Batt Article Correction Noted

A story appearing in Tuesday's Battalion concerning the partnership of W. M. Sparks and J. F. Casey had the following errors:

The partnership is not dissolving after 37 (not 30) years; the two, who built the Casey Sparks Building at North Gate in 1926, will retain the building, but are renting the space now occupied by the Aggeland Pharmacy to the A&M Photo Shop.

Sparks and Casey have operated the pharmacy continuously since 1926.

Faculty members at A&M interested in applying for a Fulbright award should make application before April 15. Dr. R. W. Steen, head of the History Department, will furnish information to interested applicants.

To be qualified for the awards, which are for the 1957-58 academic year, the applicant must have at least one year of college or university teaching experience, and must be a citizen of the United States.

Awards for university lecturing are available in Australia, Burma and India. Advanced research awards are available in New Zealand, Thailand and the Philippines.

Under the Fulbright Act, awards are made in the currency of the host country. Maintenance allowances are calculated on the basis of living costs in the host country and therefore differ from country to country. In terms of purchasing power, the awards are approximately the same.

Further information can be obtained from the Conference Board of Associated Research Councils, Committee of International Exchange of Persons, 2101 Constitution Ave., Washington 25, D.C.

The "Weekly English Bulletin," circulated among Faculty of the English Department, recently scooped the world on a story which should prove that human beings are forgiving persons.

Quoth the Bulletin — To Frank's surprise, the ex-student — instead of poisoning him — took the check. Pierce had flunked him in the course.

ChE Wives Say 'Thanks' For Help

Five hundred books and 1,000 magazines were recently delivered to Lincoln School in College Station by members of the Chemical Engineering Wives Club. The publications were obtained by a book drive sponsored by the Wives club.

"We wish to thank the people of College Station, The Battalion and radio stations for helping to make this drive a success," said Shirley Christopher, club welfare chairman.

Since the colored schools have no money allotted for a library, there was a great demand for books and magazines.
