Fish Drill Team To Enter Competition at Purdue U.

A&M's Freshman Drill Team, commanded by Michael O. Farmer, Squadron 12 engineering freshman from San Antonio, will compete in a national invitational tournament at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., next month.

Competition will be held for both individual and team awards on Infantry Drill regulations at the Feb. 18 affair.

Practices for the drill team are being held every evening on the lot south of the Military Science Building this week. The team will practice under the lights on Kyle Field if it proves necessary to have additional practice.

Forty-five members will make the trip by air, accompanied by Capt. Joe Brusse of the Military Science Department, who is advisor for the Freshman Drill Team.

Sir Thomas Beecham
Famed Conductor To Appear Here Feb. 15

Sir Thomas Beecham

Famed Conductor Will Appear Here

By MUSIC EDITOR

Sir Thomas Beecham, who will conduct the Houston Symphony Orchestra here Feb. 15 in White Coliseum, is one of the great figures of the music world, whose fabulous personality is only matched by his fantastic musicianship.

Sir Thomas, who has developed a tremendous following on this side of the Atlantic during the past few years, will direct only three concerts in Texas this year. The Town Hall staff feels very fortunate in having him for this program and making available to the people of Central Texas this opportunity.

Never a formal-type conductor, Sir Thomas has the eccentricity of the English immortals and delights in living up to his own legend. He has done what he pleased and said what he pleased, and, by unorthodox methods and speech, has accomplished more for the musical life of his country than any other man of his time. He also has endeared himself to Texas audiences through his jokes between numbers and singing during numbers.

A man of many talents, Sir

Thomas has written his autobiography, "A Mingled Chime," which is an entertaining prelude to seeing him and hearing his music-making from the podium.

He has just arrived in New York, but will be in Houston in time to rehearse the Symphony Orchestra there in the typical Beecham program. He will conduct the orchestra in Houston Feb. 14, the day before his appearance with the Houston Symphony Orchestra at 8 p.m. here. His other Texas appearance will be a later one in Dallas with the Dallas Symphony Orchestra.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

"I take a job from scratch"

The Air Force introduced Forrest I. Hurst to communications. In 1953 he was Communications Officer at Lowry Air Force Base near Denver, Colorado. He was partially responsible for the communications setup of the President's "Summer White House," and in this assignment he met members of the local Bell telephone company.

"The telephone people I met," says Forrest, "were always helpful. I considered them the experts. They gave a very good impression of the Bell System. So three months before I was discharged I wrote to Indiana Bell for an interview, and subsequently I was hired as a Student Engineer."

Today Forrest is in Indiana Bell's Engineering Department, working with carrier facilities—the means by which a number of telephone calls can be sent simultaneously over one circuit.

Forrest is given the basic circuit and equipment requirements for a job. "My boss farms it out to me," Forrest says, "and I take it from scratch." Forrest does the complete engineering job. He writes the specifications, including wiring plans and the list of equipment for the job. Then the installers take over.

"I really feel that I'm contributing to the telephone business," Forrest says. "My wife does too. When we're in the car we get a kick out of driving by a job that I engineered. Nothing can compare with a career in a business that's growing as fast as the Bell System. It's the place to move ahead."

Forrest graduated in 1952 from Purdue University with an E.E. degree. His career is typical of those which exist in other Bell Telephone Companies, and in Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer has more information about Bell System companies.
