

B.A. and Dames Outbowl M.E., Geology Wives

Business Wives Club and Dames Club were winners in the Aggie Wives Bowling tournament held recently in the Memorial Student Center.

Business Wives defeated Mechanical Engineering Wives Club and Dames outbowed the Geology Wives Club, both by four points.

Bill Crawford of Business Wives had high individual game for the evening while Pat Wallace of Dames Club took the high individual series award.

Both club awards—high game and high series—went to the Business Wives.

The round robin tournament is held every first and third Tuesday in the month, and spectators are cordially invited to come, stated Nancy McCarty, president of the bowling club.

Trophies will be awarded in May to the winning team for the Spring semester. Business Wives, sponsored by the Bryan Building and Loan Association, won the trophies last semester.

Social Whirl

Education Commission Hears Future Plans

Editor's Note: This is a continuation of the proposed feature plans for Consolidated School given in a report by Dr. Les Richardson Thursday to the members of the Education Commission.

In order to make English classes a laboratory type activity, classes will have teaching aids of magazines, charts, maps and reference materials.

"Next year a guidance counselor for the school system will be employed," said Dr. Richardson. The counselor's salary is a bonus unit from the state and he will work with high school problems, instituting a comprehensive testing program in the school system to check pupil progress, he went on to say.

He will work with the high school problems for two years, then his work will be extended to other grades as his capacity increases. He will also determine need for in-service training for teachers.

Elementary and junior high school plans are to renovate school classrooms in wood buildings, replace all fixed desks, landscape campus, provide all-weather play space and enlarge the principal's office.

Senior high plans are to construct a road from Jersey Street toward the Dobrovoly home with a branch to Highway 6 and the Knoll. Vocational agriculture will be housed in a new building on the edge of campus and will provide bus repair and a warehouse in the building.

Proposed plans for colored school include the employment of a full time music teacher and organization of a high school band. In the physical education department, a female teacher for girls' P.E. classes will be employed and the addition of driver training as part of the program.

In science classes they plan to equip laboratories as need for new classes increase. Also they plan to offer physics and chemistry as high school enrollment increases.

In English Department plans are to maintain a low pupil-teacher ratio and teach towards improvements of usage as toward meeting national norms.

They are acquiring additional campus space and are securing construction of a new road on the north side of shop building. Additional classrooms will be added as well as construction of a home making cottage which will relieve two classrooms.

Dr. Richardson also gave reports for the years 1956 through 1961 showing the expected enrollment. The actual enrollment in classroom needs will depend on several factors, the effect of transfer tuition policy, future growth of community, desired pupil-teacher ratio, and school district area.

For the colored school, statistics show a slight increase in enrollment.

Tomorrow board members will study the school finance, according to Dr. Charles La Motte, commission president.
