UNITED NATIONS—Despite her boycott of the General Assembly, France yesterday attended one U. N. meeting, the 12-nation Trusteeship Council, and gave notice she would attend another Wednesday. In a gesture of protest, France withdrew her delegation from the General Assembly's current 10th session when it voted Sept. 30 to debate the question of self-determination for French-ruled Algeria.

VICENZA, Italy—NATO's newest defense link will be forged into place at ceremonies here today. Southern European Task Force will formally come into being under Brig. Gen. John H. Michaelis, World War II and Korean War veteran, with the raising of the NATO, Italian and American flags.

LONDON—A Laborite MP yesterday named a former British diplomat in Washington as the shadowy third man whose last minute warning gave Soviet spies Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean time enough to escape behind the Iron Curtain. Lt. Col. Marcus Lipton touched off an uproar in the House of Commons by charging that Harold Philby, then first secretary of the Washington Embassy, gave the tip-off just as a security net was closing in on the two Foreign Office diplomats.

WASHINGTON—The Navy conceded yesterday it lost a multimillion dollar "gamble" with F3H "Demon" jets by powering the planes with engines too weak to fly them safely. Investigators for a House Government Operations subcommittee termed it a foul-up that cost the government 200 million dollars and the lives of four pilots.

WASHINGTON—The AFL and CIO, preparing to merge into one big union, were reported yesterday to be embroiled in a dispute over leadership of the new organization's political department. The AFL was reported pushing for James L. McDevitt for the post. He is director of Labor's League for Political Education, the AFL's political branch. The CIO feels Jack Kroll, director of the CIO Political Action Committee, should at least be codirector.

Brazos USO Grows With Chest Money

(Ed. Note: This is the first in a series of articles on the agencies benefiting from your contribution to the A&M College-Station Community Chest-Red Cross Drive to be held Oct. 31 to Nov. 12.)

The Brazos County unit of the United Services Organization has come a long way since last year when they were a small group of local people and Bryan Air Force Base personnel anxious to see the USO restored to the place held during World War II before the base was de-activated.

Mrs. Troy P. Wakefield, Mrs. J.

C. Culpepper, and F. W. Hensel were included in the committee that set up the organization in Bryan once more. Temporary quarters were organized and the Bryan and College Station Community Chests were asked for donations.

With these beginnings and full cooperation from BAFF personnel, the USO once more became quite popular.

A full time worker, Mrs. I. W. Kernodle, was hired, and permanent quarters were set up in a house at the corner of West 26 and Sims St. in Bryan.

Through a program of regular weekend meetings the USO entertains many of the Air Force service men who have, up until this time had few places to go. Voluntary junior and senior Hostesses help entertain with programs, parties and refreshments.

This year $600 of the Drive's $12,100 goal will be turned over to the USO for furthering their program.

(Tomorrow this series will continue with a summary of the activities of the College Station Youth Activities Committee.)

Correction

The Battalion would like to correct one item which ran in yesterday's paper concerning the SCONA delegates from A&M. There will be eight delegates from A&M and two from all other colleges. The story said there would be only two delegates from A&M.

CADET SLOUCH by James Earle

57 Cadets

Distinguished AS Students Named

Fifty-seven students have been designated as distinguished Air Force ROTC students, according to Col. Henry Dittman, PAS.

"This designation means," Col. Dittman said, "the student will be offered the opportunity to apply for a regular air force commission."

To receive such a designation a cadet must have demonstrated outstanding qualities of leadership while participating in recognized campus activities; he must have attained an academic standing in the upper 25 per cent of his graduating class or among the upper 10 per cent in military subjects; he must be of high moral character and possess definite aptitude for military service and be recommended by both civilian and military professors.

The following students have been designated as distinguished military students:

Arthur W. Adams, Tom W. Brumfield Jr., Donald P. Novak, Robert W. Sears, William H. Sellers and Ray E. Stratton.

Robert W. Young, Billy B. Bedford, Dwight Brown Jr., Derry E. Burleson, Richard E. Gentry, Alan S. Greer and Ernest F. Biehunko.

Winners Given In Aggie Rodeo Held Last Week

Cowboys from universities and colleges all over the state journeyed here and then left after the winnings of the All-Aggie Rodeo were divided up this weekend.

All-around cowboy award ended in a tie between James Dickey and Wane Ward. The first place prize was a blanket, and second place prize was a Whittens Hat.

Other winners in the rodeo were Dickey, steer wrestling; Sonny Presnes, bull riding; Wane Ward, bareback; Don Turner, tie down; Freddy Snowden, ribbon roping; and Linda Deen, barrel race.

Profits from the rodeo will be used by the Saddle and Sirlain Club, sponsors of the rodeo, to help send student judging teams to national shows all over the Midwest, said Ken Killion, president of the club.

Approximately 75 contestants were entered in the three-show rodeo.

Letter Jacket Lost By Baylor Student

A letter has been received by Dr. David H. Morgan, president, from a Baylor student who lost a letter jacket while attending the A&M-Baylor football game here Saturday.

The jacket, which was taken from a bus, is maroon with gold sleeves. It has a small gold ridge down the sleeves and a letter "M" on it with one stripe. The pockets are trimmed with gold and it is a reseruable jacket.

