NEW OFFICES—A&M's dean of Student Personnel Services, Dr. Robert M. Kamm, has relocated in his new office on the second floor of the YMCA Building. Several other departments, including Student Publications, Student Affairs, Student Activities, and more, are awaiting completion of the basement of the building, where more offices will be located. The completion and moving will be finished, at the latest estimate, about the middle of next month.

Houstonians To Play

Band Dance Tomorrow

The annual Consolidated Band Dance will be held tomorrow night from 8 to 11.

The Houstonians, a 14-piece orchestra from Sam Houston State College, will provide music for the dance. Highlight of the evening will be presentation of the Band Sweetheart.

In addition to the presentation of the Sweetheart, entertainment will be provided by the "High Five," a combo made up of five band members. They are Tommy Short, Morris Parlain, Dwight Allen, Charles Voelter and Tommy Adams.

The "High Five" recently won a talent audition held here for the Baylor Talent Show scheduled later in the semester. Instrumentation of the combo includes three guitars, a bass fiddle and drums. The combo won the talent audition playing such numbers as "Lover," "Malgauena" and "September Song."

Five finalists have been chosen to compete for the honor of Band Sweetheart. The Sweetheart will be chosen at the dance. The finalists are Mildred Taylor of Dallas, sponsored by Clint White; Cynthia Plakard of San Antonio, sponsored by Gary December; Madeline Lee of Victoria, sponsored by Tommy Short; Janice Graves of Marshall, sponsored by Kenneth George and Lita St. Clair of Hochheim, sponsored by Firmin Le Pori.

Decorations for the dance include a false ceiling made of crepe paper streamers with streamers hanging down to the floor to separate the tables. At one end of the dance floor, there will be a life-size replica of a fat bass horn player playing his horn with hearts coming out instead of notes.

The committee for the dance is composed of Tommy Short, co-ordinator; Dwight Brown, finance; Bill Swann, Sweetheart Selection; Wendell Mounce, Orchestra and Decorations; Cecil Steward, Guests and Programs and Roger Alexander, Intermission Entertainment.

Soviet Union To Be Topic For Lecture

Dr. Albert C. Hall, general manager of the research laboratories division, Bendix Aviation Corporation, Detroit, Mich., will present a graduate lecture on "Progress of Automation in the Soviet Union" at 8 p.m. Tuesday night in the lecture room of the Biological Sciences Building, Dr. Ide P. Trotter, dean of the Graduate School, has announced.

One of three American engineers who visited Russia last summer, Dr. Hall, a native Texan who received his B.S. at A&M in 1936 with an Electrical Engineering major, was one of the first American engineers to see Soviet plants and laboratories since the end of World War II.

The public is invited to attend the lecture, Dr. Trotter said.

Judging Team Wins Honors In Contest

The A&M Junior Livestock Judging Team, coached by J. W. Gossett, copped fourth place in a recent contest held in conjunction with the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth. There were 15 teams entered in the contest.

The team placed second in sheep and fifth in beef cattle judging. Bud Fichte was high individual in the quarter horse contest while Bobby Wakefield took fifth high in sheep judging.

Joe Ross was ninth high individual in the over-all contest and placed fourth in sheep judging. Gossett also judged and helped to conduct the Junior College Livestock Judging Contest while at the show.

The first six teams were Iowa State, Oklahoma A&M, Kansas State, Texas A&M, Arizona and Texas Tech.

Military Ball

Teddy Phillips and Monica Lewis will be featured at the annual Military Ball to be held in Sbis Hall March 17. Committees have been appointed and are now working out plans for the dance. Chairmen of the committees are Dance Committee, Glen Rice; Decorations Committee, Don Burton; and Program Committee, Ralph Cole.

Ousted Negro Coed Files To Re-Enter University

BIRMINGHAM—(AP)—The University of Alabama's first Negro student, Autherine Lucy of Birmingham, yesterday asked a federal judge to compel school authorities to allow her to resume her studies there which ended in rioting on the campus earlier this week.

U. S. Dist. Judge Hobert Grooms set the new case for hearing here Feb. 29.

Miss Lucy, 26-year-old secretary, was excluded from classes by the university's board of trustees after rioting crowds had rocked and egged school officials and the Negro student Monday. The school contends the board action was a safety measure.

In a companion petition, she asked the court to order Dean of Women Sarah Healy to assign her to a dormitory room and to allow her to eat in university dining halls. She was not given dormitory space when she was admitted Feb. 1.

Hearing on the dormitory and dining hall petition, which asks $1,000 damages, was set for Feb. 29 also.

In yesterday's petition Miss Lucy charged that she was excluded solely because of her race or color, in defiance of an order from Judge Grooms last July, under which the student was admitted to the university last week.

She termed her suspension from classes "a cunning stratagem" to deny her the right to attend her state university.

She asked $2,000 damages, and that Dr. O. C. Carmichael, university president; William F. Adams, dean of admissions, and the 10 trustees to be held in contempt and remain "in prison for a period to be determined by this court, or by permitting" her to resume classes.

