Aggies' Sudden Rally Stuns Owls

1. Takes more than one man to haul down Aggie halfback John Crow as he moves for yardage against the Rice Owls in Houston last Saturday. A&M won in a last-minute, four-minute spurt 20-12.

2. Things are looking bad for A&M when this picture was snapped. The Aggies were down 12-0 and time was running out. The score board (which is out of focus) showed only 5:46 left. Two minutes later, however, the Aggie bench was going wild as the Farmers began to really fight.

3. Two unidentified Aggies make Rice's highflying halfback Paul Zipperlen do a split during action in Saturday's game. Zipperlen was the lad who did a lot of damage, scoring both Owl touchdowns and intercepting a pass to stop an A&M drive.

Battalion Sports Editor

A&M's "little bunch of ragged-rump boys" erased a 12-0 lead, broke Rice's 10-year domination, and darted into the seventh spot among the nation's top elevens—all in 46 seconds last Saturday.

The Aggies moved into the No. 7 position on the International News Service football poll this week just behind Notre Dame. TCU was ranked 8th.

Varsity footballers took the day off yesterday, and some of them took another look at the game films just to make sure the outcome of the battle hadn't changed.

On film the Owls took a 12-0 lead as they had Saturday, but Don Watson was quick to calm the viewer's nerves.

"Don't go away anybody, we're gonna' beat the heck out of 'em in a minute," cracked Watson, who was a surprise starter at quarterback against Rice.

Coach Paul Bryant, who made many weary journeys across the field to congratulate winning coaches last year, found things much easier Saturday. He shook hands with a still-dazed Jess Neely at mid-field from a comfortable perch atop three Aggie linemen.

"I'm not surprised at anything we do," said Bryant in answer to a question about the greatest rally in SWC history, "Rice outplayed us badly, and in all fairness to the Rice coaches, they deserved to win. We're very, very lucky."

"But no one is as lucky as I am for having the opportunity of coaching a bunch of kids like ours," said Bryant after the game.

Lloyd Taylor, who's about as big as a minute, was the man of the hour for A&M Saturday. Taylor scored all the points that pushed the Aggies out in front, 14-12, a lead they never lost.

The 5-8, 163-pound sophomore halfback slashed into the end zone to climax a drive, that he'd sparked with a 58-yard gallop, for the Aggies first score.

Seconds later A&M's Jack Powell booted a slow-rolling inside kick and end Gene Stallings, who was also a standout in the Aggie victory, covered the ball on the Rice 44.

Jimmy Wright called Taylor's number again, and heaved a tremendous 43-yard pass to little No. 45, who took it around the Owl five and raced over the goal line untouched.

Jack Pardee intercepted King

Hill's pass following the ensuing kick-off and rumbled to the Rice 8. Watson went over for the tally with 1:09 still remaining.

"The good Lord was with us," said fullback Roddy Osborne in the dressing room after the game, "I knew our team could do it."

Picking standouts for the Aggies isn't easy, as Bryant put it, "It takes 11 men to play football you know." Stallings played his best game of the year, intercepting two crucial passes, falling on the on-side kick that proved to be the game's turning point and catching a pass from Wright with two men hanging around his neck.

Lloyd Hale trapped Hill for a 9-yard loss in the second quarter, and together with Jim Stanley dropped Pinky Nesbit for a 12-yard loss in the third stanza.

Trees Start Falling As Work Begins On Annual Bonfire

Work on the world's largest bonfire, scheduled to burn Nov. 23, got underway yesterday, with one load of wood reaching the air force drill field.

One senior said a lot of freshmen were on hand in the cutting area, but there were not many sophomores or juniors. Freshmen were using the ax because of the shortage of juniors.

The center pole is scheduled to go up today. It is 75 feet long and will be spliced and placed eight feet in the ground.

Guard posts will be set up on the campus starting tomorrow at 7 p.m. and lasting until next Wednesday.

Wood for guard fires should be obtained from the drill field where stacks will be provided for this purpose. No wood is to be gathered from construction projects, buildings or private homes.

Radios will be placed at vantage points over the campus Friday. These radios, which are to be operated by authorized Signal Corps personnel, will co-ordinate the efforts of out-guards and the rest of the bonfire guards and college officials. Suspicious cars should be reported to the radio operator in that particular vicinity and he will relay the details of the car's description to other points on the campus.

A and B Composite and Squads 22 and 23 will guard the bonfire when the main body of the Corps is scheduled for mess. Members of athletic outfits, who are not training for their sport, will aid the composite units in their guard each evening.

The campus has been laid off into five areas for guarding. These are, Area I, the bonfire itself; Area II, roving from the traffic circle to the System Administration Building and over to dormitory 11; Area III, all North entrances to the campus; Area IV, West entrances to the campus and Kyle Field; and Area V, the Academic Building and roving to the northwest area.

Guards and their areas for the first day of guarding tomorrow

WEATHER TODAY

Continued cloudy with possible rain showers is the forecast. Yesterday's 84 degrees dropped to 74 degrees last night. Temperature at 10:30 a.m. today was 79 degrees.

are as follows:

Hart and Bizzell Halls, Area I from 7-11 p.m.

Mitchell Hall, Area I from 11 p.m. to 3 a.m.

Leggett Hall, Area I from 3-7 a.m.

(Guards and their areas will be printed one day ahead of time in The Battalion.)