If any A&M student knows the whereabouts of he jacket, it can be returned to Morgan or to Artie Sinclair at 1511 Dretton in Waco.

Batt Asks Opinions On 12th Man Bowl

Although no date has been set for the annual 12th Man Bowl, sponsored by the Student Life Committee, the game will be played.

Arrangements are now being made for recommendation to the SLC, by a committee headed by Glenn Buell. But, before the next meeting of the SLC, students have a chance to express themselves on a point that has bothered the committee.

The problem concerns what students will comprise the two opposing teams in the classic. Before, the teams were army ROTC and air force ROTC students, with some civilian students on both teams. This year, however, many civilian students have expressed a desire to pit their own team against a combined Corps team. This idea brought forth the fear that such a contest would tend to split the Corps students from civilian students.

The major worry expressed by students interested in seeing this year's game be a big success is that splitting the student body would be very bad for the school. In order to find out what students, both Corps and civilian, think about who should make up the competing teams and what effect dividing the student body, if this is recommended, into Corps and civilian for the game would have, The Battalion is asking for opinions from students. All opinions expressed will be turned over to Buell's committee for whatever use of them the committee desires. (See COMMISSIONING, Page 2)

Basic Students To Meet With Advisor

All New Basic Division students, regardless of curriculum, will meet with their faculty advisor Nov. 1, at 4 p.m., announced Acting Dean, C. H. Ransdell.

Each new student was assigned a Faculty Advisor and a meeting place was designated during New Student Week. The Basic Division office has designated advisors and meeting rooms by a postal card to those few late registrants and otherwise irregular students.

All Pre-Vet Medicine students are to meet with Dr. Jaggi in Room 110 of the new Vet. Medicine Building before dividing into smaller groups.

This is an important meeting and all New Basic Division students should attend. Roll will be taken.

A&M Spirit Featured In Morgan's Speech

Dr. David H. Morgan, speaking at the commissioning of cadet officers yesterday in White Coliseum, told the 478 cadets officers and the rest of the Corps assembled for the ceremonies some of the features of Aggie spirit.

The students were told that they had the advantage over their predecessors by inheriting a Corps of Cadets reorganized two years ago and designed for the "second half of the twentieth century." Dr. Morgan said, "They have provided the framework; you have the responsibility of developing it into a living, dynamic organization and not a dream to put to words on paper."

The president emphasized the responsibility that is imposed upon each cadet officer. "With your acceptance of the commission comes responsibility. You will not be as free as you were. You will learn one of the facts of life—the higher you go the more the responsibility and the less the freedom."

"In exchange for relinquishing this freedom," he said, "you should derive an inner satisfaction of being part of a living, growing organism, of contributing to its growth—but knowing that, in addition to your being a better man for having been in the Corps, the Corps will be better because of you."

Dr. Morgan asked, "What makes this Aggie Spirit which is known around the world?" In seeking an answer, he said, "We know that it exists," and then proceeded to touch upon some of the factors which make a "Good Aggie."

The first factor pointed out was the strong academic program at A&M. Dr. Morgan explained that while some students professed to be "Good Aggies," they do not realize "that education is our primary function and that knowledge is a prime requisite for a 'Good Aggie'."

"The best program for leadership development and character training that can be found in the country"—the Corps—was the second factor. "I have heard that 'Ole Army has gone to the dogs,' the president said. "Old Army is gone—but not to the dogs. It has given way to 'New Army,' he said, "but it has left a rich heritage for New Army to equal or excel."

The students were told that "all is not perfect." Some students have not carried out their responsibilities to the Corps, he said. "The Corps comes first. It is more important than any individual. Since ROTC is now elective, it is a privilege and not a right to be a member of the Corps. The privilege of remaining must be earned."

After mentioning other factors in the composition of a "Good Aggie," which included the civilian program, the student personnel program, student publications program, religious influence, intramural program, Former Student and Mothers' Clubs, and the Basic Division, Dr. Morgan closed with one last factor—tradition. "We have here at A&M traditions that are the finest that will be found in the country. Although some practices, labeled "tradition" have periodically developed which should be

Two Students Suspended Last Week

The Commandant's Office has released several disciplinary cases handled during the past week.

Of the cases tried, two sophomore students were suspended, one for theft and the other for unauthorized command of freshmen after taps while keeping them at a brace.

The student tried for theft of money, admitted stealing from his fellow students over a period of time. He was caught after taking $10 from a student's room Tuesday night. He was a member of Squadron 5, and was suspended for the remainder of the school year.

A suspended student must leave the campus within 48 hours, or sooner, if so directed, and cannot appear on the campus while under the suspension.

The other suspended sophomore, a member of A Ordnance, also was suspended for the remainder of the school year. He was required to leave the campus and Corps dorms were placed off limits to him.

In other cases tried, the first sergeant of A Armor was reduced to the grade of private for authorizing extra drill. All freshmen were ordered to perform extra duty by marching.

Seventeen sophomores in the Band were camped until the end of the semester and placed on probation for the remainder of the year for marching down the quadrangle of the East Area at 3 a.m. playing "Texas Fight."

Two other sophomores, one from A Chemical Corps and the other from Squadron 22, were placed on conduct probation for the remainder of the year and given an official reprimand for "conduct unbecoming to a cadet."

The two students were involved in a fight three weeks ago at the North Gate area.