Filed by Arthur D. Shores, attorney for Miss Lucy, the petition also asserted her suspension was not necessary for her safety or the safety of others.

It added that no one was injured during the mass demonstrations at the school, and that police protection "is available and adequate."

The Birmingham secretary charged further that her suspension was "to appease persons having no connection with the University of Alabama, who wish to defy and prevent the enforcement of the order of this court."

She also charged the school officials and trustees "failed and refused to take action within their power to prevent persons having no connection" with the school from interfering.

In a press conference after the petitions were filed, Shores said Miss Lucy would not return to the university until after the Feb. 29 hearing here "unless the trustees rescind their suspension before that date."

"And if she goes back," he added, "she will not attempt to eat or sleep there until the case involving dormitory and dining hall privileges is settled."

Smith To Play For Junior Ball Here Feb. 25

Bob Smith and his Orchestra will be featured at the annual Junior Class Banquet and Ball to be held Feb. 25.

The banquet will be held from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Chester Lauck, Continental Oil Corp. public relations representative, will be guest speaker.

Tickets will remain on sale until Feb. 16, and can be obtained from battalion sergeant-majors or dormitory representatives. Admission will be $2 for the dance, if class dues have been paid and $3 if not. The banquet will be $1.50 per plate.

All juniors should turn in pictures of girls for Junior Sweetheart candidates before 5 p.m. Feb. 20 at Student Activities Office in Goodwin Hall.

Cellist, Pianist To Give Recital

The MSC Recital Series will present a cellist and a pianist at 2 Sunday afternoon in the assembly room of the Memorial Student Center.

Miss Mary Spaulding will be at the piano and Mrs. Phyllis Young is the cellist. Miss Spaulding is an instructor of piano at the University of Texas and Mrs. Young is guest lecturer of music at the University.

Both Miss Spaulding and Mrs. Young are members of the Pi Kappa Lambda and Sigma Alpha Iota honorary musical fraternities. These two young artists have made many solo and chamber music appearances. This season their tour will include San Antonio, Houston, Austin and Corpus Christi.

Recital Series season tickets will be accepted for the performance. Regular admission tickets are 75 cents and may be purchased at the door.

NO MISTAKE—There will be no mistake as to where the third group lives after this sign is erected on the dormitory walls. Several other signs on dormitories throughout both Corps areas designate battalions, groups or regiments. Pictured left to right are Dennis Heitkamp, Robert Barlow, John Sandhop, Jack Cook, Tom Connor, Frank Waddell and Wayne Young.

Meetings and Forums

RE Leaders Arrive Soon

By JIM NEIGHBORS
Battalion Staff Writer

Religious Emphasis Week leaders will begin arriving on the campus Feb. 18 in preparation for discussion meetings and forums beginning the following day.

Dr. Morris Wee, pastor of the Bethel Lutheran Church, University of Wisconsin, will be the main convocation speaker for the morning services in Guion Hall.

Rev. John Paul Carter, of the Canterbury Association, Austin, will take charge of discussion and forum groups in Walton Hall. He will be available for conferences during the week and will live in Walton.

Carter, a native of Clarksburg, W. Va., received his B.A. degree in philosophy from William and Mary. He received his B.D. degree from Virginia Theological Seminary and was granted his Masters from the University of the South.

While in college, Carter was selected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, and was president of the Canterbury Association. He was also a member of Eta Sigma Phi, Clayton Grimes Biological Society and Student Religious Union.

He came to Texas in 1952 as Episcopal Chaplain to students at the University of Texas. He has taught two courses as Canterbury Bible Professor and now serves on the Board of Trustees for Grace Hall.

Rev. Luke Bolin, associate minister of the East Dallas Christian Church, Dallas, will live in Leggett Hall and lead forums and discussion groups for Milner and Leggett Halls and be available for conferences during the week. These meetings will be held in the Leggett Hall lounge.

Bolin received his B.D. degree from Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind., and served as an Army Chaplain for four years during World War II. He became pastor of the First Christian Church, Bay City, Tex., and later went to the East Dallas church.

He is a thirty-second degree mason, a member of the Dallas Hear-

Deadline Saturday

Saturday will be the last day for students to enroll for the spring semester. Students who are planning to add courses are also reminded to take care of this before Saturday. No new courses may be added after that time. Courses may be dropped with no grade until Saturday week.

Weather Today

CLEAR

Clear cool weather is forecasted for College Station today. No cold fronts predicted but the clear skies will lower the temperature. Yesterday high of 48 degrees dropped to a low of 41 degrees. Temperature at 10:30 this morning was 45 degrees.

Faculty Meeting

The regular A&M spring faculty meeting will be held in Guion Hall, Tuesday, Feb. 14 at 4 p.m. according to David H. Morgan, president.

PROSPECTOR?—Mike Keen, Battalion photographer, is in his prospecting disguise, really his beard for Civilian Day program, before he shaved it off. Many beards are being sported around the campus as students prepare for the big day, March 10.
