

Town Hall Presents 'Singing Sergeants'

The internationally known United States Air Force Band featuring the "Singing Sergeants" will perform at White Coliseum, March 22 at 8 p. m. This will be the final Town Hall presentation for the semester.

Directed by Col. George S. Howard, the band has won acclaim throughout the United States and in many foreign countries. It is composed of professional musicians whose civilian backgrounds range from symphony orchestras to famous dance bands.

Col. Howard, chief of bands and music for the USAF, holds five college degrees in music. He has a Ph. D. from the Chicago Conservatory of Music, and has been active as a player, soloist, composer, conductor and teacher of music.

Outstanding among the band's many achievements is its adaptability. It is flexible enough to perform as a 100-man military band, a 90-piece symphony orchestra, a 25-voice glee club or numerous chamber and instrumental groups.

Twenty-five of its members make up the Singing Sergeants, a precision vocal ensemble. This group will present part of the concert at A&M. The Sergeants are directed by Capt. Robert L. Landers, a graduate of the Eastman School of Music and formerly assistant conductor of the San Carlo Opera Company. The group boasts an active repertoire of more than 200 selections.

When not singing, the members of the Singing Sergeants play instruments in the band. The singers have been featured on the "Air Force Hour" over national radio broadcasts for several years. They are currently on "Serenade in Blue" over 2,139 radio stations. They have, in the past, appeared on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town," the "Ken Murray Show," the "Faye Emerson Show," and other television programs. Last year they appeared as a special attraction of Town Hall.

Daily Texan Staff Retreats to Woods

By JIM BOWER
Battalion News Editor

There was a noticeable absence at the Southwestern Journalism Congress at SMU this past weekend.

Willie "College Yell" Morris, editor of The Daily Texan, and his staff failed to show for the annual meeting of student journalists.

It was mentioned to one of the journalism professors from UT that perhaps Willie had been conveniently saddled with a final exam to keep him away, since freedom of the press was one of the main topics of the student meeting.

The professor replied that there had been no restraint put on Willie but that Willie himself had arranged a retreat in the woods outside Austin for member of the Texan staff so that they could commune with nature.

Why, Willie, on that old gray stone, thus for the length of half a day. Why, Willie, sit you thus alone and dream your time away? One impulse from a vernal wood, may teach you more of man; of moral evil and of good, than all your regents can.

TCU

We see where the TCU Skiff is running a unique contest. So far, the contest, "If I Were Skiff Editor for a Day" has brought nothing but a few lines of garbled poetry. Not wishing to be left out, we decided that we would enter the contest.

If I were Skiff editor for day, I would . . . oh, we can't say this.

SMU

Turning to the editorial page of the SMU Campus we see where Joe Dave Scott, Campus editor has defined the role of the college newspaper.

In defining his statement that the Campus is a public relations media, Scott says that the role of the paper is to present a variety of stories that would be of interest to those off the campus as well as those enrolled here (SMU).

On page two we find a headline reading "Delta Theta Phi to Here Wade."
