

In Appreciation

The Association of Former Students is providing a way for all of their members to express appreciation for the "forgotten men" on the campus.

Having previously designated this month as Faculty Appreciation Month, the FSA sent out with their monthly news letter a card on which exes could write the name of some faculty member to whom they wished to extend appreciation and greetings. On the back of each card was enough space for a personal note, if such was desired to be included.

These cards were sent to the approximately 28,000 former students on the mailing list of the Association; so far 15 to 18-hundred cards have been returned, with greetings and appreciation directed to a large segment of the faculty at A&M.

The cards will be sent to each individual faculty member, with the first ones going out the first of next week. As more cards come in, these also will be mailed.

It doesn't look like a lot, just a printed card with a few lines written or typed on it. But to those staff members who see students come and go, it will probably mean a lot to know that what they had tried to present to their students during college days stuck with them enough to make them want to note their appreciation.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Battalion,
We would like to take this opportunity to congratulate the author of the editorial in today's paper (Wednesday) entitled "A Humble Spirit." He has unquestionably done more to degrade the school's reputation in one article than it has been possible for a good football team and a wholesome attitude of the "Twelfth Man" to build up this year.

It has been such attitudes and statements which have given A&M the reputation which it has in some circles today. Numerous results have risen as retaliations to such extreme "egoism"—such as Aggies and their property not being safe on other campuses in the area. Needless to say such stands have not, and will not make us popular in the eyes of all Southwestern (Southwest) Conference enthusiasts both old and young alike.

The editorial was certainly uncalled for and accomplished no worthwhile purpose. Sure, we're proud of our team and their accomplishments, but it has been said that "Actions speak louder than words."

Oceanography Prof Joins Research

Dr. Donald W. Hood, assistant professor of oceanography, has taken a leave of absence to join the Special Training Division of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, Oak Ridge, Tennessee, for approximately four months as an Oak Ridge research participant. The research program is designed to disseminate scientific and technical information to educational institutions by enabling faculty members to spend time conducting research in Oak Ridge laboratory facilities.

Ekfelt To Speak To English Profs

Dr. Fred E. Ekfelt of the English Department will present a paper to Workshop I tomorrow in Houston.

The Workshop, one of 11 set up over the state, consists of one school district, and 15 devoted to the integration of teaching English in high schools and colleges.

The program was begun about five years ago by the late Dr. T. M. Mayo of A&M, in an attempt to bring about closer relations in teaching between high schools and colleges.

Members of the English Department at A&M making the trip are S. S. Morgan, head, William Kadow, B. P. Targan and Ekfelt.
