The Salvation Army will receive $750 of the Chest's $12,100 goal this year.

A world-wide organization, the Salvation Army provides help to the homeless, the destitute and the alcoholics of Brazos County. They visit hospitals, provide care and friendship for unmarried mothers, send children to summer camp, and distribute toys and food to the underprivileged during the holiday season.

The Army supplies assistance to jail prisoners and their families, help parolees find jobs, and locates missing persons.

Wilber J. Lee, chairman of the Brazos County Service unit, said "the local unit spends funds as they are needed without having to go through state or national offices. We do not try to take over any field already cared for; we just provide money when it is needed."

Recent cases cared for in Brazos county include providing food vouchers to several poverty-stricken families, giving hospitalization to sick laborers, and providing room and board for travelers without funds.

Pits Cattle-Guard Destroyed Twice

A complaint has been received concerning what appears to be willful destruction of the cattle-guard at the entrance to the road leading to the clay pits off of old highway 6.

The persons who have the property rented to graze cattle have had the guard destroyed twice this school year. With the guard crossing the ditch there removed, cars have, in order to get out of the clay pits area, had to cross the ditch at a shallow place—and in so doing have torn down the fence.

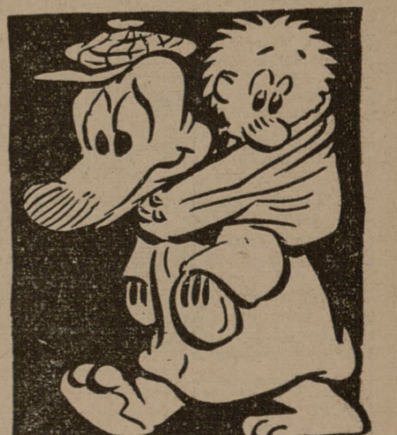

Some of the cattle which have escaped have not yet been found. Renters of the property have said that the area will be posted against anyone using the grounds if the destruction of the guard and the fence is not stopped.

They asked that the persons, who probably are A&M students since the clay pits area is a favorite of Aggies, stop the destruction without the necessity of them having to go to college officials about the matter.
