

Scholarship Awards Given To Seven A&M Students

Seven A&M students in dairy-ing have received Herman F. Heep Scholarship Awards. The awards were presented by A. L. Darnell of the Dairy Husbandry Department. Recipients were Arnold F. Heinrich, Harvey Lee Richards Jr., William S. Coblenz, Martin L. Hoke, Phil C. Hurley, Arvil G. Newby and Gary Pepper.

Heinrich won the first-place senior award of $200 with a grade-point ratio of 2.512. An honor roll student at Schulenberg High School, he has been a distinguished student two semesters at A&M, and is a member of the National Dairy Cattle Judging Team.

Richards won the second-place senior award of $100, with a grade-point ratio of 2.279. Outstanding in athletics while at Harlingen High School, he received the Heep award during his sophomore year and a Borden scholarship during his senior year.

complete list of round-table chairmen and roving observers will be published in a later edition of The Battalion.

Expenses for the meeting are being met through $12,000 raised from 15 businessmen, firms and foundations in Texas. The entire program was designed, expense money raised, and operations handled by A&M students. John Jenkins, senior from Amarillo, is conference chairman.

Coblenz won the first-place junior award of $200 with a grade-point ratio of 2.30. At Harlandale High School he belonged to the Quill & Scroll Club, the Glee Club, played football and basketball and edited the school paper.

Hoke won the second-place junior award of $100 with a grade-point ratio of 2.0. At Denton High School he was a member of the National Honor Society, belonged to Future Farmers of America and the 4-H Club.

Hurley won the first-place sophomore award of $200 with a grade-point ratio of 2.147. He was salutatorian of his class at Yantis High School, and belonged to the 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America.

Newby won second-place sophomore award of $100 with a grade-point ratio of 1.611. At Springtown High School he was FFA Lone Star Farmer and FFA area vice-president. At A&M he received the Heep Scholarship during his freshman year.

Pepper received the freshman Heep award of $400 because of his four-year dairy work while attending Mt. Pleasant High School. There he was state vice-president of FFA, Area VI; and a member of the National Honor Society.

Heep, president of the Heep Oil Co., Austin, is a ranchman, owner of the Heep Jersey Farm at Buda, and is a breeder of Hereford cattle. He is a member of the Class of '17 at A&M, and a former president of the American Jersey Cattle Club.

Stray Pets Like TCU Schoolyard

By JIM BOWER
Battalion News Editor

One would think that the students at TCU would be in high spirits after winning the SWC football championship.

But judging by the lamenting articles in their school paper, they are in a sad state. We quote:

"At the rate things are going, Frogland should be changed to Animal-land. TCU has roving skunks, stray dogs and runaway cats (usually with kittens)." Looks like their feline friends aren't very fleet of foot.

We also see where the TCU college infirmary has requested that "students wanting sick excuses visit the infirmary between the hours of 3 to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday." What happens to those who don't have their ills on a time table?

SMU

Turning to the hilltop on the east side of Fort Worth, we see the Ponies engaged in a high-sounding sport—"intra-fraternity paint daubing."

It seems that the different fraternities have adopted the game of seeing which one could sling the most paint on the other's house. One of the fraternity presidents said that the only way out was "retaliation with the paint bucket."

Another student criticized the SMU Campus editorial for interfering in the matter before the Intra-Fraternal Council had a chance to act on the problem.

The best suggestion yet seems to be that of the above mentioned editorial in which the writer suggested that "the Cotton Bowl seats need sanding." Good idea—juvenile energy should be expanded in some useful way.

RICE

In a column by Nancy Angle in the Rice Thresher we find a rare bit of wisdom. To quote Miss Angle:

"The Oregon Daily Emerald said last week, that as far as they were concerned, Bear Bryant was the only eligible candidate for the title of 'Coach of the Year.'" Miss Angle added her congratulations "for a very great season."

UT

Texas University has an unusual situation. It seems that a female addition to the campus is nameless. The Daily Texan has made a plea for suggestions for a name for the "girl". Although nameless, she is to be admired. She said that she is the first of her mother's 25 children to ever attend college.

Speaking for herself, she said: "Hi there. I've got troubles. Can you help a poor girl out? You see, I don't have any name." Here's a clue—she is a two-month-old tan female dachshund "born in a sand-storm in West Texas."

BAYLOR

A front page editorial in the Baylor Lariat is bemoaning the fact that they are continually scooped on news because as they say, "divided loyalties", exist in Bear-land.

After listing five examples where the Lariat was discriminated against, they ask the question—WHY? Suggestion: Why don't you go out and see? You could always hire the famous private detective, Mike Hammer.

The Lariat also seems to be plagued with letters written to the editor but left unsigned. An editorial in the Lariat states that no letters will be printed unless they are signed. We hope the people who enter their "Letters To Santa" contest read this editorial since Santa might have a hard time deciding who gets what.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Battalion

I am in the Air Force now after completing my MS degree in Chemistry in June and want to tell you of a few incidents.

While I was in basic training at Lackland Air Force Base starting in early September, I had the pleasure of saluting one of our own lieutenants, Lt. D. W. Lane from Newton, class of '55 and a very good friend of mine. He seemed to be in top shape in his work which, I believe, was officer orientation. Of course he was sharp because he was an Aggie. It made me feel very good to salute officers that are that sharp, especially Aggies. Incidentally, all those rumors that lieutenants that graduate from A&M are "Big Deals" is not true in any degree. They act very orderly and are very nice to the enlisted men.

While I have been resting here at the Sheppard Air Force Base hospital, I had a three-day pass; and on one of the sunny afternoons, my dad and I decided to go out for a round of golf. No sooner than we registered and paid our green fee, a gentleman asked me if I was an Aggie (I had on my Aggie coveralls). I told him that I was in the class of '55. He said that (See LETTERS, Page 4)