AS ROTC Test Dates Given by McCannon

Major John McCannon, test control officer for Air Force ROTC training at A&M has announced that any student who desires to apply for an advanced Air Force ROTC contract during January, 1956, or September, 1956, must take the Air Force Officer Qualification Tests, commonly called "Stanine Tests" during one of the following testing periods:

Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 19 and 20.

Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 3 and 4.

Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 10 and 11.

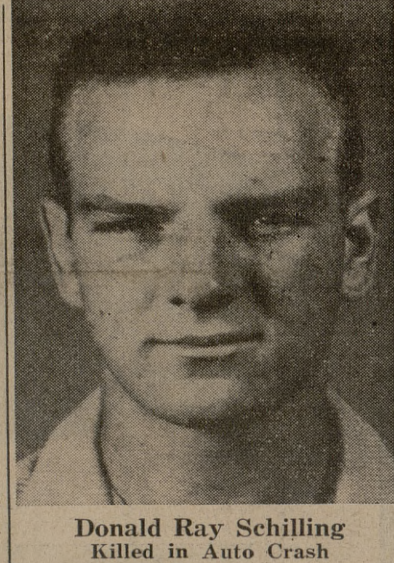

These tests are being given on Saturday and Sunday afternoons, according to Maj. McCannon, in order that a greater number of students might be free to take them without interference from scheduled work. Three testing periods have been scheduled instead of one in order that all applicants may have an opportunity for testing.

The periods scheduled are the only time the tests will be given

ACS To Hear Address Tonight

Dr. Otto Eisenschiml of Chicago will address the A&M section of the American Chemical Society tonight on the subject "Solving a Chemical Murder Case."

There will be an informal dinner in the honor of Dr. and Mrs. Eisenschiml at 6:15 p.m. in the Memorial Student Center. Section members and their wives will be guest at the dinner. A social hour will be held in the home of Mrs. C. W. Burchard, 800 Aberdeen Place, after Dr. Eisenschiml's talk.

A&M Student Killed In Wreck

Donald Schilling Victim; Two Other Aggies Hurt

By DAVE McREYNOLDS
Battalion Staff Writer

Silver Taps was held last night for Donald Ray Schilling, 19, of Dayton, who was killed in a head-on collision late Sunday night on the La Porte Highway inside the Pasadena, Tex., city limits. Schilling, a sophomore civilian chemical engineering major, was A&M's first traffic fatality of the year.

The crash that took Schilling's life also injured two other A&M students that had spent the Corps Trip weekend with him. These two, neither of whom were hurt seriously, were Bobby R. Pipes, sophomore mechanical engineering major from Dayton, and Ira Ford Flurry Jr., sophomore animal husbandry major from Liberty. Both suffered cuts and bruises.

Also in the car was Miss Barbara Reidland, Schilling's fiancée and last year's freshman sweetheart at A&M. Miss Reidland suffered cuts and bruises.

The students were taking the girl back to her dormitory at the University of Houston and had then planned to return to school. The Schilling car was heading west when the accident happened, crashing head-on into a car driven by a Pasadena youth, Richard Hooper. He and two friends reportedly escaped serious injury.

Witnesses expressed the belief that there was a two-car race going east on the highway when the collision occurred.

Schilling is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Schilling of Dayton; one brother, Wilbur; and two married sisters, Mrs. A. E. Matthews and Mrs. R. K. Mace.

Funeral services will be held at 3 tomorrow afternoon in the First Methodist Church in Dayton.

F. C. Bolton Hired For Electric Post

F. C. Bolton, president emeritus of the college, was employed by the College Station City Council to make a survey of the city's electrical system at the Council's monthly meeting held last night.

Bolton will make his report to the council before they decide on proposed changes and improvements in the system.

In other action, the council appointed G. K. Vetter to the City Planning Commission in the place of A. C. Baker who was killed recently while cleaning a gun.

The city accepted the annual audit, and Mayor Ernest Langford announced he was mailing copies of the audit to all tax-payers in the city.

Community Chest Extends '55 Drive

The A&M College-College Station Community Chest-Red Cross drive has been extended until next Saturday, Robert A. Houze, chairman of the drive announced today.

$10,237.62 of the $12,100 goal had been collected at the last count yesterday, with odds and ends still coming in from all over the city and campus.

Only ten departments of the 100 on the campus have contributed 100 per cent. Several have not completed their report and more lack only one or two contributions before they become 100 per cent. Out of 83 business houses in College Station, 51 have contributed. In addition, 20 Bryan business houses have given to the Chest Drive.

Last week's bad weather slowed up the volunteer women solicitors who were to cover all homes whose occupants had no other chance to contribute. As a result, no report has been made from this source.

"We feel very confident that we will make the goal, and perhaps go over it," said Houze. "The response already has been as good as in any past year."

January Graduates

All January graduates will meet in room 2-A of the Memorial Student Center Wednesday night at 7:15 p.m. according to Office of Student Activities.

It is imperative that all members of the graduating class be present as commencement exercises will be discussed.

Ag T-Association To Meet Tonight

There will be a T-Association meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in room 3-D of the MSC. The topic to be discussed is the fall banquet. Coffee and donuts will be served.

WHAT NOW, COACH?—Rice quarterback King Hill seems to have a questioning look about what his next move should be. A&M fullback and linebacker Jack Pardee is ready with an answer. "Fall." Moments later Hill obeyed Pardee's emphatic command as he ate mud. A&M won the game in the final four minutes with a dramatic comeback that left 68,000 fans at the game stunned and limp.
