the reserved seat tickets probably sold out because of the importance of the clash between A&M and TCU.

However, it may have been that the starting figure of only 2,000 available date tickets was released, or because all Aggies predict A&M to score a few touchdowns and want to keep the old touchdown tradition in practice.

Whatever the motive, the fact is established that just about every cadet who so desires may have a date, or rather date ticket, for the game Saturday afternoon.

While sitting in the stands beside the sweet lovely thing who is acting as date for the occasion, Aggies should offer thanks to that good old American ingenuity that made the difference between disappointment and a joyous weekend.

CS To Have Clean-Up Drive

College Station residents have been asked to cooperate with the first annual Clean-Up Drive, to be held Nov. 1-4 in the College Station area.

Co-sponsors of the drive are the College Station Development Association & Chamber of Commerce and the City of College Station.

The project was first brought up at the meeting of the Association, Monday, on the recommendation of the Public Health Committee. The motion was made and passed that the college hold two clean-up campaigns per year, one in November and one in May.

Walter S. Manning, chairman of the committee was asked to contact Ran Boswell, College Station city manager, to make arrangements.

Plans call for pickups from one certain area of the city each day. Any public health hazard reported to the city will be investigated also.

Non-Farm Work Shows Increase

Non-farm employment increased during September in the College Station-Bryan area, the number of such workers climbing to 12,720 as of Oct. 1.

Contract construction and retail trade furnished the bulk of new job opportunities during last month.

The number of jobseekers at the Bryan office of the Texas Employment Commission declined during September from 329 for August to 307 as of Oct. 1.

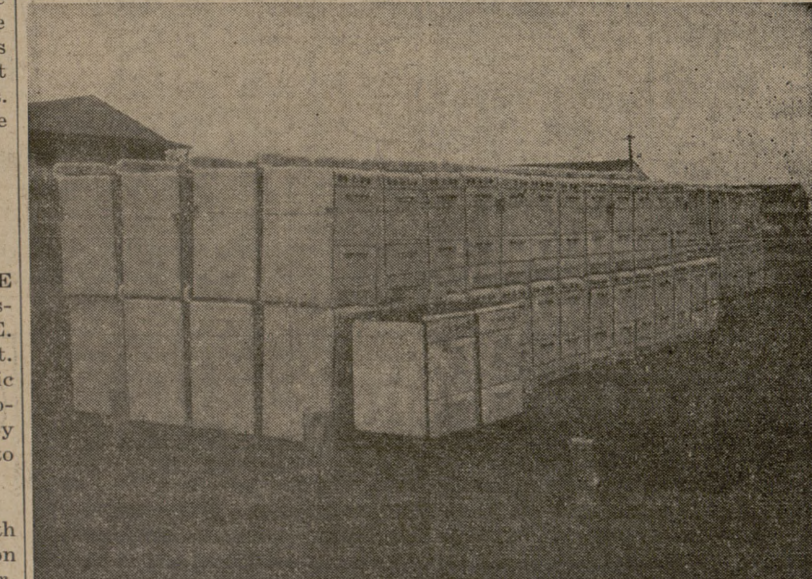

There were 89 claimants for unemployment insurance benefits during the past month; during August there were 107 claimants.

Persons wishing to have trash picked up should stack it in front of their homes on the day designated for their section of town, Boswell said. Some homes have trash pick up in the alleys, but most of them lack the facilities.

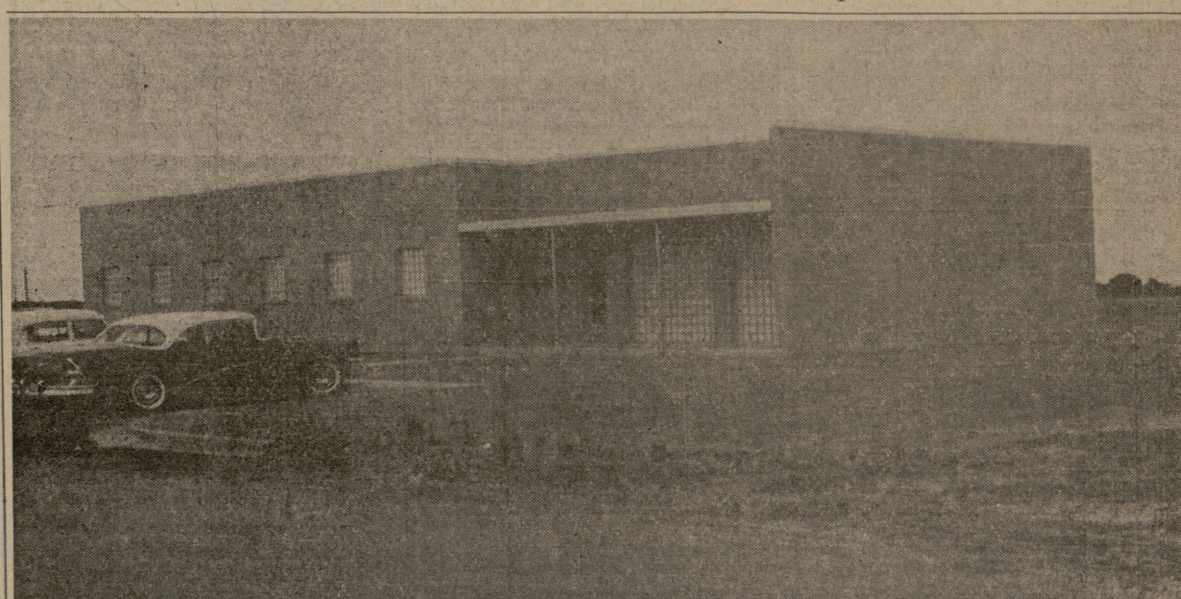

Schedule of pick-up is as follows: Nov. 1, Southside area; Nov. 2, area East of Highway 6; Nov. 3, North College Station, College View, and Culpepper addition and Nov. 4, final clean-up and pick-up in all areas.

City trucks will pick up any kind of trash including papers, garbage and clippings. Residents are urged to use this opportunity to clean the city and campus for the holiday season.
