Steers Hand Frogs SWC Title With Stunning Upset Of Aggies

"Oh, somewhere in this favored land the sun is shining bright; the band is playing somewhere, and somewhere hearts are light, and somewhere men are laughing and little children cheer, but there is no joy in Aggeland, we'll just wait 'til next year."

Coach Eddie Price of Texas milked a stunning 21-6 victory out of his contented Orange Cows on Pilgrim's Thanksgiving to knock A&M out of its first championship in 15 years.

The defeat, first since A&M's opening 0-21 loss to UCLA, handed the TCU Horned Frogs the Southwest Conference title along with the Cotton Bowl bid.

"They just flat whipped us and whipped us good," summed up Coach Paul Bryant, after the game. "I mean real good. We were fortunate to score at all."

The Aggies finished the season with an impressive 7-2-1 record despite the last game effort by the Longhorns, and wound up second in SWC standings with four wins, one loss and a tie. It marks the end of A&M's finest season in 12 years.

Pardee finished sixth among SWC ball carriers with 452 yards collected on 83 tries. He had a 5.4 yards-per-carry average. John Crow was 13th in rushing with 332 yards on 66 carries, and Loyd Taylor 15th with 307 yards. Taylor was third in place kicking with 13 out of 15.

Quarterback Jimmy Wright wound up seventh in passing with 368 yards, six touchdowns and 15.3 yards gained every time he connected. Roddy Osborne and Ed Dudley finished fourth and fifth respectively in loop punting, while senior halfback Gene Henderson was seventh.

Coach Bryant had predicted the Thanksgiving bout with the Steers to be A&M's toughest of the season. It was.

"Whether we get beat 60 points in this game, though, these boys will still be No. 1 in my book," Bryant said on the last day of practice before the game. For a team who wasn't supposed to win more than one or two games this season, and end up in the conference cellar, who could blame him.

A&M was held completely in check by the hard charging Longhorn line, and managed to gain only 97 yards all day, lowest offensive production of the season. Texas ground out 295 yards rushing and 96 passing to total up 391 yards for its afternoon efforts. A&M could get only three first downs, and those came in the second quarter on its lone TD drive.

The Cadets twice stopped Texas drives inside their own 10-yard line in the first half, then jumped to a quick 6-0 lead three minutes before halftime. A&M went 80 yards in only seven plays climaxed by Wright's 1-yard smash into the end zone.

Wright's passes covered 57 yards of the distance to the Texas goal as he passed to Crow for 13, Dudley for 10 and Crow for 34 more to the Longhorn 1-yard stripe.

Only 1:45 remained after A&M kicked off following its touchdown, but Texas was not to be denied. End Menan Schriever grabbed the Aggie kick on his 40 and returned nine yards. Joe Clements came in and promptly fired a pass to halfback Ed Hawkins for 28-yards and a first down on the Aggie 18. Clements found Schriever, the SWC's leading pass snatcher, in the end zone and hit him for the score. Johnny Elam kicked the extra point to put Texas in front 7-6.

Texas wound things up with a flourish in the fourth quarter. Wright fumbled on the Aggie 46 to begin the final period of play, and Texas recovered. Charley Brewer, Walter Fondren and Hawkins set up a first down on the A&M 13. Hawkins blasted over six and Fondren rambled over left tackle for the score with 10:40 left in the game. Fondren kicked the extra point to make it 14-6.

Center Johnny Tatum intercepted Wright's pass a few minutes later to set the Longhorns up in business again on the Aggie 35. Hawkins circled end for 30 yards. Fondren picked up two, Womack added one and Hawkins bounced through the right side of the line for the score with 8:17 remaining. Fondren's extra point kick was good again.

The longest run of the day, John Crow's 37-yard dash in the first period, won't go into the record books because of a penalty on the play.

Three Fencers Place In Meet

An A&M fencer placed in the top three winners in each weapon here last Saturday and Sunday in the Men's Invitational Fencing Meet.

Carl Hill of A&M took third place in the open foil and second in the open epee, while Bill Fink garnered third place honors in the open sabre.

Medaled cigarette lighters were awarded to the top three men in each weapon.

In the open foil Gene Allen, Hardin Simmons, was first; second, Jack Baird, Houston Fencing Club; third, Hill of A&M. In the open epee Fred Sklar of Rice was first, Hill of A&M, second, and John Curry, Houston, third.

Bill Brown, Houston Fencing Club was first in the open sabre; Curry, Houston, second and Fink, A&M, third.

Ad Man Will Speak To Sigma Delta Chi

All A&M students and faculty have been invited by the A&M Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, to hear Dr. Melvin S. Hattwick, advertising director of Continental Oil Company (CONOCO) speak tonight at 7:30 on "Planning CONOCO's Advertising Program."

The meeting will be held in room 3D of the Memorial Student Center.

Dr. Hattwick is noted for his advertising work for CONOCO and also as an account executive in the Needham, Louis & Brorby, Inc., Advertising Agency of Chicago, Ill.

Sqd. 8 Grabs League Title, Stays Unbeaten

Squadron 8 retained its unbeaten status in freshman football by downing B-Infantry 14-0 and capturing its league title.

Squadron 17 took its league crown last week also, and has only one loss to mar its record so far this year.

Squadron 9 downed C-Infantry 13-0 in another freshman football game.

Speed and accuracy were enough to give A-Transportation a 17-14 edge over A-Quartermaster and put them in fine shape to take their basketball crown. The Transportation team is undefeated so far.

Fred Galley and John Ochterbeck led the A-TC offense with Don Weber, Bud Fichte and Don Hollister close behind. Paul Beckman and Robert Stephenson sparked the A-QMC attack.

JARRIN' JOHN CROW heads into the line against the Longhorns in Thursday's battle behind strong blocking by teammates. An unidentified Aggie and Loyd Hale (50), A&M center, take out the Longhorn's Herb Gray, who proved such a nemesis for Aggie up-the-middle power. Others for A&M are Jack Powell (77) and Bobby Marks (88). Coming up from his defensive halfback post is Texas' Delano Womack.

Congratulations!!
