World News

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Eisenhower administration formally asked Congress yesterday to create a federal civil rights commission. It asked also that a civil rights division be created in the Justice Department, partly because of an expected flow of lawsuits over racial integration. It called, too, for a new law to "prevent anyone from threatening, intimidating, or coercing an individual in the exercise of his right to vote." Further, the administration sought authority for the attorney general to bring action in the courts on behalf of any aggrieved person. It proposed that Congress throw out the present requirement that administrative and judicial remedies in the states must be exhausted before a civil rights case can be taken to federal court.

AUSTIN, (AP)—Gubernatorial Candidate J. J. Holmes said yesterday he favored legalized horse racing in Texas and would advocate action to this effect during his campaign. He said he was in favor of legalized horse racing "to take care of some of the state's obligations."

JERUSALEM, (AP)—Israel charged yesterday that roving Arab suicide squads under Egyptian army orders inflicted a third straight "night of terror" on Israeli settlers Sunday.

Athletic Council Sets Date Tickets at $2.50

9,597 Set As Maximum Number of Date Tickets

The Athletic Council has approved a plan, presented by the Student Senate, for purchasing date tickets next year.

The plan sets the price of a football date ticket at $2.50, provided it is purchased before Sept. 21 of this year. After that date, tickets will sell for $3.50.

Other points of the new plan are that student date tickets not exceed 9,597, and the maximum number of sections include 121-132 reserved for students and dates.

Student athletic coupons for next year will remain the same price as last year—$8. This is part of the money paid in the Student Activities Fee.

The faculty has two plans by which they may purchase football tickets. Both of these two plans are for all full-time employees of the A&M College System whose headquarters is at College Station.

Plan number one is the same as last year's—coupon books can be purchased for $14 and entitles the holder to four reserved seats for A&M's home games, plus general admission to all other athletic events of the college.

Plan number two provides a special faculty athletic coupon, issued to an individual or to an individual and his wife, enabling him to an unreserved seat in sections 100 and 101 at all home football games. Also included in this plan is general admission to all other A&M athletic events. Although these two sections are available, they will be sold to the general public if not needed.

The two section, 100 and 101, will be used in all games except the Texas Christian University game, when sections 118 and 119, or a part of either, will be used.

Purchase Date

Faculty members, in order to get their plan, must buy tickets before July 31, 1956, the same time a drawing is made for tickets. Each faculty member eligible will be notified by the Athletic Department before this date.

"The Athletic Council is very pleased with this plan," said Dr. C. H. Groneman, chairman of the Athletic Council. "With this plan, we will know exactly how many we have to accommodate at all the games."

Sparks, Casey Dissolve Partnership

After 30 years, W. M. Sparks and J. F. Casey have decided to dissolve their partnership in the Aggieldand Pharmacy.

"We have decided to go into private interests," Sparks said. "The A&M Photo Shop has rented the space and will move in between May 1 and June 1."

Casey came to College Station in 1914 and worked for W. A. Lee in the Lee Confectionery located where the Aggieldand Inn now stands.

"It was the only concrete on the campus," Casey recalled. "A&M was hot and dusty in the summer and cold and sloppy in the winter."

Three years later he moved to the YMCA basement where he set up his own business, "Casey's Confectionery."

Sparks, class of '20, came into the picture in 1919 after returning from World War I. He and Casey became partners in the fall of that year.

The men operated the confectionery for 30 years. In 1926 they opened the Aggieldand Pharmacy and have continued to operate it since.

Three Re-Elected To School Board

C. A. Bonnoer, E. J. Redman Jr. and Milton D. Williams were re-elected to the A&M Consolidated School Board in an election held Saturday.

Dr. Donald Weeks, who had opposed Bonner in the election, was the only other candidate.

Hold-over members who were not up for re-election are Henry Allen, E. E. Brown, J. R. Jackson and J. S. Rogers.

Winter Uniforms Due By Wednesday

Winter uniforms should be turned in by Wednesday so cadets will not have them on hand during Federal Inspection, according to B. W. Hearne, military custodian.

Blouses, winter caps, shortcoats, winter trousers and field jackets are to be turned in, plus any other items that cadets will not need for the rest of the semester.

Only about half of the Corps' 3,000 members have turned in their winter uniforms so far. Hearne urged all cadets to take their uniforms to the clothing warehouse before Federal Inspection Thursday.

Plans To Start For SCONA II In Few Weeks

Brad Crockett, chairman for the second annual Student Conference on National Affairs, has announced that plans are being made for starting committee work within a few weeks.

Anyone interested in working on one of the committees should go by the Directorate Office in the Memorial Student Center before 5 p.m. Friday and fill out a personnel blank which will be provided there. Those persons who have not previously worked with a SCONA committee must also fill out an application blank.

Committees which may have personnel vacancies include finance, program, transportation, arrangements, housing, publicity, secretariat and planning.

Members of all classes are eligible to apply. Chief qualification for membership, Crockett said, is a willingness to work. Those who apply will receive call slips sometime next week assigning a time for the new applicants to be interviewed.

Preliminary plans are already being made for SCONA II regarding such aspects as finance and program, according to Crockett. Much work, however, remains to be done before next December if SCONA II is to achieve the same degree of success as SCONA I, he said.

Texas Aggie Band To Give Concert

The Texas Aggie Band will present its annual concert April 17 in Guion Hall at 7:45 p. m.

Played in two parts, the concert will have a varied program consisting of concert marches, novelty numbers, popular numbers, classical overtures, a cornet trio and a trombone trio.

The double header concert will open with the maroon band playing "The National Anthem" and close with the white band playing "The Spirit of Aggieldand." The concert has been divided into two parts since the combined band is too large for the stage.

Hours of all of the offices will remain from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., excluding the noon hour except in the case of the Housing Office. Doors of the office remain open until midnight, and someone sleeps in the office to answer the telephone.

Recital Series Will Present Added Program

The Memorial Student Center Recital Series will present a special added attraction Thursday at 8 p.m. in the assembly room of the MSC.

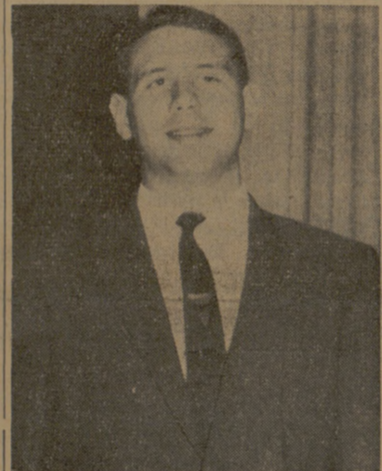

Ernst and Lory Wallfisch, a piano and viola duo, will be the featured performers.

Wallfisch, while only 18, made his formal debut in Bucharest as soloist in Mozart's "Symphonia Concertante" and as Violist of the "Pro Musica" String Quartet.

In 1944, he was married to Lory, a pupil of Florica Muziceacu. Since that time, these two young stars have achieved an outstanding position as a viola-piano duo.

Wallfisch appeared in four Chamber Music Concerts at the Casals Prades Festival this summer. The duo has a BBC broadcast in October, and then will leave this country for engagements in France, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and Austria.

Admission will be by Great Issues-Recital Series season tickets or 75 cents general admission.
